Says U. S. Will Fight To Block Red Conquest

Wants More Taxes And Tougher Draft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman told the nation today that "we will fight, if we must" to block the threat of world conquest by Soviet Russia.

In a rousing 3,500-word speech, heard by millions over radio and television networks, the President called for a vast mobilization effort capable of producing 50,000 planes and 35,000 tanks a year if needed.

Solemnly, he pledged that the United States will forsake neither Western Europe nor other free nations in the struggle against Red aggression.

The President said more money, a "major" tax increase and a bigger draft of manpower will be needed to prepare for the possibility of "a full-scale war."

Addressing a joint session of Congress in his annual "state of the union" message, Mr. Truman declared:

"We are preparing for full wartime mobilization, if that should be necessary.

"The threat of world conquest by Soviet Russia endangers our liberty and endangers the kind of world in which the free spirit of man can survive.

Security In Unity

"The threat is a total threat and the danger is a common danger.

"All free nations are exposed and are all in peril. Their only security lies in banding together. No one nation can find protection in a selfish search for a haven from the storm."

Mr. Truman bitterly denounced Russia for waging "an evil war by proxy" in Korea and called it a move by "the Russian Communist dictatorship to take over the world step by step."

The President said the United States is willing "as we have always been, to negotiate honorable settlements with the Soviet Union," but with out-thrust jaw he declared:

"We will not engage in appeasement:

A burst of applause greeted that affirmation.

Mr. Truman went on to accuse the Soviets of keeping Russia and its satellite nations "in a state of perpetual mobilization," and he declared:

"The imperialism of the czars has been replaced by the even more ambitious, more crafty, and more menacing imperialism of the rulers of the Soviet Union.

"Realistic Road To Peace"

"The Soviet rulers have made it clear that we must have strength as well as right on our side. If we build strength x x x the Soviet rulers may face the facts and lay aside their plans to take over the world."

"x x x That is what we are trying to bring about.

"That is the only realistic road to peace."

Mr. Truman made no mention of sending more U. S. troops to Europe—a move he has already forecast and which he claims power to do without prior Congress approval.

Even before the President spoke, Sen. Wherry (R-Neb.), Senate GOP floor leader, sought to halt any commitment of American ground forces in Europe until Congress has decided the policy on that issue.

President's 10-Point Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today it "will need to consider legislation, at this session, affecting all the aspects of our mobilization job."

He listed these as the ten main subjects on which legislation will be needed:

1. Appropriations for the military buildup.
2. Extension and revision of the draft law.
3. Foreign military and economic aid.
4. Revision and extension of authority to "expand production and to stabilize prices, wages and rents."
5. Improvement of agriculture laws to help obtain farm products needed for the defense effort.
6. Improvement of labor laws "to help provide stable labor-management relations."
7. Housing and training of defense workers and "the full use of all our manpower resources."
8. An increased supply of doctors, nurses and other trained medical personnel.
9. Federal aid to schools.
10. "A major increase" in taxes.

Remington Gave Her Secret Data, Ex-Spy Testifies

Described As Tool Of Russian Agents

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—William W. Remington was described by former Spy Courier Elizabeth Bentley today as a nervous, frightened Communist Party tool of wartime Soviet agents.

She testified Remington gave her copies of secret aircraft data but balked at turning over the original documents because "he said he was terrified."

Miss Bentley, who first accused Remington of Communist ties two years ago, took the stand in federal court as star government witness at his perjury trial.

Remington, handsome, 33-year-old former Commerce Department economist, is accused of lying when he denied he ever was a Communist.

Miss Bentley said Remington took data that came across his government desk or else went into office files to supply her with aircraft production figures and data on plane types.

"Remington told me it was secret information and that I should be very careful," Miss Bentley testified.

She was dressed in a black suit and orange blouse as she began her long-awaited testimony.

Miss Bentley said she recalled vaguely that Remington once had a chance to transfer to the Pentagon building, the heavily-guarded military nerve-center of America's war effort. She added:

"Either he didn't take it, or he was there only a short time. He told me it was much too nerve-wracking, too scary and that's why he refused to go on with it."

Miss Bentley also corroborated earlier testimony by Remington's divorced wife that the $10,000-a-year government economist once gave her a secret formula for making synthetic rubber from garbage.

The witness said Remington told her "he thought the Russians would need something very much like this formula."

Remington was introduced to her, Miss Bentley said, in a New York restaurant in 1942 by the late Jacob Golos, whom she described as her spy ring superior.

LONDON, Tuesday, Jan. 9 (AP) — Britain formally announced today the appointment of Sir John Balfour as her new ambassador to Spain. Balfour has been Britain's ambassador to Argentina.

The parents were away from home at the time.

Maryland Senate Is Asked To Approve Camp Ritchie's Transfer To U.S. Government

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—Maryland's Senate was asked tonight to approve transfer of Camp Ritchie to the federal government.

Senate President Della (D-Balto 6th) introduced a bill to that effect. It had administration backing.

Ritchie, an old National Guard camp used during World War II as a military intelligence training center, has been mentioned as a possible emergency communications site. One of the state's hospitals for chronic indigents is now located there.

Any proceeds from the transfer would be spent on the state's organized militia.

The Senate sidetracked for the second straight legislative day Gov. Lane's list of recess appointments.

"The executive department has not seen fit to send them in," Della explained.

Postponement means the administration has only one day in which to gain Senate approval of a number of state posts assigned since the 1949 session. They are scheduled to be offered for confirmation tomorrow.

The short time left before Governor-elect McKeldin is inaugurated Wednesday also augurs a quick decision on Lane's expected nomination of Arthur H. Brice to head the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, an agency closely eyed by Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland delegations.

Senate Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) sponsored a measure to shift the Bureau of Mines back to the Department of Labor and Industry, under which it functioned prior to a reorganization 10 years ago.

"It belongs there," Kimble commented. "The bureau is chiefly concerned with working and safety conditions."

Della deferred his appointments of Senate committees, but House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th), completed his list of assignments.

Eastern Shore and Baltimore City delegates split 12 committee chairmanships. Majority Leader Boone (D-Baltimore County) automatically became Ways and Means chairman, and Delegate Wilkinson (D-Prince George's), at one time a candidate for the floor leadership, drew the Education Committee chair.

Navy Man Drives Unlicensed Car Through 12 States

HOPE VALLEY, R. I., Jan. 8 (AP)—A naval lieutenant admitted to Rhode Island state police today that he drove a car from Louisiana through 12 states and not until he reached the 13th—Rhode Island—did anyone notice he had no registration plates.

Lt. Stanley Sterbenz drove 1,500 miles from New Orleans and got witin 20 miles of Newport, his destination, when he was stopped.

He told troopers that he bought the car in New Orleans but found that the State of Louisiana would register the cars of permanent residents only. So he decided to see how far he could get without license plates.

Navy Physicist Found Hanged

ASPEN, Colo., Jan. 8 (AP)—Officers planned an inquest, probably tomorrow, into the death of Ralph Smith, young Navy physicist, whose body was found dangling today in a second floor doorway of an abandoned building.

Smith's frozen body was suspended by a nylon ski bootlace knotted around the throat. Sheriff Leonard Johnson said he and District Attorney Robert Delaney were investigating a theory that Smith, 27, had committed suicide. The sheriff said this had not been determined.

Smith disappeared Friday after coming here for a skiing vacation with Gordon Bangs, 26. Both are employed at the naval test station at China Lake, Calif.

Bangs said Smith had been doing secret research on rockets and guided missiles.

Burgess Meredith Weds Fourth Time

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Actor Burgess Meredith was married "several months ago" to blonde Dancer Kaja Sundsten, the actor's office said today.

Meredith's secretary said no further details about the marriage could be announced immediately.

Meredith, 42, has been married three times previously. His marriages to Helen Derby of Montclair, N. J.; Margaret Frueauff French, actress known as Margaret Perry, and actress Paulette Goddard all ended in divorce.

Gen. Eisenhower, French Leaders In Conferences

Three Divisions Pledged To "Ike"

PARIS, Jan. 8. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower got down to brisk talks with the French today on just what they are going to do to help defend the West against any push from the East.

American military sources said the answers he got help support the General's belief that the Atlantic community can built an international army to defend Western Europe. There was no official word from the talks, but it was believed the French pledged immediate transfer of their three divisions now in Germany and Austria to the Eisenhower command.

The General made it snappy. Accompanied by his chief strategist, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, and two French officer translators, he drove in a French car with a French army chauffeur, for a 10-minute talk with Premier Rene Pleven and another 10 minutes with Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Then he drove to the Defense Ministry for a luncheon with Minister Jules Moch who immediately called in his highest ranking officers.

After four hours at the Defense Ministry, Eisenhower flashed his famous grin, but refused to comment and drove back to his apartment in the Hotel Raphael for a series of staff meetings.

An authorized source said "all the problems of defending Europe," were discussed.

The French National Assembly tonight reiterated its support for Premier Pleven's $2,100,000,000 rearmanent program for 1951 by a 333 to 181 vote of confidence.

The program calls for raising three more divisions for the Eisenhower command this year and other expansions, such as the training of 1,000 air force pilots. France has other divisions in France, two of them under strength.

Senate GOP Policy Committee Completed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Four frequent critics of the administration's Far Eastern policy won assignment today to the Senate's Republican Policy Committee.

The four — Sens. Knowland of California, H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Ferguson of Michigan and Brewster of Maine — were named by the Republican conference, along with Sens. Martin of Pennsylvania and Thye of Minnesota.

The 11-member Policy Committee, headed by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), pretty much decides what action Senate Republicans as a whole are going to take on major issues. Besides Taft and those appointed today, its members are Sens. Millikin of Colorado, Wherry of Nebraska, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Young of North Dakota.

Britain Urges "Last Effort" To Get Truce

Look Well Before Leaping, U. N. Told

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 8 (AP) — Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb today urged the United Nations to make one more attempt to obtain a cease-fire in Korea.

He indicated that Britain is not yet ready for a final decision on American demands for U. N. condemnation of Red China as an aggressor. The American demands are being pushed in behind-the-scenes talks and have not yet reached the U. N. Assembly Political Committee in a formal document.

Red China Warned

Jebb told the Political Committee that the U. N. should weigh its actions carefully and a "last effort" for a cease-fire should be made before more drastic steps are considered. The committee adjourned at his suggestion until Thursday to permit more talks among the delegates.

The British delegate, choosing his words with obvious care, warned Red China that a final break with the U. N. and all the U. N. represents would have a "dreadful effect" on the Chinese people.

Then advising the U. N. to be careful, he said:

"Look well before you leap is a wise maxim in foreign affairs. If we do leap we should all leap together."

Jebb acknowledged that there may not be any results of a new cease-fire attempt, but said every effort should be made to find a peaceful solution.

May Back U. S. Proposal

"If a final break with China occurs," he said, "it must be clearly shown that it came about through no fault of the United Nations. A collective break with China will not help United Nations troops fighting in Korea, at least for the present."

High diplomatic sources at the U. N. indicated Britain and other countries might go along eventually with the American proposal for a verdict condemning Peiping as an aggressor.

Britain and India have recognized Red China and have favored a seat for Peiping in the U. N. But Jebb pointed out that the British commonwealth has almost a division of troops fighting in Korea and the U. N. forces in Korea must be given all possible support while hostilities continue.

Good Faith Price Cuts Held Legal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that price-cutting in good faith to meet competition is not a violation of the anti-trust laws.

The court's 5-3 decision came in a case questioning the right of a seller—Standard Oil Company of Indiana—to lower prices to meet those of a competitor.

Reversing a lower court decision, the high tribunal directed the Federal Trade Commission to determine whether Standard acted in good faith in cutting gasoline prices to four jobbers in Detroit.

Standard Oil had appealed an FTC decision which said the company, under the Robinson-Patman Act, could not use good faith alone as a defense in its price cutting action. Such a defense, the FTC said, is not available to a seller when the effect of price cutting at the retail level is considered injurious to competition.

The majority of the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Justice Burton, differed with FTC and with the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals which upheld the commission's findings.

Administration Reverses Itself, Asks Big Flattop

Navy Buildup Bill Given To Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Truman administration reversed itself today and called for a 60,000-ton super aircraft carrier as part of a $2,000,000,000 buildup of the nation's sea fighting forces.

The proposed new carrier is much like the one whose construction was cancelled by former Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson in the economy program that preceded his retirement from the Cabinet last year.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee laid the $2,000,000,000 measure before Congress on behalf of the Defense Department and the Budget Bureau.

In the present mood of Congress, quick approval without major changes appears likely.

It is part of the just-short-of-war mobilization which President Truman called for today in his state of the union address.

In another followup of the President's message, the Air Force set its sights on a strength much larger than its present 84 groups—maybe in the neighborhood of 100 groups.

Air Force Undersecretary John A. McCone didn't give details but told a news conference the highest rate of plane production now called for will be reached by the middle of next year.

McCone said airplane output "will come very close to the President's figure" and will be "substantially above the industry's figure."

Mr. Truman is asking a five-fold increase in warplane production, now around 150 a month. Industry sources have said this can be increased about three-fold. McCone said "the industry figure is very low."

In addition, Mr. Truman in his state-of-the-union message today said the mobilization program aims at expanding the industry's capacity to 50,000 planes a year, if it is ever necessary to order that many.

The Air Undersecretary said increasing the total strength of the armed forces to 3,500,000 men will mean a corresponding rise in Air Force strength. The present 84-group air program is geared to a total armed force of 2,800,000 men.

On the naval side, the construction program calls for seven Snorkel submarines, 12 fleet tankers, two rocket launchers and about 60 other new vessels.

Pope May Receive "Ike"

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 8 (AP) — Vatican sources said tonight Pope Pius XII is almost certain to receive Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in private audience when the Atlantic pact military commander visits Rome later this month.

Osan, Wonju Are Given Up By 8th Army

U. N. Planes Take Heavy Toll Of Reds

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 9 (AP)—The retreating Eighth Army abandoned two important towns on east and west sides of the front in South Korea Monday while Allied warplanes took a heavy toll of the invading Chinese and Korean Communists.

In the west, Osan, almost 60 miles south of the 38th parallel and 28 miles below Seoul, was given up without a fight. It is on the old "hearebreak highway" down which Americans and South Koreans first retreated before the North Korean invaders last July.

In the east, United Nations troops quit the burning road and rail hub of Wonju after a valiant delaying action that brought time for preparation of defenses farther south.

More than 1,750 Reds were estimated killed, wounded or captured in ground actions and air strikes during Monday.

Roads Jammed With Reds

Pilots reported the roads south and southeast of Seoul and north of Wonju were jammed with Reds pursuing the Eighth Army southward.

"I've never seen so many people on the roads up there," said one veteran airman. "They were all moving south."

While B-29 Superforts concentrated on the Seoul area, smashing the runways of Kimpo airfield with bombs, jets and piston-engined fighters and light bombers swooped on troop concentrations near the Han River.

One 20-mile stretch of road north of Wonju was transformed into a death-trap for the Reds.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said jet planes alone inflicted more than 1,000 casualties on the Reds.

Allied warships on both west and east coasts fought to delay the Red hoardes. The American cruiser Rochester and the British cruiser Kenya and Ceylon bombarded Inchon, Seoul's port, for the fourth straight day.

Road, Rail Links Shelled

On the east coast four American destroyers and two Siamese corvettes shelled road and rail links for a distance of 60 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Gen. MacArthur was using his marked superiority in the air and on the sea to give some breathing space to his heavily outnumbered ground forces.

Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph, following the retreating U. N. columns in the west, said Chinese troops entered Osan shortly after the rear guard pulled out Monday morning. The first American troops killed in action in Korea fell at Osan six months ago.

After fighting bitterly at Wonju for three days and throwing the Reds back once, U. N. troops in the mountainous sector retired an undisclosed distance. Wonju is 55 miles southeast of Seoul and 45 miles below the 38th parallel.

The rear guard from Wonju found a Communist regiment asleep two miles south of the town.

At least 200 Reds were killed or wounded in the ensuing fight.

Police On Bloody Trail Of Gunman

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP)—Law officers with orders to "shoot to kill if necessary" hunted Desperado William E. (Bill) Cook throughout the Southwest today.

Police of half a dozen states Texas Rangers, FBI agents and customers and immigration officers of the United States and Mexico were on the bloody trail of the Joplin, Mo., ex-convict, suspected of killing at least eight persons.

Houston, Tex., was the latest locale alerted. A hitchhiker, Darrell E. Hall, 21, told police he rode all last night from El Paso to Houston with a short stocky man resembling Cook and about Cook's age, 24. The man kept a pistol on the seat between them, Hall said. The car was a 1949 or 1950 four-door sedan with Texas license plates.

However, if that driver was Cook he would have had to make terrifically fast time since yesterday when reports indicated he was in the northwest corner of Mexico.

There was evidence Cook was doubling back eastward. E. C. Richardson, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in charge here, said a series of stolen car reports came today from Mexicali, Mex., across the border from Calexico, Calif.

33 More ROTC Units

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Army announced today it is adding reserve officer training units at 33 colleges in 22 states this year.

Walkout Closes Fairchild Plants

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—The 4,700 production workers at Fairchild aviation division struck today.

This cut off the supply of new Air Force C-119 Packets, a workhorse transport plane which has been busy ferrying men and supplies into Korea and bringing out the wounded.

Main point of contention between the company and a local of the CIO-United Auto Workers Union was a merit system which has been used to determine pay scales.

Glenn Brayton, an international representative of the union, declared the strike was 100 per cent effective at Fairchild's four plants here. He said the workers will remain on strike until the merit system is eliminated.

Samuel Angotti, director of industrial relations for the company, acknowledged that production was shut down.

There were no negotiations. The union turned down the wage increase proposal yesterday. The contract expired at midnight and the strike started at 7 a. m.

Congress Hears Unusually Grim And Solemn President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — It was an unusually grim and solemn President who went before a joint session of Congress today.

Normally Mr. Truman looks as if he enjoys these visits. He throws in a few cracks that bring laughs, cheers and, at least once, even a few good natured boos.

None of that today.

He talked for 13 minutes, painting a harsh picture of the world situation, before congressmen found anything to cheer about.

The ice-breaker:

"They (the Marshall Plan countries) are now ready to use this strength in helping to build a strong combined defense against aggression."

Once they had the hang of it, the senators and representatives were a little more generous with their applause. They interrupted 15 times, with Gen. Eisenhower getting the most. He was mentioned twice, was applauded twice.

But the most enthusiastic applause came when Mr. Truman called for economy in government.

Republicans in particular cheered here, and Rep. Mason (R-Ill) hollered "Yeah!"

Sect, Believing World Ends Today, Holds "Last Rites"

KEREMEOS, B. C., Jan. 8 (INS) —Thirty members of a religious sect held "last rites" today for the world they believe will end tomorrow.

The ceremony was held behind the locked doors of their "purity prison," a farmhouse near the apple-growing center of Keremeos, 150 miles east of Vancouver.

In keeping with the advice of their leader, Mrs. Grace A. Carlson, the white-clad members of the Church of God Evangelical sect have sold all their worldly goods and locked themselves in the farmhouse for the past 14 days.

One member of the self-styled "Children of Light" sold a $20,000 orchard for the $500 he said was all he needed to pay his debts.

Late model cars were sold for $100 and other items went at similar bargain prices.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other authorities are investigating complaints that those in the house are under hypnosis.

Two minor age girls were taken from the house by the RCMP at the request of their father.

Navy Man Drives Unlicensed Car Through 12 States

HOPE VALLEY, R. I., Jan. 8 (AP)—A naval lieutenant admitted to Rhode Island state police today that he drove a car from Louisiana through 12 states and not until he reached the 13th—Rhode Island—did anyone notice he had no registration plates.

Lt. Stanley Sterbenz drove 1,500 miles from New Orleans and got witin 20 miles of Newport, his destination, when he was stopped.

He told troopers that he bought the car in New Orleans but found that the State of Louisiana would register the cars of permanent residents only. So he decided to see how far he could get without license plates.

Navy Physicist Found Hanged

ASPEN, Colo., Jan. 8 (AP)—Officers planned an inquest, probably tomorrow, into the death of Ralph Smith, young Navy physicist, whose body was found dangling today in a second floor doorway of an abandoned building.

Smith's frozen body was suspended by a nylon ski bootlace knotted around the throat. Sheriff Leonard Johnson said he and District Attorney Robert Delaney were investigating a theory that Smith, 27, had committed suicide. The sheriff said this had not been determined.

Smith disappeared Friday after coming here for a skiing vacation with Gordon Bangs, 26. Both are employed at the naval test station at China Lake, Calif.

Bangs said Smith had been doing secret research on rockets and guided missiles.

Meredith's secretary said no further details about the marriage could be announced immediately.

Meredith, 42, has been married three times previously. His marriages to Helen Derby of Montclair, N. J.; Margaret Frueauff French, actress known as Margaret Perry, and actress Paulette Goddard all ended in divorce.

Gen. Eisenhower, French Leaders In Conferences

Three Divisions Pledged To "Ike"

PARIS, Jan. 8. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower got down to brisk talks with the French today on just what they are going to do to help defend the West against any push from the East.

American military sources said the answers he got help support the General's belief that the Atlantic community can built an international army to defend Western Europe. There was no official word from the talks, but it was believed the French pledged immediate transfer of their three divisions now in Germany and Austria to the Eisenhower command.

The General made it snappy. Accompanied by his chief strategist, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, and two French officer translators, he drove in a French car with a French army chauffeur, for a 10-minute talk with Premier Rene Pleven and another 10 minutes with Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Then he drove to the Defense Ministry for a luncheon with Minister Jules Moch who immediately called in his highest ranking officers

After four hours at the Defense Ministry, Eisenhower flashed his famous grin, but refused to comment and drove back to his apartment in the Hotel Raphael for a series of staff meetings.

An authorized source said "all the problems of defending Europe," were discussed.

The French National Assembly tonight reiterated its support for Premier Pleven's $2,100,000,000 rearmament program for 1951 by a 333 to 181 vote of confidence.

The program calls for raising three more divisions for the Eisenhower command this year and other expansions, such as the training of 1,000 air force pilots. France has other divisions in France, two of them under strength.

Senate GOP Policy Committee Completed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Four frequent critics of the administration's Far Eastern policy won assignment today to the Senate's Republican Policy Committee.

The four — Sens. Knowland of California, H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Ferguson of Michigan and Brewster of Maine — were named by the Republican conference, along with Sens. Martin of Pennsylvania and Thye of Minnesota.

The 11-member Policy Committee, headed by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), pretty much decides what action Senate Republicans as a whole are going to take on major issues. Besides Taft and those appointed today, its members are Sens. Millikin of Colorado, Wherry of Nebraska, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Young of North Dakota.

Britain Urges "Last Effort" To Get Truce

Look Well Before Leaping, U. N. Told

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 8 (AP) — Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb today urged the United Nations to make one more attempt to obtain a cease-fire in Korea.

He indicated that Britain is not yet ready for a final decision on American demands for U. N. condemnation of Red China as an aggressor. The American demands are being pushed in behind-the-scenes talks and have not yet reached the U. N. Assembly Political Committee in a formal document.

Red China Warned

Jebb told the Political Committee that the U. N. should weigh its actions carefully and a "last effort" for a cease-fire should be made before more drastic steps are considered. The committee adjourned at his suggestion until Thursday to permit more talks among the delegates.

The British delegate, choosing his words with obvious care, warned Red China that a final break with the U. N. and all the U. N. represents would have a "dreadful effect" on the Chinese people.

Then advising the U. N. to be careful, he said:

"Look well before you leap is a wise maxim in foreign affairs. If we do leap we should all leap together."

Jebb acknowledged that there may not be any results of a new cease-fire attempt, but said every effort should be made to find a peaceful solution.

May Back U. S. Proposal

"If a final break with China occurs," he said, "it must be clearly shown that it came about through no fault of the United Nations. A collective break with China will not help United Nations troops fighting in Korea, at least for the present."

High diplomatic sources at the U. N. indicated Britain and other countries might go along eventually with the American proposal for a verdict condemning Peiping as an aggressor.

Britain and India have recognized Red China and have favored a seat for Peiping in the U. N. But Jebb pointed out that the British commonwealth has almost a division of troops fighting in Korea and the U. N. forces in Korea must be given all possible support while hostilities continue.

Good Faith Price Cuts Held Legal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that price-cutting in good faith to meet competition is not a violation of the anti-trust laws.

The court's 5-3 decision came in a case questioning the right of a seller—Standard Oil Company of Indiana—to lower prices to meet those of a competitor.

Reversing a lower court decision, the high tribunal directed the Federal Trade Commission to determine whether Standard acted in good faith in cutting gasoline prices to four jobbers in Detroit.

Standard Oil had appealed an FTC decision which said the company, under the Robinson-Patman Act, could not use good faith alone as a defense in its price cutting action. Such a defense, the FTC said, is not available to a seller when the effect of price cutting at the retail level is considered injurious to competition.

The majority of the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Justice Burton, differed with FTC and with the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals which upheld the commission's findings.

Administration Reverses Itself, Asks Big Flattop

Navy Buildup Bill Given To Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Truman administration reversed itself today and called for a 60,000-ton super aircraft carrier as part of a $2,000,000,000 buildup of the nation's sea fighting forces.

The proposed new carrier is much like the one whose construction was cancelled by former Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson in the economy program that preceded his retirement from the Cabinet last year.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee laid the $2,000,000,000 measure before Congress on behalf of the Defense Department and the Budget Bureau.

In the present mood of Congress, quick approval without major changes appears likely.

It is part of the just-short-of-war mobilization which President Truman called for today in his state of the union address.

In another followup of the President's message, the Air Force set its sights on a strength much larger than its present 84 groups—maybe in the neighborhood of 100 groups.

Air Force Undersecretary John A. McCone didn't give details but told a news conference the highest rate of plane production now called for will be reached by the middle of next year.

McCone said airplane output "will come very close to the President's figure" and will be "substantially above the industry's figure."

Mr. Truman is asking a five-fold increase in warplane production, now around 150 a month. Industry sources have said this can be increased about three-fold. McCone said "the industry figure is very low."

In addition, Mr. Truman in his state-of-the-union message today said the mobilization program aims at expanding the industry's capacity to 50,000 planes a year, if it is ever necessary to order that many.

The Air Undersecretary said increasing the total strength of the armed forces to 3,500,000 men will mean a corresponding rise in Air Force strength. The present 84-group air program is geared to a total armed force of 2,800,000 men.

On the naval side, the construction program calls for seven Snorkel submarines, 12 fleet tankers, two rocket launchers and about 60 other new vessels.

Pope May Receive "Ike"

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 8 (AP) — Vatican sources said tonight Pope Pius XII is almost certain to receive Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in private audience when the Atlantic pact military commander visits Rome later this month.

Osan, Wonju Are Given Up By 8th Army

U. N. Planes Take Heavy Toll Of Reds

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 9 (AP)—The retreating Eighth Army abandoned two important towns on east and west sides of the front in South Korea Monday while Allied warplanes took a heavy toll of the invading Chinese and Korean Communists.

In the west, Osan, almost 60 miles south of the 38th parallel and 28 miles below Seoul, was given up without a fight. It is on the old "hearebreak highway" down which Americans and South Koreans first retreated before the North Korean invaders last July.

In the east, United Nations troops quit the burning road and rail hub of Wonju after a valiant delaying action that brought time for preparation of defenses farther south.

More than 1,750 Reds were estimated killed, wounded or captured in ground actions and air strikes during Monday.

Roads Jammed With Reds

Pilots reported the roads south and southeast of Seoul and north of Wonju were jammed with Reds pursuing the Eighth Army southward.

"I've never seen so many people on the roads up there," said one veteran airman. "They were all moving south."

While B-29 Superforts concentrated on the Seoul area, smashing the runways of Kimpo airfield with bombs, jets and piston-engined fighters and light bombers swooped on troop concentrations near the Han River.

One 20-mile stretch of road north of Wonju was transformed into a death-trap for the Reds.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said jet planes alone inflicted more than 1,000 casualties on the Reds.

Allied warships on both west and east coasts fought to delay the Red hoardes. The American cruiser Rochester and the British cruiser Kenya and Ceylon bombarded Inchon, Seoul's port, for the fourth straight day.

Road, Rail Links Shelled

On the east coast four American destroyers and two Siamese corvettes shelled road and rail links for a distance of 60 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Gen. MacArthur was using his marked superiority in the air and on the sea to give some breathing space to his heavily outnumbered ground forces.

Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph, following the retreating U. N. columns in the west, said Chinese troops entered Osan shortly after the rear guard pulled out Monday morning. The first American troops killed in action in Korea fell at Osan six months ago.

After fighting bitterly at Wonju for three days and throwing the Reds back once, U. N. troops in the mountainous sector retired an undisclosed distance. Wonju is 55 miles southeast of Seoul and 45 miles below the 38th parallel.

The rear guard from Wonju found a Communist regiment asleep two miles south of the town.

At least 200 Reds were killed or wounded in the ensuing fight.

Police On Bloody Trail Of Gunman

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP)—Law officers with orders to "shoot to kill if necessary" hunted Desperado William E. (Bill) Cook throughout the Southwest today.

Police of half a dozen states Texas Rangers, FBI agents and customers and immigration officers of the United States and Mexico were on the bloody trail of the Joplin, Mo., ex-convict, suspected of killing at least eight persons.

Houston, Tex., was the latest locale alerted. A hitchhiker, Darrell E. Hall, 21, told police he rode all last night from El Paso to Houston with a short stocky man resembling Cook and about Cook's age, 24. The man kept a pistol on the seat between them, Hall said. The car was a 1949 or 1950 four-door sedan with Texas license plates.

However, if that driver was Cook he would have had to make terrifically fast time since yesterday when reports indicated he was in the northwest corner of Mexico.

There was evidence Cook was doubling back eastward. E. C. Richardson, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in charge here, said a series of stolen car reports came today from Mexicali, Mex., across the border from Calexico, Calif.

33 More ROTC Units

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Army announced today it is adding reserve officer training units at 33 colleges in 22 states this year.

Congress Hears Unusually Grim And Solemn President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — It was an unusually grim and solemn President who went before a joint session of Congress today.

Normally Mr. Truman looks as if he enjoys these visits. He throws in a few cracks that bring laughs, cheers and, at least once, even a few good natured boos.

None of that today.

He talked for 13 minutes, painting a harsh picture of the world situation, before congressmen found anything to cheer about.

The ice-breaker:

"They (the Marshall Plan countries) are now ready to use this strength in helping to build a strong combined defense against aggression."

Once they had the hang of it, the senators and representatives were a little more generous with their applause. They interrupted 15 times, with Gen. Eisenhower getting the most. He was mentioned twice, was applauded twice.

But the most enthusiastic applause came when Mr. Truman called for economy in government.

Republicans in particular cheered here, and Rep. Mason (R-Ill) hollered "Yeah!"

Sect, Believing World Ends Today, Holds "Last Rites"

KEREMEOS, B. C., Jan. 8 (INS)—Thirty members of a religious sect held "last rites" today for the world they believe will end tomorrow.

The ceremony was held behind the locked doors of their "purity prison," a farmhouse near the apple-growing center of Keremeos, 150 miles east of Vancouver.

In keeping with the advice of their leader, Mrs. Grace A. Carlson, the white-clad members of the Church of God Evangelical sect have sold all their worldly goods and locked themselves in the farmhouse for the past 14 days.

One member of the self-styled "Children of Light" sold a $20,000 orchard for the $500 he said was all he needed to pay his debts.

Late model cars were sold for $100 and other items went at similar bargain prices.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other authorities are investigating complaints that those in the house are under hypnosis.

British Nations Fear U. S. Plan

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP)—A majority of British commonwealth nations appeared anxious tonight to avoid branding Red China an aggressor in Korea. They think this action could soon lead to war.

This was their first reaction to an American approach suggesting that the United Nations ought to punish the Chinese Reds if they again turn down proposals for a Korean cease-fire. The punishment envisaged in the U. N. Charter includes economic and military sanctions. The United States view was set forth to 30 non-Communist U.N. members over the weekend.

Britain took the lead in initiating talks both with her commonwealth partners and her West European friends on the American bid.

Herself set against the idea, she found strong support from India for a policy of moderation towards China.

Diplomatic officials reported Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru fiercely attacked the United States' Far Eastern policies in general and her Korean policy in particular, in the course of a commonwealth debate on Asia. Commonwealth premiers are in the midst of a 10-day parley here on the critical world situation.

Lewis Will Lead Off At Wage Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—John L. Lewis will be first to bat among the nation's top labor and industry spokesmen at a Wage Stabilization Board three-day conference beginning Wednesday.

Lewis is due to lead off the succession of meetings with Cyrus S. Ching and the wage board at a midtown hotel Wednesday morning. Lewis and his 480,000 miners may ask for new wage and welfare fund increases before April 1. That's when their contract with most of the nation's hard and soft coal operators can be re-opened.

That makes what Lewis has to say of prime importance. He could upset the stabilization program before it got established if he chose to make an all out fight now for a new wage boost.

Says U. S. Will

Wherry introduced a resolution to that effect.

Mr. Truman warned the lawmakers that they must take "great decisions" in the months ahead to cope with the global crisis.

pecifically, he called for higher taxes—he did not mention how much higher—changes in the draft law, greater powers to impose wage-price controls, and continued military and economic aid to this country's allies.

It is going to be "a long pull," he said.

Waves of applause rolled up when Mr. Truman mentioned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of a projected 1,000,000-man Western European army, and urged support for the General on his mission. Eisenhower is now in Europe, studying the groundwork for a unified defense setup.

When the President concluded, administration Democrats generally applauded his message as "powerful," "uplifting" and "magnificent." Republicans and Southern Democrats were more restrained.

Rivers-Harbors Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Rep. Miller (R-Md) introduced a bill today to authorize the Secretary of the Army to spend up to $2,000,000 a year on small river and harbor improvement projects, without getting congressional permission for each individual project.

Suggestion Md. Raise $24 Million For Bomb Shelters Under Fire

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—The state's adjutant general today termed as "absurd and ridiculous" a suggestion from federal civil defense authorities that Maryland issue $24,000,000 in bonds for bomb shelters.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord explained to the Board of Public Works that the federal government would match that sum if the state raised its share.

It was the first public indication of how much Maryland was to receive from the $2,250,000 the government has autorized for civil defense shelters for the next two years.

Gov. Lane, presiding at his last board meeting, advised, "Id go awfully, awfully slow.'

The board took no action on the shelters as it came before the body only as a matter of information.

Ambrose Pleads Guilty To Postal Stamp Fraud

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Harold F. Ambrose, 39, former special assistant to the Postmaster General, pleaded guilty today to a $50,000 postal stamp fraud charge.

Assistant United States Attorney Harold Bacon told District Court Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut the government will dismiss another 21 counts of a fraud indictment when Ambrose is sentenced.

Officials claimed that Ambrose may have handled more than $500,000 given him by friends and others who wanted to invest in collectors' stamps that might be resold for a profit.

Couple Robs Bank

McKEESPORT, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP)—A man and woman who flourished pistols held up a woman teller of the Union National Bank today and escaped with a paper bag full of money before other employes and a few customers knew a holdup was in progress.

A bank spokesman said the loot totalled "several thousand dollars."

Suggestion Md. Raise $24 Million For Bomb Shelters Under Fire

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—The state's adjutant general today termed as "absurd and ridiculous" a suggestion from federal civil defense authorities that Maryland issue $24,000,000 in bonds for bomb shelters.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord explained to the Board of Public Works that the federal government would match that sum if the state raised its share.

It was the first public indication of how much Maryland was to receive from the $2,250,000 the government has autorized for civil defense shelters for the next two years.

Gov. Lane, presiding at his last board meeting, advised, "Id go awfully, awfully slow.'

The board took no action on the shelters as it came before the body only as a matter of information.

Officials claimed that Ambrose may have handled more than $500,000 given him by friends and others who wanted to invest in collectors' stamps that might be resold for a profit.

The Red Tide

Red China's forces in Korea followed their long habit of launching offensives on enemy holidays when they opened their big push against the U. S. Eighth Army on New Year's Day. They not only picked a conventional time for this blow. They delivered it according to a tested pattern.

They threw their weight against carefully chosen points in the UN line, sending their troops forward in seemingly endless numbers to overwhelm the defenders at these key places. Again they are resorting to the "human sea" tactics that broke General MacArthur's offensive in November — though this time they took still greater losses because they did not have the advantage of surprise.

The waves of the human sea could not be stopped by mine fields, by barbed wire and machine guns, by artillery concentrations and air attack. There were too many fanatic Chinese for the weapons of the U. S. command to kill. The living kept on, and the greatly outnumbered American forces had to give way.

It is no doubt true that General MacArthur's units are being withdrawn to prepared positions farther back, but censored news dispatches do not reveal whether the retreat is going as planned.

Thus it is again demonstrated that if the Chinese Communists will take awesome losses they can advance. Questions still unanswered are whether they can keep their troops supplied, and whether these hard-bitten soldiers can shrug off the losses they must take if they are to win.

Taxed For Waste

Taxes today take 28 cents of every earned dollar. Of this the federal government takes 21 cents and state and local governments take seven cents. Congress now is devising ways and means of taking still more of the dollar in taxes. States are taking twice as much in taxes as they did 10 years ago.

The average taxpayer isn't aware of all this tax take. Some money is taken out of his pay check. He realizes that he pays property taxes. Occasionally clerks in the stores and at the ticket windows inform him certain excise taxes are added to what he buys.

But the plants that produce consumer goods are taxed to the hilt. They pass these taxes along to the consumer in the form of higher prices. Much of the 28 per cent outgo of the citizen's dollar is in the form of these hidden dollars.

A quarter century ago the federal government was taking less money from the citizen than the other governments. But today the federal government takes 75 per cent of all taxes paid, and the percentage soon will go higher.

No effort is being made by the administration to reduce non-essential government spending. When Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia pointed out how many billions could be saved, President Truman cracked, "I don't think Harry Byrd knows much about the budget." That wasn't funny.

Senator Byrd probably knows more about the budget than any other Senator. But the President's snide remark shows that the White House will not even tolerate a suggestion that waste in government spending should be eliminated.

Emblem Of What?

For nearly five months a San Francisco flagpole flew an unusual emblem. It, or she, was a 25-year-old blonde, described in dispatches as "shapely," with no comment on whether she was goodlooking otherwise. What bothers us is what she stood for.

We know, of course, what we read in the papers. She won some kind of flagpole-sitting championship, a Cadillac and a fur coat, and $7,500 in money that the tax collector will take a good bite out of. We would not have traded places with her, despite the perequisites, so we are willing to grant that she earned her reward.

Serious-minded folk may complain that she produced nothing useful. But she was entertaining the public and advertising a product, both essential elements according to existing standards. We aren't going to cock a snoot at her.

But flagpoles have a definite function. They are made to carry, at a proud height, an emblem that stands for something. Something people are proud of. We know what the blonde flagpole sitter sat for. But what did she stand for?

If we had a blonde we were proud of, we wouldn't fly her from a flagpole. When we look at a flag that belongs to us, it helps to remind us of what we believe in—of what is important in a different sense than blondes are important.

Independence For Libya

Any theory that all the people of the world desire independence and democracy and are fit to assume such responsibilities has still to be supported by logic. Some nationality groups have made comparatively little progress from the savage state, and have no conception of national government as such.

Typical of these groups are the natives of the African territories of Tripolitania, Cirenaica and the Fezzan, which the United Nations has decided are to become the self-government state of Libya not later than January 1, 1952. These territories are large in area and sparsely populated by a generally illiterate people. There are no railroads and only primitive means of communication to join them, and the territories are separated by vast stretches of desert. A start has been made toward a governmental set-up, but the prospects for success are regarded as poor.

Progress toward democracy for backward nations bust of necessity be slow, and must be preceded and accompanied by progress in education. Illiterate peoples need, more than anything else, careful and intelligent leadership. Before they can govern themselves they must be able to undstand what government is.

Health And Wealth

One of the hopeful fields of activity of the United Nations is that of improving health, and the World Health Organization already has achieved some concrete results. Yet discussions at a recent Middle East symposium on tropical diseases indicated that this group, like others which have tackled health problems, is already up against the interrelation between health and wealth.

The health of a people, its economic conditions and its social conditions are interdependent. It often seems obvious that economic conditions would be better if health could be improved, or vice versa. Yet one cannot be attained simply by striving for the other. All must be improved together, to obtain lasting gains.

Simple Arthritis Aids

THE NEW hormones now given in the treatment of arthritis have led to many dramatic incidents. Individuals bedridden for years are bouncing around in a miraculous fashion. They are not cured but delighted to be free from pain and able to get about. Imagine what this means to the breadwinner of a large family who was resigned to a life of complete disability.

These drugs are wonderful but their use is limited. They do not work, for example, in osteoarthritis which develops in oldsters as a result of wear and tear. Furthermore, ACTH and cortisone are tricky to administer and serious complications may follow their use unless the physician is familiar with all the pitfalls. Hence in this form of disease we call upon all the old remedies to help ease distress.

Rest is essential. This means more sleep than is necessary to maintain body resistance. Rest of the affected part is equally important. A common fallacious statement is, "If I don't keep moving, I'll stiffen up." This practice has destroyed more knee joints than it has helped because with each step the inflamed and swollen parts bear the weight of the body. Pressure can be diminished by using cane or crutches or by staying off the feet entirely during the acute attack. But remaining motionless in bed may be just as harmful as overexertion. A happy medium is attained by bending the knees while lying in bed or asking someone to support the legs while mild exercise is attempted.

Heat is the most popular method of obtaining relief. A hot bath for five to 20 minutes offers an excellent means of treating several joints at one time. The water can be warmed gradually to 100 degrees F. The temperature may be measured with a bath thermometer, which is an inexpensive and indispensable device in the home of any arthritic. When a foot or hand is involved a bucket of warm water is just as effective.

Many victims are impressed with the value of the whirlpool bath but find the equipment too expensive to buy. An old washtub into which a stream of water can be directed via a hose often works just as well. The temperature of the water should vary between 100 and 110 degrees F. and the apparatus can be employed for 30 minutes once or twice daily. A paraffin bath for an inflamed wrist or ankle is another home remedy. Paraffin is melted into a liquid and the extremity is dipped into the substance until a good coating forms. This procedure is most advantgeous subsequent to an ordinary heat treatment because the many layers of paraffin hold the heat, thus prolonging the beneficial effects.

The electric heating pad, hot water bottle or infra-red lamp can be employed day after day. Care must be taken not to burn the skin; and petrolatum jelly should be applied to prevent mottling. Massage and exercise are easy to do at home. Massage is most valuable after a heat treatment and exercise is less painful and more efficious when it follows both these maneuvers. There is no place for "rough stuff" in the management of arthritis. Stroking and kneading should be gentle. A formal routine of gymnastics is unnecessary. Furthermore, many individuals obtain adequate muscular activity thru their regular work. Operating a sewing machine with a foot pedal will strength feet, ankles, and knees. Loom weaving, sewing, and doing the dishes help the elbows, shoulders, and back. It is the little things that count.

TOMORROW: The depressed person needs help.

SWEET TASTE

G. T. R. writes: Whenever I develop a sweet taste in my mouth, the tongue becomes blistered and sore. Have you any idea what causes this pecular condition?

Apparently the taste buds are affected during the development of the canker sores. This creates a sensation in the brain that is interpreted as "sweet."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Democratic senators came out of their first secret caucus of the new Congressional session determined to fight back against unfair, below-the-belt political campaigning such as the fake photo featuring a chummy conversation between Senator Tydings and Communist Earl Browder.

Senatorial backs were stiffened by Clint Anderson of New Mexico, who urged them to make a test issue of the Maryland Senatorial campaign which defeated Tydings. While the same vicious type of campaign had been waged in other states, Anderson said, only in Maryland was there direct evidence that the candidate himself, GOP John Butler, had participated.

"All you boys will be under this sort of attack if you don't do something about it," warned the New Mexico Senator. Showing the Senators the phony, composite picture of Tydings and Browder, Anderson continued:

"Now I have seen a picture of a very wonderful member of the United States Senate who had visited Bikini and had gone bathing in the surf, very scantily attired. It would be a simple process to take his outstretched hand and place the hand of a lewd woman in his, against the backdrop of a South Sea isle. That's what this type of campaigning is coming to," Anderson argued.

Connally Next

Then he turned to Tom Connally of Texas and said: "You know, Senator Connally, the campaign is already on down in Texas to prove you are a Communist coddler, because you didn't stand up against Dean Acheson."

Turning to Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, he remarked: "In the Maryland campaign, Tydings was charged with the loss of American lives in Korea. In the future that sort of comment and criticism, no matter how unfair and unjust, will be heaped on Senator Russell who is taking Tydings' place as chairman of the Armed Services Committee."

At this point, Connecticut's Sen. Brien McMahon waved a copy of "Common Sense," a fascist publication which had been used in the campaign against him. One headline screamed: "McMahon—Communist Dupe," and the article under it inferred that the Senator was guilty of treason and had helped to leak atomic secrets to the Russians—both viciously untrue.

"I beat it boys, but maybe you can't in 1952," McMahon warned.

Iowa's Sen. Guy Gillette, chairman of the Elections Subcommittee, reported that his committee had just uncovered some last-minute information on Butler's finances that "revealed a scandalous situation" in Maryland. He explained that the investigation wasn't far enough along to bar Butler from taking his seat, but that the Senate parliamentarian had advised the committee that Butler could be ousted later by a majority vote.

NOTE—The tabloid featuring the fake Tydings-Browder photo was held in a Baltimore print shop until Jean Kerr, secretary to Senator McCarthy, brought $2,400 in checks to the printer to pay for distribution. Later Don Surine, McCarthy's assistant, took the Baltimore printer, William H. Fedder, for an all-night ride in an attempt to make him surrender a letter from candidate Butler which appeared to be in violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

High Cost Of Politics

In Pennsylvania, Senator Anderson also pointed out, an estimated $2,000,000 had been spent in the Senatorial campaign. "However, the cost of living has gone up in politics," he added, "and it wasn't spent for slanderous literature." Anderson also remarked that the "campaign in Utah was as vicious as the one against Tydings," that "horrible publications" were put out against Elbert Thomas, but that there was no evidence the successful candidate, Wallace Bennett, had directed this campaign.

In reply to newspaper comment that Southerners might not agree to bar Butler of Maryland on the grounds of states' rights, Anderson quoted a speech by Senator George of Georgia on Jan. 17, 1928, when he opposed the seating of Senator Vare of Pennsylvania on the ground that it was up to Congress to pass upon its own membership and that the states had given permission for Congress to investigate federal elections.

After Anderson finished quoting him, George took the floor and recalled having made the 1928 speech. He also added that he hasn't changed his mind.

"We shouldn't pass on the Maryland case by early and one-sided arguments, but we have an obligation to look into it," advised George.

Tydings Bows Out

Senator Tydings himself finally took the floor at the end of the secret caucus. He insisted that he would not contest the election, that he had spent 28 years in Congress, was tired, and deserved a rest. He remarked, however, that he had been swamped with letters and telegrams from Maryland voters who had voted against him, but had changed their minds after learning what had actually happened.

"These messages clearly indicate that if the election were held tomorrow, I would sweep the state," declared Tydings. But he insisted again that "unless stern duty demands, I do not intend to go back into government."

By the time the caucus wound up, not a voice was raised against the idea of making the Maryland case an example.

NOTE — Anderson and Gillette both charged in the secret caucus that Senator McCarthy, Chicago Tribune, Washington Times-Herald and radio commentator Fulton Lewis had "actively participated" in the smear campaign.

The swanky new upholstery in the House chamber—brown leather seats on the floor, plush divans in the cloakrooms — doesn't impress plain-talking GOP Rep. Usher Burdick of North Dakota. . . . "Don't let this stuff fool you," Burdick tells colleagues. "These new seats will be just as hard to hang on to as the old ones when election day rolls around." . . . Real boss of the House in the new Congress is not Speaker Sam Rayburn, who nominally holds the reins, but Rep. Howard "Wing-collar" Smith of Virginia, who cracks the whip over the Dixiecrat-GOP coalition. . . . Able, sober-sided Rep. Jere Cooper of Tennessee caused chuckles of House Democrats with this barb at his Illinois colleague, Adolph Sabath, whose 44 years in the House is the longest in history "The gentleman is a newcomer, so I hope you boys will help him to find his way around till he learns the ropes."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Timetable Problem

WASHINGTON—ONE simple fact is enough to give an air of vague unreality, alike to Senator Taft's foreign policy speech, and to the program President Truman will now present to Congress. The Yugoslav government is now actively preparing for an attack in the spring, either by the encircling ring of Kremlin's satellites, or by the Soviet Army itself.

After a dreadful famine, with insufficient American aid really to relieve them, the Yugoslavs now sorely need a period of relaxation, a short indulgence in butter before guns. Even before the famine, when one of these correspondents saw him last year, Marshal Tito strongly insisted on the need to ease the hard lot of his people. Instead, the grimmest sacrifices are now being made to put the country in a state of military readiness. And this is being done, despite his former view, on the order of Marshal Tito himself.

The incalculable strategic significance of an attack on Yugoslavia is a subject that must be covered in a separate report. The reason why the Yugoslav decision to get ready for war in the spring is a commentary on Taft and Truman, is because it speaks volumes about the timetable of the Soviet imperialist program.

Senator Taft talked as though we had a year or so to debate the issue of the Kremlin's world-program of aggression, and could then meet the threat without ever making any commitments entailing any serious risk. The Truman preparedness program, if advance reports are correct, is still based on the thesis that the final showdown with the Kremlin can at least be deferred for twenty-four months or so.

But Marshal Tito, who has every domestic reason to pursue the opposite policy, and should know the ways of the Kremlin better than any other leader this side of the Iron Curtain, is getting ready for war in April or May. No one in his senses can suppose that the final show-down with the Kremlin can be deferred for very long, after the fighting has thus spread to the heart of Europe. In short, if Tito is correct, Truman's program is dimly inadequate, and Taft is living in a sort of cosy dream.

This is an experience that we in America have had before. Anyone who follows public affairs must recall the spates of soothing syrup that poured out of the White House, the State Department and the Defense Department at the time of the Soviet atomic bomb explosion. "None of the fundamental facts in the situation were changed," the country was assured. "The principles of American policy would remain exactly the same," so the word went out.

But on that day in September, 1949, one thing did change most radically—the timetable of Soviet action. The change in the Soviet timetable in turn made nonsense of the whole accepted American program and policy. What was planned was still on the right lines, but in the light of the new Soviet timetable, everything that was planned became ridiculously too little and hopelessly too late. And so we came to the critical situation in which we find ourselves today.

The same sort of choice confronts this country now. Obviously Marshall Tito may be dead wrong in his estimate of the Kremlin's intentions. Obviously, the Chinese attack on Korea may not mean what it appears to mean, although it was General Douglas MacArthur himself who said in October, "there is no danger of Chinese intervention, unless the Kremlin is now preparing to risk a general war." Obviously the intelligence may be wrong in predicting an early onslaught upon Indo-China, and more recently in even suggesting the possibility of an attack on Hong Kong—which would mean that the Kremlin and Peking are really shooting the moon.

Betting On Chance

But the question is not whether there is a chance of a happier outcome. The question is, rather, whether it is safe to base national policy on a simple gamble on that chance. Marshall Tito making his suffering people go without in order to have guns, evidently thinks it is insanely unsafe to bet on such a fortunate chance. For the present at any rate, the leadership in Washington is actually betting on it.

The reason is plain enough. Getting ready for trouble in 1951 involves a staggering program, in-

Sen. Taft Gives Truman Leadership Opportunity

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—The logical sequel to the speech made by Senator Taft of Ohio, Republican, is for President Truman to accept the challenge in it and ask Congress to adopt a resolution authorizing the President to send our armed forces wherever the obligations of the United Nations charter may so require.

If the United States has any doubts or hesitancy about carrying out the moral obligations of the charter, other nations which have recently been criticized for not bearing their fair share of the armament burden can scarcely be blamed for similar reluctance.

The Taft speech offers this country an unexampled oportunity to make up its mind as to the method of which its military policy shall be carried out under our constitutional system.

Senator Taft's speech — whether one agrees with it in whole or in part—reflects a substantial sentiment of dissatisfaction throughout the country and as such cannot be regarded as merely a partisan speech or the criticism of a partisan. Such criticism can only be met by the fullest kind of debate.

Some Inconsistencies

The Ohio Senator's address contains a number of inconsistencies. This in itself is not strange, for the administration's policies have been characterized by the same thing.

Where Mr. Taft goes off base, however, is in his readiness, on the one hand, to agree that we must fight Russia if her armies sweep across Continental Europe because our obligations under the Atlantic Pact require us to defend our Continental allies and his reluctance, on the other hand, to send many troops to Europe now.

What really is bothering Senator Taft is military strategy—not foreign policy. He concedes that when we do fight we must help our allies of Europe and that we cannot forsake them now. He agrees that we must defend Britain now and also any other areas overseas where we may need bases for air power. But when it comes to setting up the right defense against an agressor he expresses doubt whether we should send our armies to Continental Europe where they could be overrun by the Soviet forces. He offers advice that amounts to a fatal caution, if not defeatism. To notify Russia now that Continental Europe would not be defended is to invite attack. To say that Britain can be defended solely by sea and air power is to say that we would be willing to let France and Germany be thrown into the arms of the Communists. The industrial strength of Germany in particular when added to what Russia already controls would give her an arsenal in which to build supplies to destroy Britain.

What is needed today is a considered judgment by the best military leaders on the whole allied side. What they may say is the minimum military requirement it is our moral and legal obligation to supply. General Eisenhower has gone to Europe to determine this very thing.

Many Sound Points

To argue that this is expensive is to put dollars ahead of human life. Where survival is the basic issue the amount of or the extent of the inflation resulting from excessive debt is not to be considered. Senator Taft's questioning of the Truman policy of failing to consult Congress for authority to do what he has been doing is 100 per cent right. Likewise, in Taft's plea for a plan to aid undergrounds and other forces that might be willing to harass the Soviet regimes in the various satellite countries is also sound advice. Indeed, there are many points in the Taft speech that could well be taken to heart by the Administration.

Fundamentally, moreover, there is every reason why the Congress should be asked to pass upon important steps of national policy. To do so is to require members of the legislative body to stand up and be counted. Likewise, the world has a right to know whether under our divided constitutional system the President is speaking for the country or for his own political party only or for an arbitrary course which the Constitution forbids him to take. For only Congress can declare war.

Certainly the operations in Korea are such that Congressional authority for action there seems desirable. Had the President done this last July he would have been given the necessary authority without hesitation. He can get such a vote now even with the debate which in itself will help to clear the air. If the President chooses to ignore the Congress he will be forfeiting a magnificent opportunity for leadership and he will miss the chance to forge a real unity in this country and the free world.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Trend Toward Socialism

I WAS recently shocked to discover a lad who believed in a restoration of what he called "laissez-faire capitalism." The term meant nothing to me, as such a form of capitalism has never existed and was, at most, a figment of the imagination. The means for earning money have in some measure always been controlled, to a greater or lesser degree, and the right of investment and expenditure has been limited either by social pressure or government or religious interdicts. Taxes have always been a limiting factor.

However, the very use of the term after three wars in one generation strikes me as being akin to those theologians who are still fighting the 17th Century religious wars. Some things simply do not belong to the times. As a matter of fact, when we actually reach Mr. Truman's budget of $90,000,000,000, we shall be reduced to an increasing socialism.

I could not help noting in this connection two interesting paragraphs, by Paul W. Dickson, in a study of "Compensation and Pensions of Executives," written for the National Industrial Conference Board:

"A generation or so ago the successful manager was very handsomely rewarded. He often acquired a considerable equity in the company, and usually shared in its profits. Today, he is often just a very important employe, with little or no financial stake in the company. So there is much greater emphasis on the salary of an executive than in the past, especially since the payment of bonuses has been closely circumscribed. Perhaps more important to the average high executive are the impact of federal personal income taxes and the decline in the value of the dollar. To illustrate, a $50,000 salary in 1940 was reduced by the income tax to $36,259 for a man with two children. In 1950, this salary, after taxes, amounted to only $20,492 in 1940 dollars.

"As the executive moves up he accepts ever-heavier responsibilities. As his salary goes up he finds that he is working three days a week for Uncle Sam instead of two, with only a negligible advance in his own 'take home.' In assuming the heavier responsibilitines he can hardly be interested in the financial reward, but rather in the added prestige an din the challenge of a bigger job."

In 1951, that salary will be cut to even less. The man who does not earn $50,000 naturally does not feel very sorry for the man who does. But he also does not have the other man's preparations and qualifications and headaches, nor the other man's social responsibilities.

The question for the executive is whether it is worth his while to assume so much for so little compention.

Some men like honors and dignities and find compensation enough in that. Some men have a sense of public service and find compensation in the opportunity to perform it. But the money compensation—the opportunity to accumulate, to save, to invest, to leave an estate for children and grandchildren—that is gone in this country except for a favored few.

The favored few need to be described:

1. Racketeers: Their opportunities are plentiful. They earn their money by high adventure, risking liberty and life. Most of them do not report their earnings to the Treasury, but make heavy contributions to campaign funds of politicians and depend upon fixes to keep them out of jail.

2. Black and gray marketeers: This is an amazing crew of businessmen who deal in scarce commodities. We shall soon see them in the automobile business again. As long as the automobile companies fail to print in their advertisements the retail price of cars—even the F.O.B. Detroit price—they aid and abet these pirates, many of whom demand cash bonuses for their wares. These bonuses, under-the-counter or over-the-counter, are not reported for tax purposes. The man who does this is, of course, a thief but does not suffer social opprobrium.

3. Professional men and others who receive cash payments and report what they like.

4. Labor leaders who do not have to account for the use they make of what should be public funds.

5. Thieving politicians who accept bribes for permitting violations of the law.

6. Those who still possess inherited wealth.

Those who fit these categories only suffer the consequences of depreciated currency, which they often manage to hedge against. The rest of us are being socialized by taxation.

The Red Tide

Red China's forces in Korea followed their long habit of launching offensives on enemy holidays when they opened their big push against the U. S. Eighth Army on New Year's Day. They not only picked a conventional time for this blow. They delivered it according to a tested pattern.

They threw their weight against carefully chosen points in the UN line, sending their troops forward in seemingly endless numbers to overwhelm the defenders at these key places. Again they are resorting to the "human sea" tactics that broke General MacArthur's offensive in November—though this time they took still greater losses because they did not have the advantage of surprise.

The waves of the human sea could not be stopped by mine fields, by barbed wire and machine guns, by artillery concentrations and air attack. There were too many fanatic Chinese for the weapons of the U. S. command to kill. The living kept on, and the greatly outnumbered American forces had to give way.

It is no doubt true that General MacArthur's units are being withdrawn to prepared positions farther back, but censored news dispatches do not reveal whether the retreat is going as planned.

Thus it is again demonstrated that if the Chinese Communists will take awesome losses they can advance. Questions still unanswered are whether they can keep their troops supplied, and whether these hard-bitten soldiers can shrug off the losses they must take if they are to win.

Taxed For Waste

Taxes today take 28 cents of every earned dollar. Of this the federal government takes 21 cents and state and local governments take seven cents. Congress now is devising ways and means of taking still more of the dollar in taxes. States are taking twice as much in taxes as they did 10 years ago.

The average taxpayer isn't aware of all this tax take. Some money is taken out of his pay check. He realizes that he pays property taxes. Occasionally clerks in the stores and at the ticket windows inform him certain excise taxes are added to what he buys.

But the plants that produce consumer goods are taxed to the hilt. They pass these taxes along to the consumer in the form of higher prices. Much of the 28 per cent outgo of the citizen's dollar is in the form of these hidden dollars.

A quarter century ago the federal government was taking less money from the citizen than the other governments. But today the federal government takes 75 per cent of all taxes paid, and the percentage soon will go higher.

No effort is being made by the administration to reduce non-essential government spending. When Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia pointed out how many billions could be saved, President Truman cracked, "I don't think Harry Byrd knows much about the budget." That wasn't funny.

Senator Byrd probably knows more about the budget than any other Senator. But the President's snide remark shows that the White House will not even tolerate a suggestion that waste in government spending should be eliminated.

Emblem Of What?

For nearly five months a San Francisco flagpole flew an unusual emblem. It, or she, was a 25-year-old blonde, described in dispatches as "shapely," with no comment on whether she was goodlooking otherwise. What bothers us is what she stood for.

We know, of course, what we read in the papers. She won some kind of flagpole-sitting championship, a Cadillac and a fur coat, and $7,500 in money that the tax collector will take a good bite out of. We would not have traded places with her, despite the perequisites, so we are willing to grant that she earned her reward.

Serious-minded folk may complain that she produced nothing useful. But she was entertaining the public and advertising a product, both essential elements according to existing standards. We aren't going to cock a snoot at her.

But flagpoles have a definite function. They are made to carry, at a proud height, an emblem that stands for something. Something people are proud of. We know what the blonde flagpole sitter sat for. But what did she stand for?

If we had a blonde we were proud of, we wouldn't fly her from a flagpole. When we look at a flag that belongs to us, it helps to remind us of what we believe in—of what is important in a different sense than blondes are important.

Independence For Libya

Any theory that all the people of the world desire independence and democracy and are fit to assume such responsibilities has still to be supported by logic. Some nationality groups have made comparatively little progress from the savage state, and have no conception of national government as such.

Typical of these groups are the natives of the African territories of Tripolitania, Cirenaica and the Fezzan, which the United Nations has decided are to become the self-government state of Libya not later than January 1, 1952. These territories are large in area and sparsely populated by a generally illiterate people. There are no railroads and only primitive means of communication to join them, and the territories are separated by vast stretches of desert. A start has been made toward a governmental set-up, but the prospects for success are regarded as poor.

Progress toward democracy for backward nations bust of necessity be slow, and must be preceded and accompanied by progress in education. Illiterate peoples need, more than anything else, careful and intelligent leadership. Before they can govern themselves they must be able to undstand what government is.

Health And Wealth

One of the hopeful fields of activity of the United Nations is that of improving health, and the World Health Organization already has achieved some concrete results. Yet discussions at a recent Middle East symposium on tropical diseases indicated that this group, like others which have tackled health problems, is already up against the interrelation between health and wealth.

The health of a people, its economic conditions and its social conditions are interdependent. It often seems obvious that economic conditions would be better if health could be improved, or vice versa. Yet one cannot be attained simply by striving for the other. All must be improved together, to obtain lasting gains.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Simple Arthritis Aids

THE NEW hormones now given in the treatment of arthritis have led to many dramatic incidents. Individuals bedridden for years are bouncing around in a miraculous fashion. They are not cured but delighted to be free from pain and able to get about. Imagine what this means to the breadwinner of a large family who was resigned to a life of complete disability.

These drugs are wonderful but their use is limited. They do not work, for example, in osteoarthritis which develops in oldsters as a result of wear and tear. Furthermore, ACTH and cortisone are tricky to administer and serious complications may follow their use unless the physician is familiar with all the pitfalls. Hence in this form of disease we call upon all the old remedies to help ease distress.

Rest is essential. This means more sleep than is necessary to maintain body resistance. Rest of the affected part is equally important. A common fallacious statement is, "If I don't keep moving, I'll stiffen up." This practice has destroyed more knee joints than it has helped because with each step the inflamed and swollen parts bear the weight of the body. Pressure can be diminished by using cane or crutches or by staying off the feet entirely during the acute attack. But remaining motionless in bed may be just as harmful as overexertion. A happy medium is attained by bending the knees while lying in bed or asking someone to support the legs while mild exercise is attempted.

Heat is the most popular method of obtaining relief. A hot bath for five to 20 minutes offers an excellent means of treating several joints at one time. The water can be warmed gradually to 100 degrees F. The temperature may be measured with a bath thermometer, which is an inexpensive and indispensable device in the home of any arthritic. When a foot or hand is involved a bucket of warm water is just as effective.

Many victims are impressed with the value of the whirlpool bath but find the equipment too expensive to buy. An old washtub into which a stream of water can be directed via a hose often works just as well. The temperature of the water should vary between 100 and 110 degrees F. and the apparatus can be employed for 30 minutes once or twice daily. A paraffin bath for an inflamed wrist or ankle is another home remedy. Paraffin is melted into a liquid and the extremity is dipped into the substance until a good coating forms. This procedure is most advantgeous subsequent to an ordinary heat treatment because the many layers of paraffin hold the heat, thus prolonging the beneficial effects.

The electric heating pad, hot water bottle or infra-red lamp can be employed day after day. Care must be taken not to burn the skin; and petrolatum jelly should be applied to prevent mottling. Massage and exercise are easy to do at home. Massage is most valuable after a heat treatment and exercise is less painful and more efficious when it follows both these maneuvers. There is no place for "rough stuff" in the management of arthritis. Stroking and kneading should be gentle. A formal routine of gymnastics is unnecessary. Furthermore, many individuals obtain adequate muscular activity thru their regular work. Operating a sewing machine with a foot pedal will strength feet, ankles, and knees. Loom weaving, sewing, and doing the dishes help the elbows, shoulders, and back. It is the little things that count.

TOMORROW: The depressed person needs help.

SWEET TASTE

G. T. R. writes: Whenever I develop a sweet taste in my mouth, the tongue becomes blistered and sore. Have you any idea what causes this pecular condition?

REPLY

Apparently the taste buds are affected during the development of the canker sores. This creates a sensation in the brain that is interpreted as "sweet."

LUNG MALIGNANCY

L. P. writes: What is the first sign of cancer of the lung?

REPLY

A persistent cough may be the earliest manifestation. Chest discomfort and blood streaked sputum are other manifestations. The diagnosis can be made in the early stages thru X-ray, sputum studies, bronchoscope, and biopsy.

FOCAL EPILEPSY

O. W. writes: A man was told by his physician that his epilepsy was caused by a focus in the right hemisphere of the brain. What does this mean?

REPLY

That a lesion, such as hemorrhage, scar, or tumor exists in the right side of the brain.

MOANING

M. L. writes: Is it true that when a person moans in his sleep it means that he is not well?

REPLY

No. In my opinion, moaning is a less noisy variation of snoring and is not related to the feeling of well being.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Democratic senators came out of their first secret caucus of the new Congressional session determined to fight back against unfair, below-the-belt political campaigning such as the fake photo featuring a chummy conversation between Senator Tydings and Communist Earl Browder.

Senatorial backs were stiffened by Clint Anderson of New Mexico, who urged them to make a test issue of the Maryland Senatorial campaign which defeated Tydings. While the same vicious type of campaign had been waged in other states, Anderson said, only in Maryland was there direct evidence that the candidate himself, GOP John Butler, had participated.

"All you boys will be under this sort of attack if you don't do something about it," warned the New Mexico Senator. Showing the Senators the phony, composite picture of Tydings and Browder, Anderson continued:

"Now I have seen a picture of a very wonderful member of the United States Senate who had visited Bikini and had gone bathing in the surf, very scantily attired. It would be a simple process to take his outstretched hand and place the hand of a lewd woman in his, against the backdrop of a South Sea isle. That's what this type of campaigning is coming to," Anderson argued.

Connally Next

Then he turned to Tom Connally of Texas and said: "You know, Senator Connally, the campaign is already on down in Texas to prove you are a Communist coddler, because you didn't stand up against Dean Acheson."

Turning to Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, he remarked: "In the Maryland campaign, Tydings was charged with the loss of American lives in Korea. In the future that sort of comment and criticism, no matter how unfair and unjust, will be heaped on Senator Russell who is taking Tydings' place as chairman of the Armed Services Committee."

At this point, Connecticut's Sen. Brien McMahon waved a copy of "Common Sense," a fascist publication which had been used in the campaign against him. One headline screamed: "McMahon—Communist Dupe," and the article under it inferred that the Senator was guilty of treason and had helped to leak atomic secrets to the Russians—both viciously untrue.

"I beat it boys, but maybe you can't in 1952," McMahon warned.

Iowa's Sen. Guy Gillette, chairman of the Elections Subcommittee, reported that his committee had just uncovered some last-minute information on Butler's finances that "revealed a scandalous situation" in Maryland. He explained that the investigation wasn't far enough along to bar Butler from taking his seat, but that the Senate parliamentarian had advised the committee that Butler could be ousted later by a majority vote.

NOTE—The tabloid featuring the fake Tydings-Browder photo was held in a Baltimore print shop until Jean Kerr, secretary to Senator McCarthy, brought $2,400 in checks to the printer to pay for distribution. Later Don Surine, McCarthy's assistant, took the Baltimore printer, William H. Fedder, for an all-night ride in an attempt to make him surrender a letter from candidate Butler which appeared to be in violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

High Cost Of Politics

In Pennsylvania, Senator Anderson also pointed out, an estimated $2,000,000 had been spent in the Senatorial campaign. "However, the cost of living has gone up in politics," he added, "and it wasn't spent for slanderous literature." Anderson also remarked that the "campaign in Utah was as vicious as the one against Tydings," that "horrible publications" were put out against Elbert Thomas, but that there was no evidence the successful candidate, Wallace Bennett, had directed this campaign.

In reply to newspaper comment that Southerners might not agree to bar Butler of Maryland on the grounds of states' rights, Anderson quoted a speech by Senator George of Georgia on Jan. 17, 1928, when he opposed the seating of Senator Vare of Pennsylvania on the ground that it was up to Congress to pass upon its own membership and that the states had given permission for Congress to investigate federal elections.

After Anderson finished quoting him, George took the floor and recalled having made the 1928 speech. He also added that he hasn't changed his mind.

"We shouldn't pass on the Maryland case by early and one-sided arguments, but we have an obligation to look into it," advised George.

Tydings Bows Out

Senator Tydings himself finally took the floor at the end of the secret caucus. He insisted that he would not contest the election, that he had spent 28 years in Congress, was tired, and deserved a rest. He remarked, however, that he had been swamped with letters and telegrams from Maryland voters who had voted against him, but had changed their minds after learning what had actually happened.

"These messages clearly indicate that if the election were held tomorrow, I would sweep the state," declared Tydings. But he insisted again that "unless stern duty demands, I do not intend to go back into government."

By the time the caucus wound up, not a voice was raised against the idea of making the Maryland case an example.

NOTE — Anderson and Gillette both charged in the secret caucus that Senator McCarthy, Chicago Tribune, Washington Times-Herald and radio commentator Fulton Lewis had "actively participated" in the smear campaign.

The swanky new upholstery in the House chamber—brown leather seats on the floor, plush divans in the cloakrooms — doesn't impress plain-talking GOP Rep. Usher Burdick of North Dakota. . . . "Don't let this stuff fool you," Burdick tells colleagues. "These new seats will be just as hard to hang on to as the old ones when election day rolls around." . . . Real boss of the House in the new Congress is not Speaker Sam Rayburn, who nominally holds the reins, but Rep. Howard "Wing-collar" Smith of Virginia, who cracks the whip over the Dixiecrat-GOP coalition. . . . Able, sober-sided Rep. Jere Cooper of Tennessee caused chuckles of House Democrats with this barb at his Illinois colleague, Adolph Sabath, whose 44 years in the House is the longest in history "The gentleman is a newcomer, so I hope you boys will help him to find his way around till he learns the ropes."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Timetable Problem

WASHINGTON—ONE simple fact is enough to give an air of vague unreality, alike to Senator Taft's foreign policy speech, and to the program President Truman will now present to Congress. The Yugoslav government is now actively preparing for an attack in the spring, either by the encircling ring of Kremlin's satellites, or by the Soviet Army itself.

After a dreadful famine, with insufficient American aid really to relieve them, the Yugoslavs now sorely need a period of relaxation, a short indulgence in butter before guns. Even before the famine, when one of these correspondents saw him last year, Marshal Tito strongly insisted on the need to ease the hard lot of his people. Instead, the grimmest sacrifices are now being made to put the country in a state of military readiness. And this is being done, despite his former view, on the order of Marshal Tito himself.

The incalculable strategic significance of an attack on Yugoslavia is a subject that must be covered in a separate report. The reason why the Yugoslav decision to get ready for war in the spring is a commentary on Taft and Truman, is because it speaks volumes about the timetable of the Soviet imperialist program.

Senator Taft talked as though we had a year or so to debate the issue of the Kremlin's world-program of aggression, and could then meet the threat without ever making any commitments entailing any serious risk. The Truman preparedness program, if advance reports are correct, is still based on the thesis that the final showdown with the Kremlin can at least be deferred for twenty-four months or so.

But Marshal Tito, who has every domestic reason to pursue the opposite policy, and should know the ways of the Kremlin better than any other leader this side of the Iron Curtain, is getting ready for war in April or May. No one in his senses can suppose that the final show-down with the Kremlin can be deferred for very long, after the fighting has thus spread to the heart of Europe. In short, if Tito is correct, Truman's program is dimly inadequate, and Taft is living in a sort of cosy dream.

This is an experience that we in America have had before. Anyone who follows public affairs must recall the spates of soothing syrup that poured out of the White House, the State Department and the Defense Department at the time of the Soviet atomic bomb explosion. "None of the fundamental facts in the situation were changed," the country was assured. "The principles of American policy would remain exactly the same," so the word went out.

But on that day in September, 1949, one thing did change most radically—the timetable of Soviet action. The change in the Soviet timetable in turn made nonsense of the whole accepted American program and policy. What was planned was still on the right lines, but in the light of the new Soviet timetable, everything that was planned became ridiculously too little and hopelessly too late.— And so we came to the critical situation in which we find ourselves today.

The same sort of choice confronts this country now. Obviously Marshall Tito may be dead wrong in his estimate of the Kremlin's intentions. Obviously, the Chinese attack on Korea may not mean what it appears to mean, although it was General Douglas MacArthur himself who said in October, "there is no danger of Chinese intervention, unless the Kremlin is now preparing to risk a general war." Obviously the intelligence may be wrong in predicting an early onslaught upon Indo-China, and more recently in even suggesting the possibility of an attack on Hong Kong—which would mean that the Kremlin and Peking are really shooting the moon.

Betting On Chance

But the question is not whether there is a chance of a happier outcome. The question is, rather, whether it is safe to base national policy on a simple gamble on that chance. Marshall Tito making his suffering people go without in order to have guns, evidently thinks it is insanely unsafe to bet on such a fortunate chance. For the present at any rate, the leadership in Washington is actually betting on it.

The reason is plain enough. Getting ready for trouble in 1951 involves a staggering program, in-

Sen. Taft Gives Truman Leadership Opportunity

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—The logical sequel to the speech made by Senator Taft of Ohio, Republican, is for President Truman to accept the challenge in it and ask Congress to adopt a resolution authorizing the President to send our armed forces wherever the obligations of the United Nations charter may so require.

If the United States has any doubts or hesitancy about carrying out the moral obligations of the charter, other nations which have recently been criticized for not bearing their fair share of the armament burden can scarcely be blamed for similar reluctance.

The Taft speech offers this country an unexampled oportunity to make up its mind as to the method of which its military policy shall be carried out under our constitutional system.

Senator Taft's speech — whether one agrees with it in whole or in part—reflects a substantial sentiment of dissatisfaction throughout the country and as such cannot be regarded as merely a partisan speech or the criticism of a partisan. Such criticism can only be met by the fullest kind of debate.

Some Inconsistencies

The Ohio Senator's address contains a number of inconsistencies. This in itself is not strange, for the administration's policies have been characterized by the same thing.

Where Mr. Taft goes off base, however, is in his readiness, on the one hand, to agree that we must fight Russia if her armies sweep across Continental Europe because our obligations under the Atlantic Pact require us to defend our Continental allies and his reluctance, on the other hand, to send many troops to Europe now.

What really is bothering Senator Taft is military strategy—not foreign policy. He concedes that when we do fight we must help our allies of Europe and that we cannot forsake them now. He agrees that we must defend Britain now and also any other areas overseas where we may need bases for air power. But when it comes to setting up the right defense against an agressor he expresses doubt whether we should send our armies to Continental Europe where they could be overrun by the Soviet forces. He offers advice that amounts to a fatal caution, if not defeatism. To notify Russia now that Continental Europe would not be defended is to invite attack. To say that Britain can be defended solely by sea and air power is to say that we would be willing to let France and Germany be thrown into the arms of the Communists. The industrial strength of Germany in particular when added to what Russia already controls would give her an arsenal in which to build supplies to destroy Britain.

What is needed today is a considered judgment by the best military leaders on the whole allied side. What they may say is the minimum military requirement it is our moral and legal obligation to supply. General Eisenhower has gone to Europe to determine this very thing.

Many Sound Points

To argue that this is expensive is to put dollars ahead of human life. Where survival is the basic issue the amount of or the extent of the inflation resulting from excessive debt is not to be considered. Senator Taft's questioning of the Truman policy of failing to consult Congress for authority to do what he has been doing is 100 per cent right. Likewise, in Taft's plea for a plan to aid undergrounds and other forces that might be willing to harass the Soviet regimes in the various satellite countries is also sound advice. Indeed, there are many points in the Taft speech that could well be taken to heart by the Administration.

Fundamentally, moreover, there is every reason why the Congress should be asked to pass upon important steps of national policy. To do so is to require members of the legislative body to stand up and be counted. Likewise, the world has a right to know whether under our divided constitutional system the President is speaking for the country or for his own political party only or for an arbitrary course which the Constitution forbids him to take. For only Congress can declare war.

Certainly the operations in Korea are such that Congressional authority for action there seems desirable. Had the President done this last July he would have been given the necessary authority without hesitation. He can get such a vote now even with the debate which in itself will help to clear the air. If the President chooses to ignore the Congress he will be forfeiting a magnificent opportunity for leadership and he will miss the chance to forge a real unity in this country and the free world.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Trend Toward Socialism

I WAS recently shocked to discover a lad who believed in a restoration of what he called "laissez-faire capitalism." The term meant nothing to me, as such a form of capitalism has never existed and was, at most, a figment of the imagination. The means for earning money have in some measure always been controlled, to a greater or lesser degree, and the right of investment and expenditure has been limited either by social pressure or government or religious interdicts. Taxes have always been a limiting factor.

However, the very use of the term after three wars in one generation strikes me as being akin to those theologians who are still fighting the 17th Century religious wars. Some things simply do not belong to the times. As a matter of fact, when we actually reach Mr. Truman's budget of $90,000,000,000, we shall be reduced to an increasing socialism.

I could not help noting in this connection two interesting paragraphs, by Paul W. Dickson, in a study of "Compensation and Pensions of Executives," written for the National Industrial Conference Board:

"A generation or so ago the successful manager was very handsomely rewarded. He often acquired a considerable equity in the company, and usually shared in its profits. Today, he is often just a very important employe, with little or no financial stake in the company. So there is much greater emphasis on the salary of an executive than in the past, especially since the payment of bonuses has been closely circumscribed. Perhaps more important to the average high executive are the impact of federal personal income taxes and the decline in the value of the dollar. To illustrate, a $50,000 salary in 1940 was reduced by the income tax to $36,259 for a man with two children. In 1950, this salary, after taxes, amounted to only $20,492 in 1940 dollars.

"As the executive moves up he accepts ever-heavier responsibilities. As his salary goes up he finds that he is working three days a week for Uncle Sam instead of two, with only a negligible advance in his own 'take home.' In assuming the heavier responsibilitines he can hardly be interested in the financial reward, but rather in the added prestige an din the challenge of a bigger job."

In 1951, that salary will be cut to even less. The man who does not earn $50,000 naturally does not feel very sorry for the man who does. But he also does not have the other man's preparations and qualifications and headaches, nor the other man's social responsibilities.

The question for the executive is whether it is worth his while to assume so much for so little compention.

Some men like honors and dignities and find compensation enough in that. Some men have a sense of public service and find compensation in the opportunity to perform it. But the money compensation—the opportunity to accumulate, to save, to invest, to leave an estate for children and grandchildren—that is gone in this country except for a favored few.

The favored few need to be described:

1. Racketeers: Their opportunities are plentiful. They earn their money by high adventure, risking liberty and life. Most of them do not report their earnings to the Treasury, but make heavy contributions to campaign funds of politicians and depend upon fixes to keep them out of jail.

2. Black and gray marketeers: This is an amazing crew of businessmen who deal in scarce commodities. We shall soon see them in the automobile business again. As long as the automobile companies fail to print in their advertisements the retail price of cars—even the F.O.B. Detroit price—they aid and abet these pirates, many of whom demand cash bonuses for their wares. These bonuses, under-the-counter or over-the-counter, are not reported for tax purposes. The man who does this is, of course, a thief but does not suffer social opprobrium.

3. Professional men and others who receive cash payments and report what they like.

4. Labor leaders who do not have to account for the use they make of what should be public funds.

5. Thieving politicians who accept bribes for permitting violations of the law.

6. Those who still possess inherited wealth.

Those who fit these categories only suffer the consequences of depreciated currency, which they often manage to hedge against. The rest of us are being socialized by taxation.

Which teenagers of today will be the models and beauties of tomorrow? Study habits can be a determining factor!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

PITY you poor teenager with everybody nagging at you about the way you slump! If sympathy will get better results, I'll be the first to admit that the fault is not all yours.

You don't ask to spend several hours nightly bent over homework, do you? Yet, most of your posture difficulties begin right there at your desk. What would you say to solving both your algebra and posture problems without doing any extra work?

Here are the snap ways to do it:

Not Found In Books

1. Never sprawl over your desk or recline on your bed while you study. Sit tall as you can in a comfortable, straight-backed chair. If your desk is too low for you, ask your father to have it raised to the correct height by placing wooden blocks under the legs. (He won't think it's any trouble, believe me.) If your desk is too high, ask your mother to buy a hard cushion for your chair. (She'll run, not walk to the nearest store.)

2. Remember, no beauty ever has a head that juts forward on a curved neck. Make certain that your light is adequate so you don't have to read with the "end of your nose." Hold the book up instead of bending over it.

3. To make sure you won't have hips that look ten sizes too big, watch how you carry your books between classes. Beware of shelfing them on your abdomen!

No Lopsided Figures

Avoid developing a lopsided looking figure as a result of carrying your books in the same arm all the time. To make sure you don't constantly favor one arm, why not start a new style for carrying books? Something like a wide Scotch plaid leash should turn the trick and the trend.

4. Since all figure beauty and grace in movement stems from posture, guarantee the future of yours by signing up for some sport that will work like mad for you while all you do is have fun. Archery is good for shoulders, riding for the back, and swimming for all-round problems.

5. Look alive! Your posture reflects your state of mind. If you maintain an alert outlook, your mirror will tell you that you are getting results!

P. S. from J. R. P.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Which teenagers of today will be the models and beauties of tomorrow? Study habits can be a determining factor!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

PITY you poor teenager with everybody nagging at you about the way you slump! If sympathy will get better results, I'll be the first to admit that the fault is not all yours.

You don't ask to spend several hours nightly bent over homework, do you? Yet, most of your posture difficulties begin right there at your desk. What would you say to solving both your algebra and posture problems without doing any extra work?

Here are the snap ways to do it:

Not Found In Books

1. Never sprawl over your desk or recline on your bed while you study. Sit tall as you can in a comfortable, straight-backed chair. If your desk is too low for you, ask your father to have it raised to the correct height by placing wooden blocks under the legs. (He won't think it's any trouble, believe me.) If your desk is too high, ask your mother to buy a hard cushion for your chair. (She'll run, not walk to the nearest store.)

2. Remember, no beauty ever has a head that juts forward on a curved neck. Make certain that your light is adequate so you don't have to read with the "end of your nose." Hold the book up instead of bending over it.

3. To make sure you won't have hips that look ten sizes too big, watch how you carry your books between classes. Beware of shelfing them on your abdomen!

No Lopsided Figures

Avoid developing a lopsided looking figure as a result of carrying your books in the same arm all the time. To make sure you don't constantly favor one arm, why not start a new style for carrying books? Something like a wide Scotch plaid leash should turn the trick and the trend.

4. Since all figure beauty and grace in movement stems from posture, guarantee the future of yours by signing up for some sport that will work like mad for you while all you do is have fun. Archery is good for shoulders, riding for the back, and swimming for all-round problems.

5. Look alive! Your posture reflects your state of mind. If you maintain an alert outlook, your mirror will tell you that you are getting results!

P. S. from J. R. P.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Roberta Peters lives her own thrilling Cinderella story again on the screen for Wald and Krasna — and surely I don't have to jog your memory that Roberta is the girl who, with just five hours notice, stepped in and sang "Don Giovanni" for ailing Nadine Conner. Result—the Metropolitan Opera customers and the critics went crazy for her.

Rex Harrison

Norman Krasna has written her story under the title of "Debut" and nothing could be truer. The 19-year-old songbird, daughter of a Bronx shoe salesman, had never before appeared in public before her thrilling rush onto the Met stage.

Joe Rivkin, contact man between Wald and Krasna and Miss Peters, says she will be in Hollywood the first week in February for screen tests—but the picture won't be shot until summer.

• — • — •

This rumor I heard while passing through Chicago: That Gabriel Pascal is putting Rex Harrison into "Androcles and the Lion" with Jean Simmons and Jose Ferrer. Hard to believe that Harrison is being brought back to make a picture considering what he said against Hollywood and Hollywood people in London including Darryl Zanuck, this writer, and many others—all published in a British magazine.

However, I hear that Pascal, who is always unpredictable, has rights under his contract with RKO to cast his picture, and that Harrison was signed previous to the deal with the studio.

I doubt if Lynn Bari needs a picture job to help her forget her break-up with Sid Luft. She shed nary a tear when she divorced him and his constant appearances with Judy Garland seem to mean nothing to her.

But Lynn gets a movie, anyway—her first in a long-time—as the mother of Joan Evans in "On The Loose"—Ida Lupino's and Collier Young's modern Miss Opus. Lynn gets an extra break with Charlie Lederer to direct her. My money says he will be as good a director as he is a writer.

Just when everyone is convinced that Marie Wilson and Garwood Van are falling for each—Marie up and steps out several times in a row with Allan Nixon, whom she so recently divorced. The ink's still wet on their Las Vegas decree.

Like Linda Darnell stepping out with Pev Marley—Marie says she has no intention of reconciling with Allan. But how can anyone tell what will happen in these Hollywood marriages?

I understand Gar Van is very much in love with Marie and very upset she has been seeing her ex again.

FORT PITT that's it!

LaSalle-Fort Hill Clash Tonight; AHS Beats Ridgeley, 56-49

Explorers Are Hosts In 30th Tilt Of Series

Sentinels Win First Five; 14 Other Games Scheduled Tonight

The 30th meeting of LaSalle's Explorers and Fort Hill's Sentinels in basketball is set for tonight at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Fort Hill is one of the three unbeaten scholastic teams in the tri-state district and takes a 5-0 record into tonight's game. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit seems to be much better off than LaSalle when it comes to reserve power. The Hilltoppers also pack a pretty good scoring wallop with a 53-point average against such good clubs as Hagerstown, Moorefield, the Alumni, Martinsburg and Davis.

Explorers Beat A.H.S.

LaSalle will be engaging in its 8th game of the campaign, having won five and lost two. Both of LaSalle's defeats came away from home with Altoona Catholic and Barton turning the trick. The most impressive win credited to Art Slocum's club was a 35-34 decision over Allegany High at Campobello. Other victories were registered over Bruce, Beall, Paw Paw and St. Joseph's. LaSalle's average is 37 points per game.

This game should attract a large crowd to the West Side court.

In the 29 games played in this series, LaSalle holds a 15-14 edge in wins. But the Explorers have not whipped the Scarlet and White since 1947. Before Fort Hill was built, LaSalle and Penn Avenue High met 20 times with the latter winning 12 and losing 8 games. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh has been coach of South End teams since the Penn Avenue-LaSalle series started in 1927.

Fred "Tack" Clark and Bob Pence will officiate.

Barton Seeks Seventh

Barton's undefeated quint will go after its 7th victory of the campaign tonight when it plays Hyndman High in a return game at the Community Center in Hyndman. Coach Johnny Thomas holds a 60-26 decision over the Pennsylvanians who are having a basketball team for the first time.

Central High of Lonaconing, the third undefeated quint in the district, will be striving to make it eight in a row tonight when it tackles the Elks of Elk Garden High School on the West Virginians' court. Coach Johnny Meyers' Tigers defeated Elk Garden in the series opener, 45-31.

Four P.V.C. Contests

There are four games on tap in the Potomac Valley Conference tonight.

"Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions (2-0) play John Shelton's Keyser High quint (2-1) at Piedmont. Davis High's Wildcats (2-1) play hosts to Circleville High's Indians (1-2) at Davis. Davis won the first game, 35-34. Romney's Pioneers (1-3) invade Petersburg to test Walt Owens' Petersburg High Vikings (3-1) and Capon Bridge plays the first of 10 games in the P.V.C. when it tackles the Warriors at Wardensville High School.

Other games on tonight's card include:

Carver at Stoystown, Pa.
Bruce at Fort Ashby
Parsons at Kasson, W. Va.
Oakland at Friendsville
Franklin at Harman
Frostburg Teachers' Jayvees at Beall
Thomas at Moorefield
Frostburg Teachers College at California (Pa.) Teachers College.

Samuel Riddle, Noted Turfman, Taken By Death

Man O'War's Owner Dies At Age Of 89

MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP)—Samuel D. Riddle, 89, turfman and owner of America's most famous race horse, Man O' War, died today at his estate in Glen Riddle, near Media.

Riddle was the second prominent horse owner to die within two weeks. Warren Wright, owner of the Calumet farm, died Dec. 28.

Samuel Riddle

Riddle grew up in the foxhunting country of Delaware and Chester counties, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, and was a devotee of the turf and horse racing for three-quarters of a century.

Of all his horses, Man O' War, was his pride. "Big Red," who died in 1947, set five racing records and earned Riddle $249,465 in two years of racing.

Riddle bought Man O' War for $5,000 and then watched him win 20 of 21 races, losing only to a horse named Upset in one of the greatest upsets in racing history.

Man O'War never entered the Kentucky Derby but one of his off spring, War Admiral, won the Derby in 1937.

In addition to Man O' War and War Admiral, Riddle owned many famous horses, including Clyde Van Dusen, 1929 Derby winner; Battleship, winner of the Grand National at Aintree, England, in 1938; Crusader, War Hero, American Flag, Edith Cavell and War Glory.

Riddle's Delaware County property has remained in the family possession for more than a century. There the "Laird of Glen Riddle" lived with his wife, the former Elizabeth Dodson, until her death in 1942.

Riddle is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Lee, New York; nephews Homer Lee and Leander Lee, her sons, and a niece, Jennie Maxwell, who was with Riddle when he died.

Funeral services will be held (at 3 p. m.) Thursday at the Middletown Presbyterian Church in Middletown Township, near Media. Interment will be private.

Mackey Is Cub Scout • • • Athey Will Join Spas
Michael Now Tops PVC • • • Celtics Tops Says Art

By C. V. BURNS

Leo Mackey of Pittsburgh, manager of Cumberland's last team in organized baseball (the Colts of 1932) has been appointed a full-time scout by the Chicago Cubs.

Mackey piloted the Dobbins in 1931 and 1932 when the local Middle Atlantic League club was a New York Yankee "farm."

The 1931 team won the league championship by defeating Charleston (W. Va.) Senators in the playoffs.

Members of that championship team were Dom Paiement, Max Posnak, Augie Daviu, Jakie McCloy, Pat Shea, Bernie Connell, Daniel "Buddy" Hall, Bill Salamone, Art Graham, Bob Synnott, Marvin "Lefty" Duke, Vito Tamulis, William "Chip" Helmick and Jimmie Densmore. "Farmer" Eshelman was the bat boy.

Nelson W. Russler was president of the club.

Mackey also managed Johnstown and Akron in the M. A. loop and Butler and McKeesport in the Penn State Association. He scouted for the Pittsburgh Pirates until several years ago.

Leo will hunt for baseball ivory for the Cubs in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware.

Carroll Michael, sharpshooting forward of Walt Owens' Petersburg High School Vikings, has taken over the lead in the Potomac Valley Conference basketball scoring race by a single point over George Fisher of Moorefield, 1950 champion.

Michael banged in 31 markers at Circleville Friday night and sent his season's total soaring to 87 points. He has scored 31 field goals and 25 foul goals.

Fisher is now runner-up with 86 points while Larry Landes of Petersburg has squeezed into third place with 70 tallies.

Coach Bill Keegan reports that Ed Athey, present basketball mentor at Washington College (Chestertown, Md.) and former Allegany High, Frostburg State Teachers and Washington College player, is expected to join the Spas for the games Saturday and Sunday with Altoona.

A Pittsburgh writer says visiting basketballers would sooner draw colorful Zigmund "Red" Mihalik of Ford City, Pa., to work their games than any other district official—which is quite a compliment for the redhead.

Mihalik worked in the Wheeling-Cumberland series last year and he was tops.

Bob Williams, Cumberland native and All-American quarterback, set two records at Notre Dame last season. He threw 210 passes, the most ever tossed by an Irish passer in one campaign, and he completed 99, also an all-time high at the South Bend school.

Erie, which is expected to come here some time this year to play the Spas, is leading the All-American League with a 6-2 record but five of those wins were scored at home where the Commodores are undefeated to date.

Their troubles are expected to begin when they hit the road.

Art Slocum, LaSalle High cage mentor, who was a member of the famed Keyser Collegians back in the 1920s, says the Original Celtics of New York, comprising George "Horse" Haggerty, Elmer Ripley Nat Holman, Chris Leonard, Johnny Beckman, Henry "Dutch" Dehnert and John "Pete" Barry was the best pro basketball team he has ever seen or played against.

Three of the old Collegians still live in Keyser—Dyke Shaffer, Clem Montgomery and Slocum. Robert "Red" Gibson, the "Flying Redhead" is in Cincinnati, George Parrish has a railroad job at Charleston, W. Va., and the last time we heard of Blake G. "Spooks" Lytle, the manager of the club, he was operating a pretzel business in Rochester, N. Y.

Richard Malcolm "Dick" Frye, of Keyser, who is employed by the Cumberland Paint and Glass Company, was official scorer for the Collegians and can still recount many of the old battles.

It seems unfair to compare the records of Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker with that set by Walter Miller many years ago.

Culmone had 1,674 mounts and Shoemaker had 1,634. Both had 288 winners as did Miller but the latter had only 1,384 mounts when he hung up the record.

Ted Gullic who played here back in the 1930s with Olson's Original Nordics against the Cumberland Caseys basketball team and later was with the St. Louis Browns as an outfielder is still in baseball.

SPARKLES — John Diamond, above, son of Richard Diamond, North Mechanic street restaurant proprietor, is having a good season at Fairmont State Teachers' College and is second high scorer on the Falcons' quint with 62 points for six games. He scored 28 points against Shepherd College. The team's top scorer is Cottrell Schmidle, 6-foot-4 Kinkwood lad who has 66 markers to his credit. Fairmont has a 2-2 mark in the West Virginia Conference and plays Morris Harvey at Fairmont tonight.

Mangrum's 280 Wins Tourney In California

Ransom 2nd With 281, Snead Finishes 3rd

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum won the $15,000 Los Angeles open for the second time with a brilliant sub-par performance that sank pace-setting, pressure-stricken Henry Ransom in the final round today.

Mangrum, former National Open champion and winner here in 1949, knocked out a four under par 67 to go with previous rounds of 73-70-70 and rack up a 72-hole total of 280.

Lloyd Mangrum

The dashing Texas-born professional wound up the silver anniversary edition of the Los Angeles open with a one-stroke margin over Ransom, who had led through the second and third rounds.

His early 67 in the final round put the pressure squarely on the shoulders of Ransom, a seasoned campaigner who also learned his golf in Texas and now plays out of St. Andrews, Ill. The load was too much for Henry.

Ransom took the lead at the end of the second round by a four stroke margin, and held a three-stroke lead starting out today's final round. Mangrum, however, was five shots back of Ransom when play got underway this morning and given slight chance for the top money.

At the end of the first nine, Mangrum had closed the gap to two strokes. He finished with a typical Mangrum shot—a pitch from 18 feet out on the eighteenth green.

The victory was worth $2,600 to Mangrum, and Ransom drew down $1,900.

Snead, who just yesterday admitted that he was playing with a broken bone in his left hand, finished with a 73 for a 285 total and third place. He left before the wind-up and asked that his check for $1,350 be sent to his home at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He stayed up with par for nine holes today but slipped on the turn for home.

Middlecoff, who was tied with Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., this morning, three strokes behind Ransom, matched Ford's disappointing 77 today. Both finished with 288, along with Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles, who had a sparkling 68.

Young Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., another erstwhile dark horse contender, shot a 76 for 289, and one stroke back at 290 were Leland Gibson, Kansas City, with a 73 today, and former national amateur champion Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., with 73.

Phares, Sisk Get 37 Points, Campers Shake Losing Jinx

Carl Hartman Scores 24 Points For Hawks

Allegany High School divorced a four-game losing streak last night by taking the measure of Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks in Ridgeley by the score of 56 to 49.

The win was the first for the Campers since December 15 when they spilled Westmont High of Johnstown here.

Coach Ralph Poling's outfit outscored the Bowersmen in the first and final periods but the damage had been done by the Blue and White in the other two stanzas.

Eversole Turns Tide

Ridgeley held a 10-8 lead at the quarter but a field goal by Frank Phares and a free throw by the AHS center tied it up at 12-12 and 13-13 in the second period. A set shot by Junior Eversole broke the last tie and the Campobello quint was never headed. Four foul goals by Phares and one by Ronnie Lease gave AHS a 7-point advantage at 20-13. Carl Hartman racked up a double-decker and foul for the Hawks but Dick Widdows and Ronnie Sisk counted from the field to make it 24-16 at intermission.

Sisk collected eight points and Phares registered four as the Campers boosted their total to 40 in the third heat while Ridgeley reached 28.

Ridgeley made a great bid to pull the game out of the fire in the final heat and succeeded in narrowing Allegany's margin to four points at 52-48 with a minute to go. In the closing 40 seconds Lease and Phares scored from the field and Ronnie Abe sank a free throw for the home team.

Allegany lost Eversole on personal fouls 15 seconds after the fourth quarter started. Dick Widdows fouled out 20 seconds before the final whistle.

Hartman Gets 24 Points

Carl Hartman was the game's top scorer with nine field goals, 6 of 10 fouls and 24 points. He registered 10 points in the final heat in which AHS was outscored 21-16. Abe played a nice floor game.

The combined efforts of Phares and Sisk netted AHS 37 markers. Phares had 21 points and Sisk 16.

Phares supplanted Doug Connolly of LaSalle as the city's top scorer by upping his total points to 85. Connolly had 69. Sisk took 3rd place with 65.

AHS held a 19-17 edge in field goals and scored 18 foul shots to Ridgeley's 15. Lineups:

LaSalle-Fort Hill Clash Tonight; AHS Beats Ridgeley, 56-49

Explorers Are Hosts In 30th Tilt Of Series

Sentinels Win First Five; 14 Other Games Scheduled Tonight

The 30th meeting of LaSalle's Explorers and Fort Hill's Sentinels in basketball is set for tonight at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Fort Hill is one of the three unbeaten scholastic teams in the tri-state district and takes a 5-0 record into tonight's game. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit seems to be much better off than LaSalle when it comes to reserve power. The Hilltoppers also pack a pretty good scoring wallop with a 53-point average against such good clubs as Hagerstown, Moorefield, the Alumni, Martinsburg and Davis.

Explorers Beat A.H.S.

LaSalle will be engaging in its 8th game of the campaign, having won five and lost two. Both of LaSalle's defeats came away from home with Altoona Catholic and Barton turning the trick. The most impressive win credited to Art Slocum's club was a 35-34 decision over Allegany High at Campobello. Other victories were registered over Bruce, Beall, Paw Paw and St. Joseph's. LaSalle's average is 37 points per game.

This game should attract a large crowd to the West Side court.

In the 29 games played in this series, LaSalle holds a 15-14 edge in wins. But the Explorers have not whipped the Scarlet and White since 1947. Before Fort Hill was built, LaSalle and Penn Avenue High met 20 times with the latter winning 12 and losing 8 games. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh has been coach of South End teams since the Penn Avenue-LaSalle series started in 1927.

Fred "Tack" Clark and Bob Pence will officiate.

Barton Seeks Seventh

Barton's undefeated quint will go after its 7th victory of the campaign tonight when it plays Hyndman High in a return game at the Community Center in Hyndman. Coach Johnny Thomas holds a 60-26 decision over the Pennsylvanians who are having a basketball team for the first time.

Central High of Lonaconing, the third undefeated quint in the district, will be striving to make it eight in a row tonight when it tackles the Elks of Elk Garden High School on the West Virginians' court. Coach Johnny Meyers' Tigers defeated Elk Garden in the series opener, 45-31.

Four P.V.C. Contests

There are four games on tap in the Potomac Valley Conference tonight.

"Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions (2-0) play John Shelton's Keyser High quint (2-1) at Piedmont. Davis High's Wildcats (2-1) play hosts to Circleville High's Indians (1-2) at Davis. Davis won the first game, 35-34. Romney's Pioneers (1-3) invade Petersburg to test Walt Owens' Petersburg High Vikings (3-1) and Capon Bridge plays the first of 10 games in the P.V.C. when it tackles the Warriors at Wardensville High School.

Other games on tonight's card include:

Carver at Stoystown, Pa.
Bruce at Fort Ashby
Parsons at Kasson, W. Va.
Oakland at Friendsville
Franklin at Harman
Frostburg Teachers' Jayvees at Beall
Thomas at Moorefield
Frostburg Teachers College at California (Pa.) Teachers College.

Man O'War's Owner Dies At Age Of 89

MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP)—Samuel D. Riddle, 89, turfman and owner of America's most famous race horse, Man O' War, died today at his estate in Glen Riddle, near Media.

Riddle was the second prominent horse owner to die within two weeks. Warren Wright, owner of the Calumet farm, died Dec. 28.

Samuel Riddle

Riddle grew up in the foxhunting country of Delaware and Chester counties, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, and was a devotee of the turf and horse racing for three-quarters of a century.

Of all his horses, Man O' War, was his pride. "Big Red," who died in 1947, set five racing records and earned Riddle $249,465 in two years of racing.

Riddle bought Man O' War for $5,000 and then watched him win 20 of 21 races, losing only to a horse named Upset in one of the greatest upsets in racing history.

Man O'War never entered the Kentucky Derby but one of his off spring, War Admiral, won the Derby in 1937.

In addition to Man O' War and War Admiral, Riddle owned many famous horses, including Clyde Van Dusen, 1929 Derby winner; Battleship, winner of the Grand National at Aintree, England, in 1938; Crusader, War Hero, American Flag, Edith Cavell and War Glory.

Riddle's Delaware County property has remained in the family possession for more than a century. There the "Laird of Glen Riddle" lived with his wife, the former Elizabeth Dodson, until her death in 1942.

Riddle is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Lee, New York; nephews Homer Lee and Leander Lee, her sons, and a niece, Jennie Maxwell, who was with Riddle when he died.

Funeral services will be held (at 3 p. m.) Thursday at the Middletown Presbyterian Church in Middletown Township, near Media. Interment will be private.

Mackey Is Cub Scout • • • Athey Will Join Spas
Michael Now Tops PVC • • • Celtics Tops Says Art

By C. V. BURNS

Leo Mackey of Pittsburgh, manager of Cumberland's last team in organized baseball (the Colts of 1932) has been appointed a full-time scout by the Chicago Cubs.

Mackey piloted the Dobbins in 1931 and 1932 when the local Middle Atlantic League club was a New York Yankee "farm."

The 1931 team won the league championship by defeating Charleston (W. Va.) Senators in the playoffs.

Members of that championship team were Dom Paiement, Max Posnak, Augie Daviu, Jakie McCloy, Pat Shea, Bernie Connell, Daniel "Buddy" Hall, Bill Salamone, Art Graham, Bob Synnott, Marvin "Lefty" Duke, Vito Tamulis, William "Chip" Helmick and Jimmie Densmore. "Farmer" Eshelman was the bat boy.

Nelson W. Russler was president of the club.

Mackey also managed Johnstown and Akron in the M. A. loop and Butler and McKeesport in the Penn State Association. He scouted for the Pittsburgh Pirates until several years ago.

Leo will hunt for baseball ivory for the Cubs in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware.

Carroll Michael, sharpshooting forward of Walt Owens' Petersburg High School Vikings, has taken over the lead in the Potomac Valley Conference basketball scoring race by a single point over George Fisher of Moorefield, 1950 champion.

Michael banged in 31 markers at Circleville Friday night and sent his season's total soaring to 87 points. He has scored 31 field goals and 25 foul goals.

Fisher is now runner-up with 86 points while Larry Landes of Petersburg has squeezed into third place with 70 tallies.

Bob Williams, Cumberland native and All-American quarterback, set two records at Notre Dame last season. He threw 210 passes, the most ever tossed by an Irish passer in one campaign, and he completed 99, also an all-time high at the South Bend school.

Erie, which is expected to come here some time this year to play the Spas, is leading the All-American League with a 6-2 record but five of those wins were scored at home where the Commodores are undefeated to date.

Art Slocum, LaSalle High cage mentor, who was a member of the famed Keyser Collegians back in the 1920s, says the Original Celtics of New York, comprising George "Horse" Haggerty, Elmer Ripley Nat Holman, Chris Leonard, Johnny Beckman, Henry "Dutch" Dehnert and John "Pete" Barry was the best pro basketball team he has ever seen or played against.

Three of the old Collegians still live in Keyser—Dyke Shaffer, Clem Montgomery and Slocum. Robert "Red" Gibson, the "Flying Redhead" is in Cincinnati, George Parrish has a railroad job at Charleston, W. Va., and the last time we heard of Blake G. "Spooks" Lytle, the manager of the club, he was operating a pretzel business in Rochester, N. Y.

Richard Malcolm "Dick" Frye, of Keyser, who is employed by the Cumberland Paint and Glass Company, was official scorer for the Collegians and can still recount many of the old battles.

It seems unfair to compare the records of Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker with that set by Walter Miller many years ago.

Culmone had 1,674 mounts and Shoemaker had 1,634. Both had 288 winners as did Miller but the latter had only 1,384 mounts when he hung up the record.

He scored 28 points against Shepherd College. The team's top scorer is Cottrell Schmidle, 6-foot-4 Kinkwood lad who has 66 markers to his credit. Fairmont has a 2-2 mark in the West Virginia Conference and plays Morris Harvey at Fairmont tonight.

Mangrum's 280 Wins Tourney In California

Ransom 2nd With 281, Snead Finishes 3rd

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum won the $15,000 Los Angeles open for the second time with a brilliant sub-par performance that sank pace-setting, pressure-stricken Henry Ransom in the final round today.

Lloyd Mangrum

Mangrum, former National Open champion and winner here in 1949, knocked out a four under par 67 to go with previous rounds of 73-70-70 and rack up a 72-hole total of 280.

The dashing Texas-born professional wound up the silver anniversary edition of the Los Angeles open with a one-stroke margin over Ransom, who had led through the second and third rounds.

His early 67 in the final round put the pressure squarely on the shoulders of Ransom, a seasoned campaigner who also learned his golf in Texas and now plays out of St. Andrews, Ill. The load was too much for Henry.

Ransom took the lead at the end of the second round by a four stroke margin, and held a three-stroke lead starting out today's final round. Mangrum, however, was five shots back of Ransom when play got underway this morning and given slight chance for the top money.

At the end of the first nine, Mangrum had closed the gap to two strokes. He finished with a typical Mangrum shot—a pitch from 18 feet out on the eighteenth green.

The victory was worth $2,600 to Mangrum, and Ransom drew down $1,900.

Snead, who just yesterday admitted that he was playing with a broken bone in his left hand, finished with a 73 for a 285 total and third place. He left before the wind-up and asked that his check for $1,350 be sent to his home at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He stayed up with par for nine holes today but slipped on the turn for home.

Middlecoff, who was tied with Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., this morning, three strokes behind Ransom, matched Ford's disappointing 77 today. Both finished with 288, along with Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles, who had a sparkling 68.

Young Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., another erstwhile dark horse contender, shot a 76 for 289, and one stroke back at 290 were Leland Gibson, Kansas City, with a 73 today, and former national amateur champion Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., with 73.

Phares, Sisk Get 37 Points, Campers Shake Losing Jinx

Carl Hartman Scores 24 Points For Hawks

Allegany High School divorced a four-game losing streak last night by taking the measure of Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks in Ridgeley by the score of 56 to 49.

The win was the first for the Campers since December 15 when they spilled Westmont High of Johnstown here.

Coach Ralph Poling's outfit outscored the Bowersmen in the first and final periods but the damage had been done by the Blue and White in the other two stanzas.

Eversole Turns Tide

Ridgeley held a 10-8 lead at the quarter but a field goal by Frank Phares and a free throw by the AHS center tied it up at 12-12 and 13-13 in the second period. A set shot by Junior Eversole broke the last tie and the Campobello quint was never headed. Four foul goals by Phares and one by Ronnie Lease gave AHS a 7-point advantage at 20-13. Carl Hartman racked up a double-decker and foul for the Hawks but Dick Widdows and Ronnie Sisk counted from the field to make it 24-16 at intermission.

Sisk collected eight points and Phares registered four as the Campers boosted their total to 40 in the third heat while Ridgeley reached 28.

Ridgeley made a great bid to pull the game out of the fire in the final heat and succeeded in narrowing Allegany's margin to four points at 52-48 with a minute to go. In the closing 40 seconds Lease and Phares scored from the field and Ronnie Abe sank a free throw for the home team.

Allegany lost Eversole on personal fouls 15 seconds after the fourth quarter started. Dick Widdows fouled out 20 seconds before the final whistle.

Hartman Gets 24 Points

Carl Hartman was the game's top scorer with nine field goals, 6 of 10 fouls and 24 points. He registered 10 points in the final heat in which AHS was outscored 21-16. Abe played a nice floor game.

The combined efforts of Phares and Sisk netted AHS 37 markers. Phares had 21 points and Sisk 16.

Phares supplanted Doug Connolly of LaSalle as the city's top scorer by upping his total points to 85. Connolly had 69. Sisk took 3rd place with 65.

AHS held a 19-17 edge in field goals and scored 18 foul shots to Ridgeley's 15. Lineups:

Chombro, 14-1 Shot, Also Wins At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—Gleeson and Litwin's Chombro, an outsider at $30.80, was a surprise winner of the Zinganee purse, one of the better races on the stakeless program at Tropical Park today.

Charging through the stretch with a fine rally, the gray gelding nosed out Mrs. J. Kelley's Sedgeview, the favorite, in one of the most interesting finishes of the meeting. Third in the field of 10 middle-distance performers was W. L. Huntley's Whirling World. Pay Window, the second choice, broke poorly and never could improve his position.

Chombro, ridden by Tom Barrow, went over the mile and a sixteenth in 1.45 2-5. This was the gelding's second triumph in four local appearances, having taken a sprint race on Dec. 12.

After the race, Harry Carr, jockey to King George VI of England, and Tommy Goslin, who rides for Winston Churchill, presented Chombro's owners with a silver trophy in the winner's circle. The visiting British jockeys were guests of the Gables Association. Among those to greet them was Jockey Ted Atkinson, who will launch his 1951 campaign on Blinker Light in the seventh race tomorrow.

GATICA DOWN FOR THIRD, AND LAST, TIME

LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION IKE WILLIAMS hovers over Argentina's Jose Gatica, down for the third time in the first round of a scheduled 10-round, over-the-weight brawl in Madison Square Garden, New York. Referee Ray Miller is stopping the fight at 2:09 minutes. (International Soundphoto)

The cold weather bolstered the Monday attendance to 10,018. It was ideal for racing, but unfavorable for the beach trade. The betting also was on the bullish side.

Jockey Herb Lindberg was slightly injured when thrown by Sweet Orphan while at the gate for the fifth race. His knee was scraped and his leg muscles tightened to such an extent that he was unable to ride the horse. W. M. Cook was substituted on the 60 to 1 shot. The winner of the race proved to be Lawful, $6.00, handled by Jimmy Picou.

Victory Stable's Unpredictable Mah Heavens, running well for a change, upset all calculations by winning the fourth race at the lucious odds of $179.60, $54.20 and $19.20 for $2.

Walker Is Named To Replace Fleet

Farmer Is Appointed To Game Commission

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—Governor Lane today appointed W. Desmond Walker, Prince George's county farmer, to the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

Walker replaces A. Gordon Fleet, former board chairman, who resigned last week. His term runs until May, 1954.

The appointment does not require senate confirmation.

Fleet, an accountant at the navy's engineering station here, was appointed a member of the commission in June, 1940, and became board chairman 18 months ago.

Welker's appointment was recommended by Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the department, in a letter to the governor last Thursday.

Walker, 47, owns and operates a 600-acre farm near Mitchellville, on which he practices wildlife management. He is a Democrat.

In submitting his resignation, Fleet said the defense emergency has complicated his civilian job and leaves him little time for the commission.

Doyle Expelled By Ohio State For Low Grades

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 8 (AP) — Ohio State University has expelled halfback Richard (Skip) Doyle for low grades—second such dismissal for a buckeye athlete in the past week.

Doyle told the university this afternoon that he would apply for permission to attend school again in the spring quarter.

The avowed intention to seek admission once more to the college of commerce spiked a story published by the Ohio State Lantern, campus daily newspaper, that Doyle had enrolled at the University of Miami (Florida). Doyle's expulsion was confirmed today by school officials.

All-America Vic Janowicz, close friend of Doyle off the football field, also was dropped by Ohio State for the winter quarter on the basis of low grades. Doyle is Janowicz' understudy on the Buckeye football squad.

Janowicz also applied for readmission to the college of commerce.

Collegiate Boxing Commissioner Quits

CLEMSON, S. C., Jan. 8 (AP)—Bob Jones, Clemson College's boxing coach, resigned today as commissioner of the Southern Inter-Collegiate Boxing Association. The resignation is effective immediately.

Jones said he resigned because of the press of other duties.

Kit Fitzsimmons, of the University of South Carolina, who is assistant commissioner, automatically becomes commissioner. The association is composed of schools of the Southern and Southeastern Conferences which have boxing teams.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (INS) — Pessimists may say the human race has improved little, if any, in the last 10,000 years. But if you rely solely on the record books you will have to admit the equine race has improved immensely even in the last 25 years.

Most of the records in the American Racing Manual stood the assault of champions for years and years. Then along came Noor, Citation, Bolero and other nags to wipe the old marks off the books.

Horsemen, stunned by the flock of new world marks, asked themselves if they were seeing a new era of superhorses, and many of them wondered if the horses of today were superior to such phenomenal horses as Man O' War, Count Fleet and other great runners of the past.

For our part, we are inclined to believe that the phenomenal times made on California tracks last year were due more to the fast tracks themselves rather than to the horses.

Golden Gate Park especially must be inlaid with rubber to account for some of the marks. We sat up and took notice when Abe Hirschberg's Bolero ran to a new six furlong record of 1:08 1-5 over the Golden Gate track.

We were particularly surprised because we had seen this same colt, then owned by Arnold Hanger, win only one ordinary race when racing in the east.

The Irish-bred Noor ran a mile and six furlongs out there in a world record 2:52 4-5. This was the same colt which was suddenly beaten here in the east by a good, but by no means sensational colt like the Greentree Stable's One Hitter. And in ordinary time.

Citation, a truly great colt, set a new world mark for the mile at 1:33 3-5. This brings to mind the remark once made by Man O' War's trainer that Big Red, as he was called around the track, could have run a mile in 1:33 if forced.

We remember how horsemen scoffed at that remark at the time but in the light of what has happened last year we are inclined to believe that Big Red could have shaded 1:33 for eight panels if asked the question over the Golden Gate strip, as it is today.

Alf Vanderbilt's three year old filly, Bed O' Roses is a classy little thing, but good as she is she never approached in the east the 1:21 2-5 she hung out for seven furlongs in California.

Then along came Bolero to lower that mark to 1:21 flat for another new world mark.

We think the answer to these phenomenal times lies in the track itself rather than the horses.

We have no wish to low-bridge horses like Noor and Citation. They are spendid animals. But good or even great as they may be they couldn't begin to duplicate their best times on some of the other tracks around the country.

All this leads us to believe that before the year is out every record in the books will be wiped out by horses running over a chain lightning track in California.

Horses for courses? Certainly And tracks for records.

Guard Jim Donarski of the University of Arizona football team was the only soph named on either the 1950 All-Border Conference first or second teams.

Washington Caps To Disband After Contest Tonight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Washington Capitols of the National Basketball Association will be disbanded after tomorrow night's game in Philadelphia.

The announcement was made by Joe Holman, publicity man for the Caps. He said that the decision was reached after an all-day meeting with Chris Heurich Brewing Company officials.

He said that Mike Uline owner of the Caps, had hoped that the Brewers would buy the club and keep it here. When the final decision was no, Holman said, there was no other choice but to disband the team.

The Capitols, once one of the strongest teams in the league, were in last place in their division. Recently less than 500 fans had shown up for some of their games.

Roby Will Officiate In Pittsburgh Game

Clifton Van Roby of Cumberland and Bob Garbark, brother of Art Garbark, formerly of Cumberland and now of Wheeling, will be the officials for the Duquesne University-LaSalle College (Philadelphia) game tonight at Duquesne Gardens in Pittsburgh.

Duquesne is undefeated in 10 games to date.

In the National Invitation Tournament last year the Iron Dukes eliminated LaSalle, 49-47.

LaSalle will play Geneva College at Beaver Falls, Pa., on Wednesday night.

The goalkeeper, three defensemen and seven forwards on the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey League are former members of the Detroit Red Wings.

Mah Heavens Pays $179.60

Chombro, 14-1 Shot, Also Wins At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—Gleeson and Litwin's Chombro, an outsider at $30.80, was a surprise winner of the Zinganee purse, one of the better races on the stakeless program at Tropical Park today.

Charging through the stretch with a fine rally, the gray gelding nosed out Mrs. J. Kelley's Sedgeview, the favorite, in one of the most interesting finishes of the meeting Third in the field of 10 middle-distance performers was W. L. Huntley's Whirling World. Pay Window, the second choice, broke poorly and never could improve his position.

Chombro, ridden by Tom Barrow, went over the mile and a sixteenth in 1.45 2-5. This was the gelding's second triumph in four local appearances, having taken a sprint race on Dec. 12.

After the race, Harry Carr, jockey to King George VI of England, and Tommy Goslin, who rides for Winston Churchill, presented Chombro's owners with a silver trophy in the winner's circle. The visiting British jockeys were guests of the Gables Association. Among those to greet them was Jockey Ted Atkinson, who will launch his 1951 campaign on Blinker Light in the seventh race tomorrow.

GATICA DOWN FOR THIRD, AND LAST, TIME

LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION IKE WILLIAMS hovers over Argentina's Jose Gatica, down for the third time in the first round of a scheduled 10-round, over-the-weight brawl in Madison Square Garden, New York. Referee Ray Miller is stopping the fight at 2:09 minutes. (International Soundphoto)

The cold weather bolstered the Monday attendance to 10,018. It was ideal for racing, but unfavorable for the beach trade. The betting also was on the bullish side.

Jockey Herb Lindberg was slightly injured when thrown by Sweet Orphan while at the gate for the fifth race. His knee was scraped and his leg muscles tightened to such an extent that he was unable to ride the horse. W. M. Cook was substituted on the 60 to 1 shot. The winner of the race proved to be Lawful, $6.00, handled by Jimmy Picou.

Victory Stable's Unpredictable Mah Heavens, running well for a change, upset all calculations by winning the fourth race at the lucious odds of $179.60, $54.20 and $19.20 for $2.

Walker Is Named To Replace Fleet

Farmer Is Appointed To Game Commission

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—Governor Lane today appointed W. Desmond Walker, Prince George's county farmer, to the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

Walker replaces A. Gordon Fleet, former board chairman, who resigned last week. His term runs until May, 1954.

The appointment does not require senate confirmation.

Fleet, an accountant at the navy's engineering station here, was appointed a member of the commission in June, 1940, and became board chairman 18 months ago.

Walker's appointment was recommended by Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the department, in a letter to the governor last Thursday.

Walker, 47, owns and operates a 600-acre farm near Mitchellville, on which he practices wildlife management. He is a Democrat.

In submitting his resignation, Fleet said the defense emergency has complicated his civilian job and leaves him little time for the commission.

Doyle Expelled By Ohio State For Low Grades

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 8 (AP) — Ohio State University has expelled halfback Richard (Skip) Doyle for low grades—second such dismissal for a buckeye athlete in the past week.

Doyle told the university this afternoon that he would apply for permission to attend school again in the spring quarter.

The avowed intention to seek admission once more to the college of commerce spiked a story published by the Ohio State Lantern, campus daily newspaper, that Doyle had enrolled at the University of Miami (Florida). Doyle's expulsion was confirmed today by school officials.

All-America Vic Janowicz, close friend of Doyle off the football field, also was dropped by Ohio State for the winter quarter on the basis of low grades. Doyle is Janowicz' understudy on the Buckeye football squad.

Janowicz also applied for readmission to the college of commerce.

MUSTEROLE

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (INS) — Pessimists may say the human race has improved little, if any, in the last 10,000 years. But if you rely solely on the record books you will have to admit the equine race has improved immensely even in the last 25 years.

Most of the records in the American Racing Manual stood the assault of champions for years and years. Then along came Noor, Citation, Bolero and other nags to wipe the old marks off the books.

Horsemen, stunned by the flock of new world marks, asked themselves if they were seeing a new era of superhorses, and many of them wondered if the horses of today were superior to such phenomenal horses as Man O' War, Count Fleet and other great runners of the past.

For our part, we are inclined to believe that the phenomenal times made on California tracks last year were due more to the fast tracks themselves rather than to the horses.

Golden Gate Park especially must be inlaid with rubber to account for some of the marks. We sat up and took notice when Abe Hirschberg's Bolero ran to a new six furlong record of 1:08 1-5 over the Golden Gate track.

We were particularly surprised because we had seen this same colt, then owned by Arnold Hanger, win only one ordinary race when racing in the east.

The Irish-bred Noor ran a mile and six furlongs out there in a world record 2:52 4-5. This was the same colt which was suddenly beaten here in the east by a good, but by no means sensational colt like the Greentree Stable's One Hitter. And in ordinary time.

Citation, a truly great colt, set a new world mark for the mile at 1:33 3-5. This brings to mind the remark once made by Man O' War's trainer that Big Red, as he was called around the track, could have run a mile in 1:33 if forced.

We remember how horsemen scoffed at that remark at the time but in the light of what has happened last year we are inclined to believe that Big Red could have shaded 1:33 for eight panels if asked the question over the Golden Gate strip, as it is today.

Alf Vanderbilt's three year old filly, Bed O' Roses is a classy little thing, but good as she is she never approached in the east the 1:21 2-5 she hung out for seven furlongs in California.

Then along came Bolero to lower that mark to 1:21 flat for another new world mark.

We think the answer to these phenomenal times lies in the track itself rather than the horses.

We have no wish to low-bridge horses like Noor and Citation. They are spendid animals. But good or even great as they may be they couldn't begin to duplicate their best times on some of the other tracks around the country.

All this leads us to believe that before the year is out every record in the books will be wiped out by horses running over a chain lightning track in California.

Horses for courses? Certainly And tracks for records.

Guard Jim Donarski of the University of Arizona football team was the only soph named on either the 1950 All-Border Conference first or second teams.

Washington Caps To Disband After Contest Tonight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Washington Capitols of the National Basketball Association will be disbanded after tomorrow night's game in Philadelphia.

The announcement was made by Joe Holman, publicity man for the Caps. He said that the decision was reached after an all-day meeting with Chris Heurich Brewing Company officials.

He said that Mike Uline owner of the Caps, had hoped that the Brewers would buy the club and keep it here. When the final decision was no, Holman said, there was no other choice but to disband the team.

The Capitols, once one of the strongest teams in the league, were in last place in their division. Recently less than 500 fans had shown up for some of their games.

Roby Will Officiate In Pittsburgh Game

Clifton Van Roby of Cumberland and Bob Garbark, brother of Art Garbark, formerly of Cumberland and now of Wheeling, will be the officials for the Duquesne University-LaSalle College (Philadelphia) game tonight at Duquesne Gardens in Pittsburgh.

Duquesne is undefeated in 10 games to date.

In the National Invitation Tournament last year the Iron Dukes eliminated LaSalle, 49-47.

LaSalle will play Geneva College at Beaver Falls, Pa., on Wednesday night.

The goalkeeper, three defensemen and seven forwards on the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey League are former members of the Detroit Red Wings.

Area Residents Receive Federal Income Forms As Filings Begin

Cumberland and area residents are receiving federal income tax forms in prepration for the day of reckoning on March 15.

Farmers and a few others, however, must make an estimate or file a final return by next Monday.

Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the Internal Revenue Bureau here said yesterday the number filing this month has not equalled that of last year, but that the rush has been on since last week.

A deputy collector has been visiting towns in Garrett and Allegany Counties to assist those making returns He was in Oakland yesterday and will be there today. He will be in Accident Wednesday, Stakem said.

Deputies will also assist at various towns in the area when the individual rush starts in February. The schedule will be announced later.

Businesses Have New Form

Stakem emphasized one change in this year's method of filing. Any individual business in making a return must file Schedule C along with the regular Form 1040 which is available at the office in the Postoffice Building.

Forms are being mailed from the Baltimore office to every person who filed a return last year.

The form this year differs only slightly from the one used for 1949 income. In Schedule A on Page 2 of Form 1040, the name and address of the payer of any income from dividends or interest is required.

On Page 3 of the same form, an adjustment has been made in the computation of tax by reducing the credit against the tax. This adjustment was made to take care of the increased tax since October 1, Stakem said. As a result, no segregation is necessary in listing income earned prior to and after October 1 of last year.

Must File January 15

Included in those who must make their final return or estimated return by January 15 are those, subject to witholding, whose wages are in excess of $4,500, plus $600 for each dependent. If the income is not subject to withholding and in excess of $100 and the total over $600, a final return or estimate is also necessary.

Employers must make their returns on Social Security and withholding taxes by the end of this month. Information returns must be filed by employers as to amounts paid to employes and taxes withheld.

In addition, employers must make returns this month on the federal excise tax. This is required of all who employ more than eight persons during the year.

Warned Against "Experts"

Revenue officials have issued warnings to persons seeking help with their returns.

Stakem said taxpayers should be careful to have qualified persons assist them since so many so-called experts list items for deductions which are not allowed.

Federal income tax preparations are only one phase of the tax headaches for Marylanders. Within a few weeks, similar overtures will be forthcoming from the State Comptroller's office on state income tax due.

The state income tax is due and payable on April 15.

Col. White Appointed

The appointment of Col. Roy Barton White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, as chairman of the Treasury Advisory Committee on Savings Bonds for the State of Maryland has been announced by Secretary Snyder.

Col. White succeeds Joseph P. Healy, Baltimore industralist, bank director and civic leader, and longtime Savings Bonds volunteer.

Prior to entering the Army, he was produce manager at the Acme Market on North Centre Street.

cluding calling up perhaps 6,000,000 men and requesting a military budget of $150 billions. The military leaders especially are deeply reluctant to go this fast, primarily because of their unhappy memories of the time before the last war, when men had to be called to the colors before equipment could be put in their hands. Tending to think in purely military terms, the generals and admirals have always underestimated the political aspects and motivations of the Kremlin program, and they are still doing so.

Fortunately, there are other leading men in the government to press a different view. If they will speak out, all may yet be well.

Truman's Message Sends Stock Prices Still Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman's call for a big buildup of America's military might sent stock prices higher today.

His statement that the United States was preparing for full wartime mobilization "if that should become necessary," acted like a tonic on the market.

With aircrafts, steels and motors in the strongest spots at the close and metal mining shares retaining most of the gains from heavy morning demand, gains ranged from a few cents to more than $3 a share. In a few cases, advances were much higher.

Rubber, farm implement, radio-television, chemical, shipping and building material stocks mostly were higher, while distillery, public utility, rail, oil and airline shares were mixed.

Wall Street looked upon the President's "state of the union" message to Congress as bullish from the viewpoint of the stock market.

But volume dropped to 2,780,000 shares from 3,390,000 at the last full session Friday. This made it the slowest full session since 2,660,000 shares were transferred Dec. 26 and the first time since Dec. 27 that the daily total fell below 3,000,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved 30 cents higher at $90.10 This represented a high point since the index stood at $92.50 on Oct. 4, 1930. The industrial component of the average was 60 cents higher, the public utility average 10 cents higher and the rails unchanged.

Douglas Aircraft closed $3.25 higher at $99.50; Boeing was up $2 at $42.50; Lockheed $1.50 at $39.13; Bethlehem Steel $1.37 at $43.37; Chrysler $1.25 at $74, and General Motors 75 cents at $48.25.

McIntyre Mining was $3 higher at $54, Homestake $2.12 at $38.37, with the rest of the metals shares following down the line with appreciable boosts.

"The Authority on Authorities"

JUST AS HE DESERVED

WHEN one member of a pair puts the game try into No Trumps instead of supporting his partner's major suit with four cards of it, he usually takes an unwise risk, regardless of what might be his reason for the preference. His action may be impelled by the conviction that he is a better card player than his partner, or by his having in some other suit a king which might be a trick-taker if the lead comes to it instead of through it, or by reason of his having what he considers good distribution for No Trumps, with a balanced or nearly-balanced hand. Regardless of his reason, his choice will seldom pay.

	♠ K Q 9 8 ♥ A Q J 5 ♦ J 5 ♣ 9 8 3
♠ 6 ♥ 7 3 2 ♦ 10 8 7 6 ♣ A J 10 7 5	N W E S	♠ 7 4 3 2 ♥ 10 9 6 ♦ A 3 2 ♣ Q 6 2
	♠ A J 10 5 ♥ K 8 4 ♦ K Q 9 4 ♣ K 4

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 NT

South's first bid, jumping in No Trumps instead of spades, cannot be censured too severely, but his failure to bid 3-Spades over the 3-Hearts on his second turn was terrible judgment. He had what he considered two good reasons—first, the desirability of a lead up to instead of through the club K, and second, assurance of his ability to play hands better than his partner.

Even if he had possessed one more club and one fewer diamonds, thus having a 4-3-3-3 distribution, his second call should have been 3-Spades, especially since North by bidding a second suit had made it sure he had some suit as short as a doubleton or shorter, so that ruffing could have been done in that hand if necessary.

South received his just deserts when West made a smart lead of his diamond 6. East, by the Rule of Eleven, could subtract from that number and see that South had three higher cards, plugging the suit. So, after winning with the A, he decided to switch to the club Q. You can see what that did to South, setting him two tricks.

South's superior playing ability was worthless to him, as North was at least good enough to make certain of an easy 4-Spade contract, losing only two tricks in clubs and one in diamonds. It is very seldom that a 4-4 major suit fit doesn't make the best game try, especially when either partner can also soundly bid another suit, showing a doubleton certain and the chance of a singleton or blank.

Area Residents Receive Federal Income Forms As Filings Begin

Cumberland and area residents are receiving federal income tax forms in prepration for the day of reckoning on March 15.

Farmers and a few others, however, must make an estimate or file a final return by next Monday.

Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the Internal Revenue Bureau here said yesterday the number filing this month has not equalled that of last year, but that the rush has been on since last week.

A deputy collector has been visiting towns in Garrett and Allegany Counties to assist those making returns He was in Oakland yesterday and will be there today. He will be in Accident Wednesday, Stakem said.

Deputies will also assist at various towns in the area when the individual rush starts in February. The schedule will be announced later.

Businesses Have New Form

Stakem emphasized one change in this year's method of filing. Any individual business in making a return must file Schedule C along with the regular Form 1040 which is available at the office in the Post-office Building.

Forms are being mailed from the Baltimore office to every person who filed a return last year.

The form this year differs only slightly from the one used for 1949 income. In Schedule A on Page 2 of Form 1040, the name and address of the payer of any income from dividends or interest is required.

On Page 3 of the same form, an adjustment has been made in the computation of tax by reducing the credit against the tax. This adjustment was made to take care of the increased tax since October 1, Stakem said. As a result, no segregation is necessary in listing income earned prior to and after October 1 of last year.

Must File January 15

Included in those who must make their final return or estimated return by January 15 are those, subject to witholding, whose wages are in excess of $4,500, plus $600 for each dependent. If the income is not subject to withholding and in excess of $100 and the total over $600, a final return or estimate is also necessary.

Employers must make their returns on Social Security and withholding taxes by the end of this month. Information returns must be filed by employers as to amounts paid to employes and taxes withheld.

In addition, employers must make returns this month on the federal excise tax. This is required of all who employ more than eight persons during the year.

Warned Against "Experts"

Revenue officials have issued warnings to persons seeking help with their returns.

Stakem said taxpayers should be careful to have qualified persons assist them since so many so-called experts list items for deductions which are not allowed.

Federal income tax preparations are only one phase of the tax headaches for Marylanders. Within a few weeks, similar overtures will be forthcoming from the State Comptroller's office on state income tax due.

The state income tax is due and payable on April 15.

Col. White Appointed

The appointment of Col. Roy Barton White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, as chairman of the Treasury Advisory Committee on Savings Bonds for the State of Maryland has been announced by Secretary Snyder.

Col. White succeeds Joseph F. Healy, Baltimore industrialist, bank director and civic leader, and longtime Savings Bonds volunteer.

Two Local Men Reported Missing

Another Korean casualty list released yesterday by the Department of Defense shows two more Cumberlanders missing in action.

Listed are Cpl. Richard C. White, 22, son of Mrs. Rosalee Shingleton, Cash Valley Road, who was wounded September 4, and Pfc. Dailey Francis Dye, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dye, 1201 Oldtown Road.

A veteran of World War II, Cpl. White returned to the fighting after he was wounded in the legs while serving as a radio technician. He attended Fort Hill High School and was graduated from Allegany High in 1945.

Prior to entering the Army, he was produce manager at the Acme Market on North Centre Street.

Two other local soldiers, Pfc. George W. Walters, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Walters, 236 Paca Street, and Pfc. Robert L. cluding calling up perhaps 6,000,000 men and requesting a military budget of $150 billions. The military leaders especially are deeply reluctant to go this fast, primarily because of their unhappy memories of the time before the last war, when men had to be called to the colors before equipment could be put in their hands. Tending to think in purely military terms, the generals and admirals have always underestimated the political aspects and motivations of the Kremlin program, and they are still doing so.

Fortunately, there are other leading men in the government to press a different view. If they will speak out, all may yet be well.

Truman's Message Sends Stock Prices Still Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman's call for a big buildup of America's military might sent stock prices higher today.

His statement that the United States was preparing for full wartime mobilization "if that should become necessary," acted like a tonic on the market.

With aircrafts, steels and motors in the strongest spots at the close and metal mining shares retaining most of the gains from heavy morning demand, gains ranged from a few cents to more than $3 a share. In a few cases, advances were much higher.

Rubber, farm implement, radio-television, chemical, shipping and building material stocks mostly were higher, while distillery, pubic utility, rail, oil and airline shares were mixed.

Wall Street looked upon the President's "state of the union" message to Congress as bullish from the viewpoint of the stock market.

But volume dropped to 2,780,000 shares from 3,390,000 at the last full session Friday. This made it the slowest full session since 2,660,000 shares were transferred Dec. 26 and the first time since Dec. 27 that the daily total fell below 3,000,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved 30 cents higher at $90.10 This represented a high point since the index stood at $92.50 on Oct. 4, 1930. The industrial component of the average was 60 cents higher, the public utility average 10 cents higher and the rails unchanged.

Douglas Aircraft closed $3.25 higher at $99.50; Boeing was up $2 at $42.50; Lockheed $1.50 at $39.13; Bethlehem Steel $1.37 at $43.37; Chrysler $1.25 at $74, and General Motors 75 cents at $48.25.

McIntyre Mining was $3 higher at $54, Homestake $2.12 at $38.37, with the rest of the metals shares following down the line with appreciable boosts.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

JUST AS HE DESERVED

WHEN one member of a pair puts the game try into No Trumps instead of supporting his partner's major suit with four cards of it, he usually takes an unwise risk, regardless of what might be his reason for the preference. His action may be impelled by the conviction that he is a better card player than his partner, or by his having in some other suit a king which might be a trick-taker if the lead comes to it instead of through it, or by reason of his having what he considers good distribution for No Trumps, with a balanced or nearly-balanced hand. Regardless of his reason, his choice will seldom pay.

♠ 6 ♥ 7 3 2 ♦ 10 8 7 6 ♣ A J 10 7 5	N W E S	♠ 7 4 3 2 ♥ 10 9 6 ♦ A 3 2 ♣ Q 6 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 NT

South's first bid, jumping in No Trumps instead of spades, cannot be censured too severely, but his failure to bid 3-Spades over the 3-Hearts on his second turn was terrible judgment. He had what he considered two good reasons—first, the desirability of a lead up to instead of through the club K, and second, assurance of his ability to play hands better than his partner.

Even if he had possessed one more club and one fewer diamonds, thus having a 4-3-3-3 distribution, his second call should have been 3-Spades, especially since North by bidding a second suit had made it sure he had some suit as short as a doubleton or shorter, so that ruffing could have been done in that hand if necessary.

South received his just deserts when West made a smart lead of his diamond 6. East, by the Rule of Eleven, could subtract from that number and see that South had three higher cards, plugging the suit. So, after winning with the A, he decided to switch to the club Q. You can see what that did to South, setting him two tricks.

South's superior playing ability was worthless to him, as North was at least good enough to make certain of an easy 4-Spade contract, losing only two tricks in clubs and one in diamonds. It is very seldom that a 4-4 major suit fit doesn't make the best game try, especially when either partner can also soundly bid another suit, showing a doubleton certain and the chance of a singleton or blank.

Frostburg Ball Park Is Selected As Factory Site

Engineers Recommend Inspection Of Ground

The Frostburg Baseball Park adjoining the Municipal Swimming Pool and the National Guard Armory on South Water Street has been designated as first choice for the site of the proposed new pajama factory building of the Michael Berkowitz Co. in Frostburg.

The action was taken last evening at a meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners and interested citizens of the community.

Mayor Jesse Jacobs explained that the city owned the Frostburg Baseball Park and he had been informed that the second choice of the group—a tract of three acres at Sand Spring, west of the city, which is owned by Jack Dudek—would be available at any price offered by the city.

Present Plant Inadequate

The Mayor and City Commissioners have agreed to provide a site for the Berkowitz Co. pajama factory building as the present site on East Mechanic Street is no longer adequate.

The proposed new structure would be a one-story affair which would measure 150 feet by 300 feet with floor space of 45,000 square feet. An additional 45,000 square feet of ground would be provided for driveways and parking space at the site.

City Engineer John Hartig informed the council that so far as he knew no coal had been removed from the ground beneath the ball park and he thought that some additional land near the armory might be necessary for ample roadways leading to the proposed building from Water Street and to provide excellent parking facilities.

Advises Inspection

Charles Herath, engineer from Corinthin Engineering Company, Cumberland, stated that any site selected must be inspected by qualified engineers and approved before it can be recommended as satisfactory for construction of the factory building.

Sites which were rejected at the meeting were a city parking lot on East Mechanic Street, considered too small, and a tract of land adjoining the Frostburg Memorial Park.

Other sites considered included property north of Centenial Street, owned by the Borden Mining Company, and the YMI park, east of town.

The proposed structure is to be erected under supervision of the Frostburg Industrial Corporation which has funds pledged by local Frostburg business firms together with money furnished by the Berkowitz Company and a loan arranged by Richardson-Wood Co., industrial promoters.

Tri Area Roads Are Clear, But Icy In Spots

Additional snow flurries in the wake of an all-night storm endangered motorists in the Tri State Area yesterday, but by late afternoon most of the main travel arteries were clear with only ice in spots.

The Sunday night snowfall reached a depth of four to seven inches west of Fairview Mountain in Washington County, but Frostburg reported the lowest temperature and greatest depth of snow—ten degrees and seven inches.

Yesterday in the city, the highest temperature in Constitution Park was 23 degrees and the lowest was 15 degrees. The unofficial downtown temperatures were a low of 21 degrees and a high of 26 degrees.

Maryland State Police said that roads east over Route 40 were clear and no chains were needed—only caution in driving to avoid skidding on the icy spots was recommended. West over Route 40 and especially beyond Frostburg police were recommending chains.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, reported that two inches of new snow fell in Garrett County early yesterday morning. There was a little drifting west of Frostburg and ice was in spots on the roads in Garrett County. He, too, recommended chains in the area west of Frostburg.

The highest temperature in Garrett County yesterday was 17 degrees and 10 degrees was reported at 4:30 p. m.

West Virginia State Police at Romney, were recommending chains for all motor vehicles in all parts of the area.

At Deal, Pa., a temperature of 4 degrees above zero was reported last night at 10 o'clock. Skies there were cloudy and seven inches of snow covered the ground.

Fair weather and moderately cold temeratures were forecast for today.

Weather

Residents of the Tri State Area can expect even colder weather today, with the mercury dipping to low of 5 or 10 degrees above zero. The lowest temperature in Constitution Park yesterday was 15 degrees and the highest there was 23 degrees. Downtown, the lowest was 21 degrees and the highest was 26 degrees.

City Council Backs Surplus Food Program

Delegation Urges Action Be Taken

City Council last night went on record as recommending that the Federal Government's program of giving suprlus food to Allegany county's needy be continued after a delegation of persons interested in the county's welfare needs appeared at the weekly session.

Chief spokesman for the group was Thomas B. Finan, Cumberland attorney. He contended that a program which aided 1,462 families in Allegany county in December should not be stopped abruptly.

"If there was a need to assist some 1,462 families and about 6,000 individuals one month that need does not abate itself overnight," Finan asserted. A former city solicitor, Finan is interested in the program as Americanism officer of the American Legion post here, as disaster chairman for the Cumberland Red Cross chapter and as a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army.

Finan said that the ultimate decision rests with the Allegany County Commissioners, but he believes that City Council can help influence the commissioners. He said he plans to attend the commissioners' meeting today to state his case there.

The spokesman said he understands that only dried eggs and powdered milk are now being offered for the distribution to the needy.

Major Elmer Wall, officer in charge of the Salvation Army, added his endorsement to Finan's statement about the need. Although they did not speak, Mrs. Eleanor Westerfeld, executive director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, and Miss Jeanette A. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities, also attended.

Appointment of Marcus is the second move by Rosenbaum's toward a "big city" operation, Mrs. Rosenbaum pointed out.

Dowling Pleads For Speedup On Public Housing

Memorial Nurses Tour Slum Areas

The low rent public housing program will do much to relieve the housing situation in Cumberland, which has 2,751 dwellings unfit for human occupancy, J. B. Dowling, sanitation officer for the city and county health department, said yesterday in a speech to student nurses from Memorial Hospital.

Dowling, speaking at the site of the tragic Christmas night fire on Wineow Street, said Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, is determined that slum areas in this city be cleared up as soon as possible.

Citing the lack of sanitation at the site, he pointed out that one toilet, used by from 25 to 30 people, has been frozen up most of the winter.

Will Extend Drive

Dowling said the health department has not yet begun to work in certain areas of the city but it will extend its drive as soon as the city's housing project gets further on its way.

The health department, he said, has adequate laws to force landlords to make all corrections needed to meet basic sanitation requirements.

Referring to the human cost of slum areas, he pointed out that the persons one sees on inspecting such an area often look perfectly healthy.

"If there were a tombstone for every one lost," he added, "we couldn't walk around in this spot."

Declaring the public housing program is the best solution to substandard dwellings, Dowling said persons in the lowest income group cannot afford to buy or rent good standard housing. The problem, he said, is to make good housing available to them at prices they can pay.

Will Eliminate Slums

He pointed out that while the public housing project is not a slum clearance program, the effect is just that, since the law requires that substantially the same number of slum dwellings be eliminated as the number of public housing units built in a city.

Dowling said that of the 2,700 substandard homes here, 731 are owned by the occupant while 2,020 are rented.

He said that a typical answer to the rent paid in some of the worst was from $6 to $8 a week for two rooms, giving the landlord an income of from $50 to $60 for a substandard dwelling.

In a plea for immediate action, Dowling said it does little good to provide medical care for the children of slum areas if they have to return to slums and the living conditions found there.

Little League Planned For Corriganville

A meeting to stimulate interest in Little League Baseball will be held in the Corriganville Fire Hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock, according to Edwin Parry, president of the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company.

The Corriganville firemen are planning to sponsor a Little League team for boys in their area in 1951. Ralph D. Hampson, Corriganville, chairman of the Little League proposed for the area outside Cumberland, reports that Cumberland Recreation Director Edmund Hoey plans to attend tonight's meeting.

Movies of the Little League World Series will be shown. The public is invited and all boys under the age of 13 will be admitted if accompanied by their parents.

Mrs. Roeder Terms Local Slum Housing "Deplorable"

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, city street commissioner, told her male associates on City Council last night that she thinks Council should work unceasingly to alleviate sub-standard housing in Cumberland.

The commissioner made her remark at the close of the council session. She said that when she visited the Wineow Street houses which were gutted by the recent Christmas night fire she found deplorable conditions.

"Conditions here are even more deplorable than those I observed in the big city of Philadelphia," Mrs. Roeder asserted. She also called attention to the fact that the Cumberland Housing Authority's report disclosed 2,751 sub-standard dwellings in Cumberland.

"We, as city officials, and the public at large should take much interest in seeing that local housing is improved," the street commissioner added. "This sub-standard housing has a great deal to do with the quality of the town as a whole. We should be active factors in alleviating conditions," Mrs. Roeder concluded.

Earlier, Mrs. Roeder suggested that the city take some action to reduce the number of water rent overpayments. She contended it was costly to the city to have council pass orders every time payment was made to reimburse citizens for water rent overpayments. She contended that the city should operate as efficiently as banks and department stores in that respect.

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz disagreed with Mrs. Roeder and contended that the tax collector could not alter his system. Buchholtz said the overpayments are not caught until the records are posted in the books.

Higgins Requests Truancy Curb Cooperation

Recreation Houses Receiving Letter

Cooperation of operators of all theatres, bowling alleys and pool rooms in Allegany County in refusing to allow children of school age to loiter in their places of business during schol hours is being requested by Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the Allegany county system.

Higgins said yesterday that copies of a form letter from him are being mailed to operators of all bowling aleys, pool rooms and theatres. This letter has been approved by School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp.

The letter notes that complaints have been offered his office and in a few cases evidence has been presentd to the Juvenile Court that children are being allowed to loiter in places of recreation and to enter theatres during school hours.

Higgins continues:

"Provisions of the Public School Laws of Maryland, Chapter 21, Section 212, state that any person who induces or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school, or employs or harbors while school is in session any child absent unlawfully from school, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not more than $50."

He concluded the letter by asking for cooperation with the schools and states that provisions of the law, which he quoted, will be enforced strictly in Allegany county.

Fire Hazard Is Created By Low Water Pressure

North End Man Seeks City Council Action

Immediate City Council action to alleviate low water pressure in a section of North End centering on Holland Street and Piedmont Avenue was demanded last night by Howard F. Radcliffe, 803 Trost Avenue, who acted as spokesman for residents of the area.

Although he spoke calmly and did not resort to fist pounding, Radcliffe emphasized that he thought City Council had procrastinated too long in overcoming a "serious fire hazard."

Action Sought Since 1947

"As early as August, 1947, residents of this section came before City Council asking for relief of the low water pressure," Radcliffe asserted. "When we came back last January 9 we were told that a survey was underway. Again on July 3 we asked for relief and still we have none," Radcliffe observed.

The spokesman contended that Cumberland Fire Department figures bear out the point that the water pressure on a part of Holland Street, Piedmont Avenue and connecting streets is dangerously low. He observed that much of the destruction that resulted from the Christmas, 1949, Hyndman, Pa., fire was caused by pressure failure.

Although he did not mention Water Commissioner George H. Tederick by name, Radcliffe said, "If there's too much work on the part of any one commissioner the other commissioners should pitch in as a team and help."

Will Pound His Fists

"If you want me to bring a delegation down here to fill the council chamber and if you want me to pound my fists on the table to get action, I'll do that," Radcliffe stated.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said that the problem confronting the city was a matter of "dollars and cents." Commissioner Tederick said that the delay was in the city engineer's office, asserting that it was not until December 11, 1950, that he received the engineer's report on the need.

Tederick said that he has been studying estimates for installation and maintenance of the needed booster pumps and soon would have a report for Council. Both Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, and Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long contended that action should be forthcoming.

City's Payments Topped Receipts For December

Council Receives Reports Last Night

City of Cumberland disbursements exceeded receipts by $95,286.18 in December, according to the monthly report of Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, which was submitted at last night's Council meeting.

His report showed General Account December receipts of $34,513.37 and disbursements of $106,026.46, with a balance in the account of $600,669.70 as of January 1. The Water Operations Account recorded December receipts of $39,791.34; expenditures of $64,857.99, and a January 1 balance of $124,318.70. The General Improvement Bond Account had December receipts of $1,293.56, and no disbursements, bringing the balance January 1 to $13,748.32. There were no December charges in the Paving Bond Account of $34.72, the Flood account of $631.49 and the Sewer Bond Account of $5,923.96, Buchholtz reported

Dr. Winter R. Frantz's December Health Department report, also submitted to Council, shows miscellaneous activity. It noted that 14 new communicable diseases were reported, department nurses made 296 visits, 14 dental clinics were held, 30 dairy farms were inspected, 29 public and private premises, and 46 food and drink establishments were checked. Vital statistics figures in the report included 146 December births, 56 deaths and two stillbirths.

Another report showed Cumberland's average daily water consumption for the week which ended Saturday was 12,862,000 gallons, compared with 11,426,000 gallons during the same period a year ago.

Mrs. Ruth V. Morgan was appointed by Council last night as secretary to the smoke abatement engineer, effective January 5, at a monthly salary of $150. The resignation of George V. Cheshire, Fort Ashby, W. Va., as a laborer at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, effective January 4, was accepted.

Council also authorized a number of expenditures. These included $750 to the Allegany County Industrial Promotion Committee for use of Richardson Wood and Company, $505 to Maryland Municipal League as 1951 dues, and $6.75 to Fort Cumberland Service Station, c/o J. C. Smith, 501 Henderson Avenue, in refunding a water rent overpayment.

The City Auditor was instructed to issue checks Monday, January 15, for salaries and wages for the first period of January, 1951.

Allegany County GOP Will March For McKeldin

Plan To Take Part In Inaugural Parade

Allegany County Republicans will march in the Sixth District section of the inaugural parade for Theodore R. McKeldin when he takes office as Maryland's governor Wednesday.

Earl E. Manges, chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee, estimated that at least 600 Sixth District Republicans will march in the parade. The section will be led by the 60-piece Hagerstown High School Band.

Members of the GOP Central Committee, the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly and other Republican leaders from this county are expected to march.

Manges said if the weather is good, a large delegation is expected from Lonaconing and other George's Creek communities.

Every resident of the state has been "invited" to the inauguration. As McKeldin puts it, "You don't need an invitation. Just come."

It has been 16 years since a Republican was inaugurated governor of Maryland, normally a Democratic state, but McKeldin scored an overwhelming victory over Governor Lane in the November election.

McKeldin will be the fourth Republican governor of the state in its history. The late Harry W. Nice was the last Republican governor of Maryland.

Rawlings Man Faces Charge Of Manslaughter

Indictment Results From Wife's Death

William R. Darr, 43-year-old Rawlings lumber mill operator, whose wife was fatally injured when she was struck by a truck cab driven by him, has been charged with manslaughter in an indictment which was placed on the open docket in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

He was indited by the grand jury last week.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Catherine Darr, 40, died in Allegany Hospital about 11 p. m. December 20 of injuries sustained about five hours earlier.

State Trooper Donald Walker, who investigated the accident on McMullen Highway in front of the Darrs' residence, said that Mrs. Darr was run over by the wheels of the cab portion of a tractor-trailer truck which her husband was driving.

Dar told deputy sheriffs the day after the woman's death that his wife ran in front of the truck for some unexplained reason. He related that he drove the truck out of a driveway alongside the lumber mill which he operates, some 300 feet west of his home on McMullen Highway. From the driveway, he turned east onto McMullen Highway and was planning to drive to a nearby store to purchase a pack of cigarettes.

As he approached his house, Darr told deputy sheriffs, his wife opened the gate and ran out into the road in front of the truck. He said that he swerved to avoid hitting her but either the right front bumper or fender struck her. This was about 6 p. m. December 20.

The indictment charged that Darr "unlawfully, in a grossly negligent manner, did kill and slay Mary Catherine Darr; contrary to the form of the Act of the Assembly in such cases made and provided and against the peace, government and dignity of the State."

After the bench warrant was served on Darr yesterday he was allowed to continue his freedom under $500 bond.

Indictments against two other men were placed on the same docket yesterday morning.

John A. Parsons, 18, of Washington Street, was indicted in two cases. One involves the breaking and entering of the storeroom of Calvin Butler, 420 Virginia Avenue, and the other the statutory burglary of a liquor warehouse owned by Norman F. Geatz, 11 South Smallwood Street.

Ralph Uplinger, 41, of 506 Springdale Street, who was convicted in Police Court on a charge of selling whisky without a license, was indicted for the sale and possession of intoxicants.

The Frostburg Baseball Park adjoining the Municipal Swimming Pool and the National Guard Armory on South Water Street has been designated as first choice for the site of the proposed new pajama factory building of the Michael Berkowitz Co. in Frostburg.

The action was taken last evening at a meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners and interested citizens of the community.

Mayor Jesse Jacobs explained that the city owned the Frostburg Baseball Park and he had been informed that the second choice of the group—a tract of three acres at Sand Spring, west of the city, which is owned by Jack Dudek—would be available at any price offered by the city.

Present Plant Inadequate

The Mayor and City Commissioners have agreed to provide a site for the Berkowitz Co. pajama factory building as the present site on East Mechanic Street is no longer adequate.

The proposed new structure would be a one-story affair which would measure 150 feet by 300 feet with floor space of 45,000 square feet. An additional 45,000 square feet of ground would be provided for driveways and parking space at the site.

City Engineer John Hartig informed the council that so far as he knew no coal had been removed from the ground beneath the ball park and he thought that some additional land near the armory might be necessary for ample roadways leading to the proposed building from Water Street and to provide excellent parking facilities.

Advises Inspection

Charles Herath, engineer from Corinthin Engineering Company, Cumberland, stated that any site selected must be inspected by qualified engineers and approved before it can be recommended as satisfactory for construction of the factory building.

Sites which were rejected at the meeting were a city parking lot on East Mechanic Street, considered too small, and a tract of land adjoining the Frostburg Memorial Park.

Other sites considered included property north of Centenial Street, owned by the Borden Mining Company, and the YMI park, east of town.

The proposed structure is to be erected under supervision of the Frostburg Industrial Corporation which has funds pledged by local Frostburg business firms together with money furnished by the Berkowitz Company and a loan arranged by Richardson-Wood Co., industrial promoters.

Dowling, sanitation officer for the city and county health department,also included a visit to the Community Bakery here. William R. King, a member of the department who assisted in the tour is seen to the extreme left and Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, who acompanied the party, is standing third from the left.

Fire Hazard Is Created By Low Water Pressure

North End Man Seeks City Council Action

Immediate City Council action to alleviate low water pressure in a section of North End centering on Holland Street and Piedmont Avenue was demanded last night by Howard F. Radcliffe, 803 Trost Avenue, who acted as spokesman for residents of the area.

Although he spoke calmly and did not resort to fist pounding, Radcliffe emphasized that he thought City Council had procrastinated too long in overcoming a "serious fire hazard."

Action Sought Since 1947

"As early as August, 1947, residents of this section came before City Council asking for relief of the low water pressure," Radcliffe asserted. "When we came back last January 9 we were told that a survey was underway. Again on July 3 we asked for relief and still we have none," Radcliffe observed.

The spokesman contended that Cumberland Fire Department figures bear out the point that the water pressure on a part of Holland Street, Piedmont Avenue and connecting streets is dangerously low. He observed that much of the destruction that resulted from the Christmas, 1949, Hyndman, Pa., fire was caused by pressure failure.

Although he did not mention Water Commissioner George H. Tederick by name, Radcliffe said, "If there's too much work on the part of any one commissioner the other commissioners should pitch in as a team and help."

Will Pound His Fists

"If you want me to bring a delegation down here to fill the council chamber and if you want me to pound my fists on the table to get action, I'll do that," Radcliffe stated.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said that the problem confronting the city was a matter of "dollars and cents." Commissioner Tederick said that the delay was in the city engineer's office, asserting that it was not until December 11, 1950, that he received the engineer's report on the need.

Tederick said that he has been studying estimates for installation and maintenance of the needed booster pumps and soon would have a report for Council. Both Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, and Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long contended that action should be forthcoming.

Hull attended Fort Hill High School and was employed at Merrill's Brothers Super Market, prior to enlisting in the Army March 2, 1950. Rawlings Man Faces Charge Of Manslaughter

Indictment Results From Wife's Death

William R. Darr, 43-year-old Rawlings lumber mill operator, whose wife was fatally injured when she was struck by a truck cab driven by him, has been charged with manslaughter in an indictment which was placed on the open docket in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

He was indited by the grand jury last week.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Catherine Darr, 40, died in Allegany Hospital about 11 p. m. December 20 of injuries sustained about five hours earlier.

State Trooper Donald Walker, who investigated the accident on McMullen Highway in front of the Darrs' residence, said that Mrs. Darr was run over by the wheels of the cab portion of a tractor-trailer truck which her husband was driving.

Dar told deputy sheriffs the day after the woman's death that his wife ran in front of the truck for some unexplained reason. He related that he drove the truck out of a driveway alongside the lumber mill which he operates, some 300 feet west of his home on McMullen Highway. From the driveway, he turned east onto McMullen Highway and was planning to drive to a nearby store to purchase a pack of cigarettes.

As he approached his house, Darr told deputy sheriffs, his wife opened the gate and ran out into the road in front of the truck. He said that he swerved to avoid hitting her but either the right front bumper or fender struck her. This was about 6 p. m. December 20.

The indictment charged that Darr "unlawfully, in a grossly negligent manner, did kill and slay Mary Catherine Darr; contrary to the form of the Act of the Assembly in such cases made and provided and against the peace, government and dignity of the State."

After the bench warrant was served on Darr yesterday he was allowed to continue his freedom under $500 bond.

Indictments against two other men were placed on the same docket yesterday morning.

John A. Parsons, 18, of Washington Street, was indicted in two cases. One involves the breaking and entering of the storeroom of Calvin Butler, 420 Virginia Avenue, and the other the statutory burglary of a liquor warehouse owned by Norman F. Geatz, 11 South Smallwood Street.

Ralph Uplinger, 41, of 506 Springdale Street, who was convicted in Police Court on a charge of selling whisky without a license, was indicted for the sale and possession of intoxicants.

City Council Backs Surplus Food Program

Delegation Urges Action Be Taken

City Council last night went on record as recommending that the Federal Government's program of giving suprlus food to Allegany county's needy be continued after a delegation of persons interested in the county's welfare needs appeared at the weekly session.

Chief spokesman for the group was Thomas B. Finan, Cumberland attorney. He contended that a program which aided 1,462 families in Allegany county in December should not be stopped abruptly.

"If there was a need to assist some 1,462 families and about 6,000 individuals one month that need does not abate itself overnight," Finan asserted. A former city solicitor, Finan is interested in the program as Americanism officer of the American Legion post here, as disaster chairman for the Cumberland Red Cross chapter and as a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army.

Finan said that the ultimate decision rests with the Allegany County Commissioners, but he believes that City Council can help influence the commissioners. He said he plans to attend the commissioners' meeting today to state his case there.

The spokesman said he understands that only dried eggs and powdered milk are now being offered for the distribution to the needy.

Major Elmer Wall, officer in charge of the Salvation Army, added his endorsement to Finan's statement about the need. Although they did not speak, Mrs. Eleanor Westerfeld, executive director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, and Miss Jeanette A. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities, also attended.

Dowling Pleads For Speedup On Public Housing

Memorial Nurses Tour Slum Areas

The low rent public housing program will do much to relieve the housing situation in Cumberland, which has 2,751 dwellings unfit for human occupancy, J. B. Dowling, sanitation officer for the city and county health department, said yesterday in a speech to student nurses from Memorial Hospital.

Dowling, speaking at the site of the tragic Christmas night fire on Wineow Street, said Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, is determined that slum areas in this city be cleared up as soon as possible.

Citing the lack of sanitation at the site, he pointed out that one toilet, used by from 25 to 30 people, has been frozen up most of the winter.

Will Extend Drive

Dowling said the health department has not yet begun to work in certain areas of the city but it will extend its drive as soon as the city's housing project gets further on its way.

The health department, he said, has adequate laws to force landlords to make all corrections needed to meet basic sanitation requirements.

Referring to the human cost of slum areas, he pointed out that the persons one sees on inspecting such an area often look perfectly healthy.

"If there were a tombstone for every one lost," he added, "we couldn't walk around in this spot."

Declaring the public housing program is the best solution to substandard dwellings, Dowling said persons in the lowest income group cannot afford to buy or rent good standard housing. The problem, he said, is to make good housing available to them at prices they can pay.

Will Eliminate Slums

He pointed out that while the public housing project is not a slum clearance program, the effect is just that, since the law requires that substantially the same number of slum dwellings be eliminated as the number of public housing units built in a city.

Dowling said that of the 2,700 substandard homes here, 731 are owned by the occupant while 2,020 are rented.

He said that a typical answer to the rent paid in some of the worst was from $6 to $8 a week for two rooms, giving the landlord an income of from $50 to $60 for a substandard dwelling.

In a plea for immediate action, Dowling said it does little good to provide medical care for the children of slum areas if they have to return to slums and the living conditions found there.

Mrs. Roeder Terms Local Slum Housing "Deplorable"

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, city street commissioner, told her male associates on City Council last night that she thinks Council should work unceasingly to alleviate sub-standard housing in Cumberland.

The commissioner made her remark at the close of the council session. She said that when she visited the Wineow Street houses which were gutted by the recent Christmas night fire she found deplorable conditions.

"Conditions here are even more deplorable than those I observed in the big city of Philadelphia," Mrs. Roeder asserted. She also called attention to the fact that the Cumberland Housing Authority's report disclosed 2,751 sub-standard dwellings in Cumberland.

"We, as city officials, and the public at large should take much interest in seeing that local housing is improved," the street commissioner added. "This sub-standard housing has a great deal to do with the quality of the town as a whole. We should be active factors in alleviating conditions," Mrs. Roeder concluded.

Earlier, Mrs. Roeder suggested that the city take some action to reduce the number of water rent overpayments. She contended it was costly to the city to have council pass orders every time payment was made to reimburse citizens for water rent overpayments. She contended that the city should operate as efficiently as banks and department stores in that respect.

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz disagreed with Mrs. Roeder and contended that the tax collector could not alter his system. Buchholtz said the overpayments are not caught until the records are posted in the books.

Recreation Houses Receiving Letter

Cooperation of operators of all theatres, bowling alleys and pool rooms in Allegany County in refusing to allow children of school age to loiter in their places of business during schol hours is being requested by Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the Allegany county system.

Higgins said yesterday that copies of a form letter from him are being mailed to operators of all bowling aleys, pool rooms and theatres. This letter has been approved by School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp.

The letter notes that complaints have been offered his office and in a few cases evidence has been presentd to the Juvenile Court that children are being allowed to loiter in places of recreation and to enter theatres during school hours.

Higgins continues:

"Provisions of the Public School Laws of Maryland, Chapter 21, Section 212, state that any person who induces or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school, or employs or harbors while school is in session any child absent unlawfully from school, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not more than $50."

C. Smith, 501 Henderson Avenue, in refunding a water rent overpayment.

ALLIES ABANDON TWO KEY TOWNS

Truman Calls For Vast Mobilization Effort

Says U. S. Will Fight To Block Red Conquest

Wants More Taxes And Tougher Draft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman told the nation today that "we will fight, if we must" to block the threat of world conquest by Soviet Russia.

In a rousing 3,500-word speech, heard by millions over radio and television networks, the President called for a vast mobilization effort capable of producing 50,000 planes and 35,000 tanks a year if needed.

Solemnly, he pledged that the United States will forsake neither Western Europe nor other free nations in the struggle against Red aggression.

The President said more money, a "major" tax increase and a bigger draft of manpower will be needed to prepare for the possibility of "a full-scale war."

Addressing a joint session of Congress in his annual "state of the union" message, Mr. Truman declared:

"We are preparing for full wartime mobilization, if that should be necessary.

"The threat of world conquest by Soviet Russia endangers our liberty and endangers the kind of world in which the free spirit of man can survive.

Security In Unity

"The threat is a total threat and the danger is a common danger.

"All free nations are exposed and are all in peril. Their only security lies in banding together. No one nation can find protection in a selfish search for a haven from the storm."

Mr. Truman bitterly denounced Russia for waging "an evil war by proxy" in Korea and called it a move by "the Russian Communist dictatorship to take over the world step by step."

The President said the United States is willing "as we have always been, to negotiate honorable settlements with the Soviet Union," but with out-thrust jaw he declared:

"We will not engage in appeasement:

A burst of applause greeted that affirmation.

Mr. Truman went on to accuse the Soviets of keeping Russia and its satellite nations "in a state of perpetual mobilization," and he declared:

"The imperialism of the czars has been replaced by the even more ambitious, more crafty, and more menacing imperialism of the rulers of the Soviet Union.

"Realistic Road To Peace"

"The Soviet rulers have made it clear that we must have strength as well as right on our side. If we build strength x x x the Soviet rulers may face the facts and lay aside their plans to take over the world."

"x x x That is what we are trying to bring about.

"That is the only realistic road to peace."

Mr. Truman made no mention of sending more U. S. troops to Europe—a move he has already forecast and which he claims power to do without prior Congress approval.

Even before the President spoke, Sen. Wherry (R-Neb.), Senate GOP floor leader, sought to halt any commitment of American ground forces in Europe until Congress has decided the policy on that issue.

President's 10-Point Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today it "will need to consider legislation, at this session, affecting all the aspects of our mobilization job."

He listed these as the ten main subjects on which legislation will be needed:

1. Appropriations for the military buildup.
2. Extension and revision of the draft law.
3. Foreign military and economic aid.
4. Revision and extension of authority to "expand production and to stabilize prices, wages and rents."
5. Improvement of agriculture laws to help obtain farm products needed for the defense effort.
6. Improvement of labor laws "to help provide stable labor-management relations."
7. Housing and training of defense workers and "the full use of all our manpower resources."
8. An increased supply of doctors, nurses and other trained medical personnel.
9. Federal aid to schools.
10. "A major increase" in taxes.

Described As Tool Of Russian Agents

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—William W. Remington was described by former Spy Courier Elizabeth Bentley today as a nervous, frightened Communist Party tool of wartime Soviet agents.

She testified Remington gave her copies of secret aircraft data but balked at turning over the original documents because "he said he was terrified."

Miss Bentley, who first accused Remington of Communist ties two years ago, took the stand in federal court as star government witness at his perjury trial.

Remington, handsome, 33-year-old former Commerce Department economist, is accused of lying when he denied he ever was a Communist.

Miss Bentley said Remington took data that came across his government desk or else went into office files to supply her with aircraft production figures and data on plane types.

"Remington told me it was secret information and that I should be very careful," Miss Bentley testified.

She was dressed in a black suit and orange blouse as she began her long-awaited testimony.

Miss Bentley said she recalled vaguely that Remington once had a chance to transfer to the Pentagon building, the heavily-guarded military nerve-center of America's war effort. She added:

"Either he didn't take it, or he was there only a short time. He told me it was much too nerve-wracking, too scary and that's why he refused to go on with it."

Miss Bentley also corroborated earlier testimony by Remington's divorced wife that the $10,000-a-year government economist once gave her a secret formula for making synthetic rubber from garbage.

The witness said Remington told her "he thought the Russians would need something very much like this formula."

Remington was introduced to her, Miss Bentley said, in a New York restaurant in 1942 by the late Jacob Golos, whom she described as her spy ring superior.

The parents were away from home at the time.

Maryland Senate Is Asked To Approve Camp Ritchie's Transfer To U.S. Government

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—Maryland's Senate was asked tonight to approve transfer of Camp Ritchie to the federal government.

Senate President Della (D-Balto 6th) introduced a bill to that effect. It had administration backing.

Ritchie, an old National Guard camp used during World War II as a military intelligence training center, has been mentioned as a possible emergency communications site. One of the state's hospitals for chronic indigents is now located there.

Any proceeds from the transfer would be spent on the state's organized militia.

The Senate sidetracked for the second straight legislative day Gov. Lane's list of recess appointments.

"The executive department has not seen fit to send them in," Della explained.

Postponement means the administration has only one day in which to gain Senate approval of a number of state posts assigned since the 1949 session. They are scheduled to be offered for confirmation tomorrow.

The short time left before Governor-elect McKeldin is inaugurated Wednesday also augurs a quick decision on Lane's expected nomination of Arthur H. Brice to head the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, an agency closely eyed by Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland delegations.

Senate Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) sponsored a measure to shift the Bureau of Mines back to the Department of Labor and Industry, under which it functioned prior to a reorganization 10 years ago.

"It belongs there," Kimble commented. "The bureau is chiefly concerned with working and safety conditions."

Della deferred his appointments of Senate committees, but House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th), completed his list of assignments.

Eastern Shore and Baltimore City delegates split 12 committee chairmanships. Majority Leader Boone (D-Baltimore County) automatically became Ways and Means chairman, and Delegate Wilkinson (D-Prince George's), at one time a candidate for the floor leadership, drew the Education Committee chair.

Navy Man Drives Unlicensed Car Through 12 States

HOPE VALLEY, R. I., Jan. 8 (AP)—A naval lieutenant admitted to Rhode Island state police today that he drove a car from Louisiana through 12 states and not until he reached the 13th—Rhode Island—did anyone notice he had no registration plates.

Lt. Stanley Sterbenz drove 1,500 miles from New Orleans and got witin 20 miles of Newport, his destination, when he was stopped.

He told troopers that he bought the car in New Orleans but found that the State of Louisiana would register the cars of permanent residents only. So he decided to see how far he could get without license plates.

Navy Physicist Found Hanged

ASPEN, Colo., Jan. 8 (AP)—Officers planned an inquest, probably tomorrow, into the death of Ralph Smith, young Navy physicist, whose body was found dangling today in a second floor doorway of an abandoned building.

Smith's frozen body was suspended by a nylon ski bootlace knotted around the throat. Sheriff Leonard Johnson said he and District Attorney Robert Delaney were investigating a theory that Smith, 27, had committed suicide. The sheriff said this had not been determined.

Smith disappeared Friday after coming here for a skiing vacation with Gordon Bangs, 26. Both are employed at the naval test station at China Lake, Calif.

Bangs said Smith had been doing secret research on rockets and guided missiles.

Gen. Eisenhower, French Leaders In Conferences

Three Divisions Pledged To "Ike"

PARIS, Jan. 8. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower got down to brisk talks with the French today on just what they are going to do to help defend the West against any push from the East.

American military sources said the answers he got help support the General's belief that the Atlantic community can built an international army to defend Western Europe. There was no official word from the talks, but it was believed the French pledged immediate transfer of their three divisions now in Germany and Austria to the Eisenhower command.

The General made it snappy. Accompanied by his chief strategist, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, and two French officer translators, he drove in a French car with a French army chauffeur, for a 10-minute talk with Premier Rene Pleven and another 10 minutes with Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Then he drove to the Defense Ministry for a luncheon with Minister Jules Moch who immediately called in his highest ranking officers.

After four hours at the Defense Ministry, Eisenhower flashed his famous grin, but refused to comment and drove back to his apartment in the Hotel Raphael for a series of staff meetings.

An authorized source said "all the problems of defending Europe," were discussed.

The French National Assembly tonight reiterated its support for Premier Pleven's $2,100,000,000 rearmanent program for 1951 by a 333 to 181 vote of confidence.

The program calls for raising three more divisions for the Eisenhower command this year and other expansions, such as the training of 1,000 air force pilots. France has other divisions in France, two of them under strength.

Senate GOP Policy Committee Completed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Four frequent critics of the administration's Far Eastern policy won assignment today to the Senate's Republican Policy Committee.

The four — Sens. Knowland of California, H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Ferguson of Michigan and Brewster of Maine — were named by the Republican conference, along with Sens. Martin of Pennsylvania and Thye of Minnesota.

The 11-member Policy Committee, headed by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), pretty much decides what action Senate Republicans as a whole are going to take on major issues. Besides Taft and those appointed today, its members are Sens. Millikin of Colorado, Wherry of Nebraska, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Young of North Dakota.

Britain Urges "Last Effort" To Get Truce

Look Well Before Leaping, U. N. Told

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 8 (AP) — Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb today urged the United Nations to make one more attempt to obtain a cease-fire in Korea.

He indicated that Britain is not yet ready for a final decision on American demands for U. N. condemnation of Red China as an aggressor. The American demands are being pushed in behind-the-scenes talks and have not yet reached the U. N. Assembly Political Committee in a formal document.

Red China Warned

Jebb told the Political Committee that the U. N. should weigh its actions carefully and a "last effort" for a cease-fire should be made before more drastic steps are considered. The committee adjourned at his suggestion until Thursday to permit more talks among the delegates.

The British delegate, choosing his words with obvious care, warned Red China that a final break with the U. N. and all the U. N. represents would have a "dreadful effect" on the Chinese people.

Then advising the U. N. to be careful, he said:

"Look well before you leap is a wise maxim in foreign affairs. If we do leap we should all leap together."

Jebb acknowledged that there may not be any results of a new cease-fire attempt, but said every effort should be made to find a peaceful solution.

May Back U. S. Proposal

"If a final break with China occurs," he said, "it must be clearly shown that it came about through no fault of the United Nations. A collective break with China will not help United Nations troops fighting in Korea, at least for the present."

High diplomatic sources at the U. N. indicated Britain and other countries might go along eventually with the American proposal for a verdict condemning Peiping as an aggressor.

Britain and India have recognized Red China and have favored a seat for Peiping in the U. N. But Jebb pointed out that the British commonwealth has almost a division of troops fighting in Korea and the U. N. forces in Korea must be given all possible support while hostilities continue.

Good Faith Price Cuts Held Legal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that price-cutting in good faith to meet competition is not a violation of the anti-trust laws.

The court's 5-3 decision came in a case questioning the right of a seller—Standard Oil Company of Indiana—to lower prices to meet those of a competitor.

Reversing a lower court decision, the high tribunal directed the Federal Trade Commission to determine whether Standard acted in good faith in cutting gasoline prices to four jobbers in Detroit.

Standard Oil had appealed an FTC decision which said the company, under the Robinson-Patman Act, could not use good faith alone as a defense in its price cutting action. Such a defense, the FTC said, is not available to a seller when the effect of price cutting at the retail level is considered injurious to competition.

The majority of the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Justice Burton, differed with FTC and with the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals which upheld the commission's findings.

Administration Reverses Itself, Asks Big Flattop

Navy Buildup Bill Given To Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Truman administration reversed itself today and called for a 60,000-ton super aircraft carrier as part of a $2,000,000,000 buildup of the nation's sea fighting forces.

The proposed new carrier is much like the one whose construction was cancelled by former Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson in the economy program that preceded his retirement from the Cabinet last year.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee laid the $2,000,000,000 measure before Congress on behalf of the Defense Department and the Budget Bureau.

In the present mood of Congress, quick approval without major changes appears likely.

It is part of the just-short-of-war mobilization which President Truman called for today in his state of the union address.

In another followup of the President's message, the Air Force set its sights on a strength much larger than its present 84 groups—maybe in the neighborhood of 100 groups.

Air Force Undersecretary John A. McCone didn't give details but told a news conference the highest rate of plane production now called for will be reached by the middle of next year.

McCone said airplane output "will come very close to the President's figure" and will be "substantially above the industry's figure."

Mr. Truman is asking a five-fold increase in warplane production, now around 150 a month. Industry sources have said this can be increased about three-fold. McCone said "the industry figure is very low."

In addition, Mr. Truman in his state-of-the-union message today said the mobilization program aims at expanding the industry's capacity to 50,000 planes a year, if it is ever necessary to order that many.

The Air Undersecretary said increasing the total strength of the armed forces to 3,500,000 men will mean a corresponding rise in Air Force strength. The present 84-group air program is geared to a total armed force of 2,800,000 men.

On the naval side, the construction program calls for seven Snorkel submarines, 12 fleet tankers, two rocket launchers and about 60 other new vessels.

Pope May Receive "Ike"

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 8 (AP) — Vatican sources said tonight Pope Pius XII is almost certain to receive Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in private audience when the Atlantic pact military commander visits Rome later this month.

Osan, Wonju Are Given Up By 8th Army

U. N. Planes Take Heavy Toll Of Reds

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 9 (AP)—The retreating Eighth Army abandoned two important towns on east and west sides of the front in South Korea Monday while Allied warplanes took a heavy toll of the invading Chinese and Korean Communists.

In the west, Osan, almost 60 miles south of the 38th parallel and 28 miles below Seoul, was given up without a fight. It is on the old "hearebreak highway" down which Americans and South Koreans first retreated before the North Korean invaders last July.

In the east, United Nations troops quit the burning road and rail hub of Wonju after a valiant delaying action that brought time for preparation of defenses farther south.

More than 1,750 Reds were estimated killed, wounded or captured in ground actions and air strikes during Monday.

Roads Jammed With Reds

Pilots reported the roads south and southeast of Seoul and north of Wonju were jammed with Reds pursuing the Eighth Army southward.

"I've never seen so many people on the roads up there," said one veteran airman. "They were all moving south."

While B-29 Superforts concentrated on the Seoul area, smashing the runways of Kimpo airfield with bombs, jets and piston-engined fighters and light bombers swooped on troop concentrations near the Han River.

One 20-mile stretch of road north of Wonju was transformed into a death-trap for the Reds.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said jet planes alone inflicted more than 1,000 casualties on the Reds.

Allied warships on both west and east coasts fought to delay the Red hoardes. The American cruiser Rochester and the British cruiser Kenya and Ceylon bombarded Inchon, Seoul's port, for the fourth straight day.

Road, Rail Links Shelled

On the east coast four American destroyers and two Siamese corvettes shelled road and rail links for a distance of 60 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Gen. MacArthur was using his marked superiority in the air and on the sea to give some breathing space to his heavily outnumbered ground forces.

Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph, following the retreating U. N. columns in the west, said Chinese troops entered Osan shortly after the rear guard pulled out Monday morning. The first American troops killed in action in Korea fell at Osan six months ago.

After fighting bitterly at Wonju for three days and throwing the Reds back once, U. N. troops in the mountainous sector retired an undisclosed distance. Wonju is 55 miles southeast of Seoul and 45 miles below the 38th parallel.

The rear guard from Wonju found a Communist regiment asleep two miles south of the town.

At least 200 Reds were killed or wounded in the ensuing fight.

Police On Bloody Trail Of Gunman

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP)—Law officers with orders to "shoot to kill if necessary" hunted Desperado William E. (Bill) Cook throughout the Southwest today.

Police of half a dozen states Texas Rangers, FBI agents and customers and immigration officers of the United States and Mexico were on the bloody trail of the Joplin, Mo., ex-convict, suspected of killing at least eight persons.

Houston, Tex., was the latest locale alerted. A hitchhiker, Darrell E. Hall, 21, told police he rode all last night from El Paso to Houston with a short stocky man resembling Cook and about Cook's age, 24. The man kept a pistol on the seat between them, Hall said. The car was a 1949 or 1950 four-door sedan with Texas license plates.

However, if that driver was Cook he would have had to make terrifically fast time since yesterday when reports indicated he was in the northwest corner of Mexico.

There was evidence Cook was doubling back eastward. E. C. Richardson, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in charge here, said a series of stolen car reports came today from Mexicali, Mex., across the border from Calexico, Calif.

33 More ROTC Units

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Army announced today it is adding reserve officer training units at 33 colleges in 22 states this year.

Walkout Closes Fairchild Plants

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—The 4,700 production workers at Fairchild aviation division struck today.

This cut off the supply of new Air Force C-119 Packets, a workhorse transport plane which has been busy ferrying men and supplies into Korea and bringing out the wounded.

Main point of contention between the company and a local of the CIO-United Auto Workers Union was a merit system which has been used to determine pay scales.

Glenn Brayton, an international representative of the union, declared the strike was 100 per cent effective at Fairchild's four plants here. He said the workers will remain on strike until the merit system is eliminated.

Samuel Angotti, director of industrial relations for the company, acknowledged that production was shut down.

There were no negotiations. The union turned down the wage increase proposal yesterday. The contract expired at midnight and the strike started at 7 a. m.

Congress Hears Unusually Grim And Solemn President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — It was an unusually grim and solemn President who went before a joint session of Congress today.

Normally Mr. Truman looks as if he enjoys these visits. He throws in a few cracks that bring laughs, cheers and, at least once, even a few good natured boos.

None of that today.

He talked for 13 minutes, painting a harsh picture of the world situation, before congressmen found anything to cheer about.

The ice-breaker:

"They (the Marshall Plan countries) are now ready to use this strength in helping to build a strong combined defense against aggression."

Once they had the hang of it, the senators and representatives were a little more generous with their applause. They interrupted 15 times, with Gen. Eisenhower getting the most. He was mentioned twice, was applauded twice.

But the most enthusiastic applause came when Mr. Truman called for economy in government.

Republicans in particular cheered here, and Rep. Mason (R-Ill) hollered "Yeah!"

Burgess Meredith Weds Fourth Time

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Actor Burgess Meredith was married "several months ago" to blonde Dancer Kaja Sundsten, the actor's office said today.

Meredith's secretary said no further details about the marriage could be announced immediately.

Meredith, 42, has been married three times previously. His marriages to Helen Derby of Montclair, N. J.; Margaret Frueauff French, actress known as Margaret Perry, and actress Paulette Goddard all ended in divorce.

Sect, Believing World Ends Today, Holds "Last Rites"

KEREMEOS, B. C., Jan. 8 (INS)—Thirty members of a religious sect held "last rites" today for the world they believe will end tomorrow.

The ceremony was held behind the locked doors of their "purity prison," a farmhouse near the apple-growing center of Keremeos, 150 miles east of Vancouver.

In keeping with the advice of their leader, Mrs. Grace A. Carlson, the white-clad members of the Church of God Evangelical sect have sold all their worldly goods and locked themselves in the farmhouse for the past 14 days.

One member of the self-styled "Children of Light" sold a $20,000 orchard for the $500 he said was all he needed to pay his debts.

Late model cars were sold for $100 and other items went at similar bargain prices.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other authorities are investigating complaints that those in the house are under hypnosis.

Two minor age girls were taken from the house by the RCMP at the request of their father.

British Nations Fear U. S. Plan

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP)—A majority of British commonwealth nations appeared anxious tonight to avoid branding Red China an aggressor in Korea. They think this action could soon lead to war.

This was their first reaction to an American approach suggesting that the United Nations ought to punish the Chinese Reds if they again turn down proposals for a Korean cease-fire. The punishment envisaged in the U. N. Charter includes economic and military sanctions. The United States view was set forth to 30 non-Communist U.N. members over the weekend.

Britain took the lead in initiating talks both with her commonwealth partners and her West European friends on the American bid.

Herself set against the idea, she found strong support from India for a policy of moderation towards China.

Diplomatic officials reported Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru fiercely attacked the United States' Far Eastern policies in general and her Korean policy in particular, in the course of a commonwealth debate on Asia. Commonwealth premiers are in the midst of a 10-day parley here on the critical world situation.

Lewis Will Lead Off At Wage Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—John L. Lewis will be first to bat among the nation's top labor and industry spokesmen at a Wage Stabilization Board three-day conference beginning Wednesday.

Lewis is due to lead off the succession of meetings with Cyrus S. Ching and the wage board at a midtown hotel Wednesday morning. Lewis and his 480,000 miners may ask for new wage and welfare fund increases before April 1. That's when their contract with most of the nation's hard and soft coal operators can be re-opened.

That makes what Lewis has to say of prime importance. He could upset the stabilization program before it got established if he chose to make an all out fight now for a new wage boost.

Says U. S. Will

Wherry introduced a resolution to that effect.

Mr. Truman warned the lawmakers that they must take "great decisions" in the months ahead to cope with the global crisis.

pecifically, he called for higher taxes—he did not mention how much higher—changes in the draft law, greater powers to impose wage-price controls, and continued military and economic aid to this country's allies.

It is going to be "a long pull," he said.

Waves of applause rolled up when Mr. Truman mentioned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of a projected 1,000,000-man Western European army, and urged support for the General on his mission. Eisenhower is now in Europe, studying the groundwork for a unified defense setup.

When the President concluded, administration Democrats generally applauded his message as "powerful," "uplifting" and "magnificent." Republicans and Southern Democrats were more restrained.

Rivers-Harbors Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Rep. Miller (R-Md) introduced a bill today to authorize the Secretary of the Army to spend up to $2,000,000 a year on small river and harbor improvement projects, without getting congressional permission for each individual project.

Suggestion Md. Raise $24 Million For Bomb Shelters Under Fire

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—The state's adjutant general today termed as "absurd and ridiculous" a suggestion from federal civil defense authorities that Maryland issue $24,000,000 in bonds for bomb shelters.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord explained to the Board of Public Works that the federal government would match that sum if the state raised its share.

It was the first public indication of how much Maryland was to receive from the $2,250,000 the government has autorized for civil defense shelters for the next two years.

Gov. Lane, presiding at his last board meeting, advised, "Id go awfully, awfully slow.'

The board took no action on the shelters as it came before the body only as a matter of information.

Ambrose Pleads Guilty To Postal Stamp Fraud

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Harold F. Ambrose, 39, former special assistant to the Postmaster General, pleaded quilty today to a $50,000 postal stamp fraud charge.

Assistant United States Attorney Harold Bacon told District Court Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut the government will dismiss another 21 counts of a fraud indictment when Ambrose is sentenced.

Officials claimed that Ambrose may have handled more than $500,000 given him by friends and others who wanted to invest in collectors' stamps that might be resold for a profit.

Couple Robs Bank

McKEESPORT, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP)—A man and woman who flourished pistols held up a woman teller of the Union National Bank today and escaped with a paper bag full of money before other employes and a few customers knew a holdup was in progress.

A bank spokesman said the loot totalled "several thousand dollars."

About 150 couples are expected to attend the dinner. The committee on arrangements includes John R. Vernall, chairman; Russell Minnicks and Charles Pettie.

The class will be in honor of Sylvester C. "Bill" Dietrick, 66, this city, who will leave in the near future to make his home at Moosehaven, Orange Park, Florida, the national home for retired Moose members.

Salary Hike For President Rejected By Kelly Workers

Upon recommendation of the by-laws committee of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, the membership of the union has turned a proposal to increase the salary of down a proposal to increase the salary of the president.

Ralph C. Beard, vice president of the union, also announced that a special meeting will be held Sunday, January 14, at 2 p. m. to nominate and elect seven division chairmen of the union.

Beard also announced that the union is planning to meet with Kelly-Springfield Tire Company officials sometime this week in an effort to arrange for a blood bank.

The labor-management committee at the plant would consider the proposal, Beard said.

Under tentative plans various workers at the plant would have their blood typed and recorded. It would also provide for building up a substantial blood bank for use in emergencies in the area.

With a complete record of the blood types of Kelly workers they could be called upon as donors when needed by fellow workers or their families. The men would also be available as donors in other emergencies, Beard said.

Beard said the union wishes to discuss the matter with the company as it has been found that the best method in such programs is to follow this procedure.

LOOM Wants Yule Cards For Children

If you've been wondering what to do with those old Christmas cards, here's a solution.

Send them to Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, which is collecting them for the United Cerebral Palsy Association. The latter organization uses them in occupational therapy for children afflicted with cerebral palsy.

Lonnie Jarson, governor of Cumberland Lodge, said that it is hoped to collect several large packing cases of cards to ship within two weeks to the headquarters of the association in New York.

"We need bushels of the cards," Karl K Van Meter, executive director of the national group, said.

"Sometimes the children cut out the figures and paste them on sheets of paper. Other children can only handle the cards.

"But the bright colors and attractiveness bring them much sunshine."

Official Of U. S. Chamber Of Commerce To Visit Here

A group of local industrialists will meet with the program advisor for the Southeastern Division of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Chamber offices here.

Harold W. Smith, local manager, said the U. S. Chamber official is Duane Strawbridge, a native of Dallas, Texas, and former associate of the Western Electric Corporation and the Johns-Manville Sales Corporation. In World War II, Strawbridge was an officer in the Merchant Marine and holds a Naval Reserve commission.

Strawbridge joined the staff of the U. S. Chamber a year ago and since has been developing methods to assist local chambers in instituting programs dealing with national problems which have a direct effect upon their community.

As program advisor, a post he assumed January 1, he will work with organizations in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina.

His major responsibility in his new assignment is to assist local groups in the development of national affairs committees which concern themselves with better government, and with special activities and events designed to establish local progress which explain the purposes and functions of the nation's business system, Smith said.

The Red Tide

Red China's forces in Korea followed their long habit of launching offensives on enemy holidays when they opened their big push against the U. S. Eighth Army on New Year's Day. They not only picked a conventional time for this blow. They delivered it according to a tested pattern.

They threw their weight against carefully chosen points in the UN line, sending their troops forward in seemingly endless numbers to overwhelm the defenders at these key places. Again they are resorting to the "human sea" tactics that broke General MacArthur's offensive in November — though this time they took still greater losses because they did not have the advantage of surprise.

The waves of the human sea could not be stopped by mine fields, by barbed wire and machine guns, by artillery concentrations and air attack. There were too many fanatic Chinese for the weapons of the U. S. command to kill. The living kept on, and the greatly outnumbered American forces had to give way.

It is no doubt true that General MacArthur's units are being withdrawn to prepared positions farther back, but censored news dispatches do not reveal whether the retreat is going as planned.

Thus it is again demonstrated that if the Chinese Communists will take awesome losses they can advance. Questions still unanswered are whether they can keep their troops supplied, and whether these hard-bitten soldiers can shrug off the losses they must take if they are to win.

Taxed For Waste

Taxes today take 28 cents of every earned dollar. Of this the federal government takes 21 cents and state and local governments take seven cents. Congress now is devising ways and means of taking still more of the dollar in taxes. States are taking twice as much in taxes as they did 10 years ago.

The average taxpayer isn't aware of all this tax take. Some money is taken out of his pay check. He realizes that he pays property taxes. Occasionally clerks in the stores and at the ticket windows inform him certain excise taxes are added to what he buys.

But the plants that produce consumer goods are taxed to the hilt. They pass these taxes along to the consumer in the form of higher prices. Much of the 28 per cent outgo of the citizen's dollar is in the form of these hidden dollars.

A quarter century ago the federal government was taking less money from the citizen than the other governments. But today the federal government takes 75 per cent of all taxes paid, and the percentage soon will go higher.

No effort is being made by the administration to reduce non-essential government spending. When Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia pointed out how many billions could be saved, President Truman cracked, "I don't think Harry Byrd knows much about the budget." That wasn't funny.

Senator Byrd probably knows more about the budget than any other Senator. But the President's snide remark shows that the White House will not even tolerate a suggestion that waste in government spending should be eliminated.

Emblem Of What?

For nearly five months a San Francisco flagpole flew an unusual emblem. It, or she, was a 25-year-old blonde, described in dispatches as "shapely," with no comment on whether she was goodlooking otherwise. What bothers us is what she stood for.

We know, of course, what we read in the papers. She won some kind of flagpole-sitting championship, a Cadillac and a fur coat, and $7,500 in money that the tax collector will take a good bite out of. We would not have traded places with her, despite the perequisites, so we are willing to grant that she earned her reward.

Serious-minded folk may complain that she produced nothing useful. But she was entertaining the public and advertising a product, both essential elements according to existing standards. We aren't going to cock a snoot at her.

But flagpoles have a definite function. They are made to carry, at a proud height, an emblem that stands for something. Something people are proud of. We know what the blonde flagpole sitter sat for. But what did she stand for?

If we had a blonde we were proud of, we wouldn't fly her from a flagpole. When we look at a flag that belongs to us, it helps to remind us of what we believe in—of what is important in a different sense than blondes are important.

Independence For Libya

Any theory that all the people of the world desire independence and democracy and are fit to assume such responsibilities has still to be supported by logic. Some nationality groups have made comparatively little progress from the savage state, and have no conception of national government as such.

Typical of these groups are the natives of the African territories of Tripolitania, Cirenaica and the Fezzan, which the United Nations has decided are to become the self-government state of Libya not later than January 1, 1952. These territories are large in area and sparsely populated by a generally illiterate people. There are no railroads and only primitive means of communication to join them, and the territories are separated by vast stretches of desert. A start has been made toward a governmental set-up, but the prospects for success are regarded as poor.

Progress toward democracy for backward nations bust of necessity be slow, and must be preceded and accompanied by progress in education. Illiterate peoples need, more than anything else, careful and intelligent leadership. Before they can govern themselves they must be able to undstand what government is.

Health And Wealth

One of the hopeful fields of activity of the United Nations is that of improving health, and the World Health Organization already has achieved some concrete results. Yet discussions at a recent Middle East symposium on tropical diseases indicated that this group, like others which have tackled health problems, is already up against the interrelation between health and wealth.

The health of a people, its economic conditions and its social conditions are interdependent. It often seems obvious that economic conditions would be better if health could be improved, or vice versa. Yet one cannot be attained simply by striving for the other. All must be improved together, to obtain lasting gains.

Simple Arthritis Aids

THE NEW hormones now given in the treatment of arthritis have led to many dramatic incidents. Individuals bedridden for years are bouncing around in a miraculous fashion. They are not cured but delighted to be free from pain and able to get about. Imagine what this means to the breadwinner of a large family who was resigned to a life of complete disability.

These drugs are wonderful but their use is limited. They do not work, for example, in osteoarthritis which develops in oldsters as a result of wear and tear. Furthermore, ACTH and cortisone are tricky to administer and serious complications may follow their use unless the physician is familiar with all the pitfalls. Hence in this form of disease we call upon all the old remedies to help ease distress.

Rest is essential. This means more sleep than is necessary to maintain body resistance. Rest of the affected part is equally important. A common fallacious statement is, "If I don't keep moving, I'll stiffen up." This practice has destroyed more knee joints than it has helped because with each step the inflamed and swollen parts bear the weight of the body. Pressure can be diminished by using cane or crutches or by staying off the feet entirely during the acute attack. But remaining motionless in bed may be just as harmful as overexertion. A happy medium is attained by bending the knees while lying in bed or asking someone to support the legs while mild exercise is attempted.

Heat is the most popular method of obtaining relief. A hot bath for five to 20 minutes offers an excellent means of treating several joints at one time. The water can be warmed gradually to 100 degrees F. The temperature may be measured with a bath thermometer, which is an inexpensive and indispensable device in the home of any arthritic. When a foot or hand is involved a bucket of warm water is just as effective.

Many victims are impressed with the value of the whirlpool bath but find the equipment too expensive to buy. An old washtub into which a stream of water can be directed via a hose often works just as well. The temperature of the water should vary between 100 and 110 degrees F. and the apparatus can be employed for 30 minutes once or twice daily. A paraffin bath for an inflamed wrist or ankle is another home remedy. Paraffin is melted into a liquid and the extremity is dipped into the substance until a good coating forms. This procedure is most advantgeous subsequent to an ordinary heat treatment because the many layers of paraffin hold the heat, thus prolonging the beneficial effects.

• — • — •

The electric heating pad, hot water bottle or infra-red lamp can be employed day after day. Care must be taken not to burn the skin; and petrolatum jelly should be applied to prevent mottling. Massage and exercise are easy to do at home. Massage is most valuable after a heat treatment and exercise is less painful and more efficious when it follows both these maneuvers. There is no place for "rough stuff" in the management of arthritis. Stroking and kneading should be gentle. A formal routine of gymnastics is unnecessary. Furthermore, many individuals obtain adequate muscular activity thru their regular work. Operating a sewing machine with a foot pedal will strength feet, ankles, and knees. Loom weaving, sewing, and doing the dishes help the elbows, shoulders, and back. It is the little things that count.

TOMORROW: The depressed person needs help.

SWEET TASTE

G. T. R. writes: Whenever I develop a sweet taste in my mouth, the tongue becomes blistered and sore. Have you any idea what causes this pecular condition?

REPLY

Apparently the taste buds are affected during the development of the canker sores. This creates a sensation in the brain that is interpreted as "sweet."

LUNG MALIGNANCY

L. P. writes: What is the first sign of cancer of the lung?

A persistent cough may be the earliest manifestation. Chest discomfort and blood streaked sputum are other manifestations. The diagnosis can be made in the early stages thru X-ray, sputum studies, bronchoscope, and biopsy.

No. In my opinion, moaning is a less noisy variation of snoring and is not related to the feeling of well being.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Democratic senators came out of their first secret caucus of the new Congressional session determined to fight back against unfair, below-the-belt political campaigning such as the fake photo featuring a chummy conversation between Senator Tydings and Communist Earl Browder.

Senatorial backs were stiffened by Clint Anderson of New Mexico, who urged them to make a test issue of the Maryland Senatorial campaign which defeated Tydings. While the same vicious type of campaign had been waged in other states, Anderson said, only in Maryland was there direct evidence that the candidate himself, GOP John Butler, had participated.

"All you boys will be under this sort of attack if you don't do something about it," warned the New Mexico Senator. Showing the Senators the phony, composite picture of Tydings and Browder, Anderson continued:

"Now I have seen a picture of a very wonderful member of the United States Senate who had visited Biklni and had gone bathing in the surf, very scantily attired. It would be a simple process to take his outstretched hand and place the hand of a lewd woman in his, against the backdrop of a South Sea isle. That's what this type of campaigning is coming to," Anderson argued.

Connally Next

Then he turned to Tom Connally of Texas and said: "You know, Senator Connally, the campaign is already on down in Texas to prove you are a Communist coddler, because you didn't stand up against Dean Acheson."

Turning to Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, he remarked: "In the Maryland campaign, Tydings was charged with the loss of American lives in Korea. In the future that sort of comment and criticism, no matter how unfair and unjust, will be heaped on Senator Russell who is taking Tydings' place as chairman of the Armed Services Committee."

At this point, Connecticut's Sen. Brien McMahon waved a copy of "Common Sense," a fascist publication which had been used in the campaign against him. One headline screamed: "McMahon—Communist Dupe," and the article under it inferred that the Senator was guilty of treason and had helped to leak atomic secrets to the Russians—both viciously untrue.

"I beat it boys, but maybe you can't in 1952," McMahon warned.

Iowa's Sen. Guy Gillette, chairman of the Elections Subcommittee, reported that his committee had just uncovered some last-minute information on Butler's finances that "revealed a scandalous situation" in Maryland. He explained that the investigation wasn't far enough along to bar Butler from taking his seat, but that the Senate parliamentarian had advised the committee that Butler could be ousted later by a majority vote.

NOTE—The tabloid featuring the fake Tydings-Browder photo was held in a Baltimore print shop until Jean Kerr, secretary to Senator McCarthy, brought $2,400 in checks to the printer to pay for distribution. Later Don Surine, McCarthy's assistant, took the Baltimore printer, William H. Fedder, for an all-night ride in an attempt to make him surrender a letter from candidate Butler which appeared to be in violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

High Cost Of Politics

In Pennsylvania, Senator Anderson also pointed out, an estimated $2,000,000 had been spent in the Senatorial campaign. "However, the cost of living has gone up in politics," he added, "and it wasn't spent for slanderous literature." Anderson also remarked that the "campaign in Utah was as vicious as the one against Tydings," that "horrible publications" were put out against Elbert Thomas, but that there was no evidence the successful candidate, Wallace Bennett, had directed this campaign.

In reply to newspaper comment that Southerners might not agree to bar Butler of Maryland on the grounds of states' rights, Anderson quoted a speech by Senator George of Georgia on Jan. 17, 1928, when he opposed the seating of Senator Vare of Pennsylvania on the ground that it was up to Congress to pass upon its own membership and that the states had given permission for Congress to investigate federal elections.

After Anderson finished quoting him, George took the floor and recalled having made the 1928 speech. He also added that he hasn't changed his mind.

"We shouldn't pass on the Maryland case by early and one-sided arguments, but we have an obligation to look into it," advised George.

Tydings Bows Out

Senator Tydings himself finally took the floor at the end of the secret caucus. He insisted that he would not contest the election, that he had spent 28 years in Congress, was tired, and deserved a rest. He remarked, however, that he had been swamped with letters and telegrams from Maryland voters who had voted against him, but had changed their minds after learning what had actually happened.

"These messages clearly indicate that if the election were held tomorrow, I would sweep the state," declared Tydings. But he insisted again that "unless stern duty demands, I do not intend to go back into government."

By the time the caucus wound up, not a voice was raised against the idea of making the Maryland case an example.

NOTE — Anderson and Gillette both charged in the secret caucus that Senator McCarthy, Chicago Tribune, Washington Times-Herald and radio commentator Fulton Lewis had "actively participated" in the smear campaign.

The swanky new upholstery in the House chamber—brown leather seats on the floor, plush divans in the cloakrooms — doesn't impress plain-talking GOP Rep. Usher Burdick of North Dakota. . . . "Don't let this stuff fool you," Burdick tells colleagues. "These new seats will be just as hard to hang on to as the old ones when election day rolls around." . . . Real boss of the House in the new Congress is not Speaker Sam Rayburn, who nominally holds the reins, but Rep. Howard "Wing-collar" Smith of Virginia, who cracks the whip over the Dixiecrat-GOP coalition. . . . Able, sober-sided Rep. Jere Cooper of Tennessee caused chuckles of House Democrats with this barb at his Illinois colleague, Adolph Sabath, whose 44 years in the House is the longest in history "The gentleman is a newcomer, so I hope you boys will help him to find his way around till he learns the ropes."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Timetable Problem

WASHINGTON—ONE simple fact is enough to give an air of vague unreality, alike to Senator Taft's foreign policy speech, and to the program President Truman will now present to Congress. The Yugoslav government is now actively preparing for an attack in the spring, either by the encircling ring of Kremlin's satellites, or by the Soviet Army itself.

After a dreadful famine, with insufficient American aid really to relieve them, the Yugoslavs now sorely need a period of relaxation, a short indulgence in butter before guns. Even before the famine, when one of these correspondents saw him last year, Marshal Tito strongly insisted on the need to ease the hard lot of his people. Instead, the grimmest sacrifices are now being made to put the country in a state of military readiness. And this is being done, despite his former view, on the order of Marshal Tito himself.

The incalculable strategic significance of an attack on Yugoslavia is a subject that must be covered in a separate report. The reason why the Yugoslav decision to get ready for war in the spring is a commentary on Taft and Truman, is because it speaks volumes about the timetable of the Soviet imperialist program.

Senator Taft talked as though we had a year or so to debate the issue of the Kremlin's world-program of aggression, and could then meet the threat without ever making any commitments entailing any serious risk. The Truman preparedness program, if advance reports are correct, is still based on the thesis that the final showdown with the Kremlin can at least be deferred for twenty-four months or so.

But Marshal Tito, who has every domestic reason to pursue the opposite policy, and should know the ways of the Kremlin better than any other leader this side of the Iron Curtain, is getting ready for war in April or May. No one in his senses can suppose that the final show-down with the Kremlin can be deferred for very long, after the fighting has thus spread to the heart of Europe. In short, if Tito is correct, Truman's program is dimly inadequate, and Taft is living in a sort of cosy dream.

This is an experience that we in America have had before. Anyone who follows public affairs must recall the spates of soothing syrup that poured out of the White House, the State Department and the Defense Department at the time of the Soviet atomic bomb explosion. "None of the fundamental facts in the situation were changed," the country was assured. "The principles of American policy would remain exactly the same," so the word went out.

But on that day in September, 1949, one thing did change most radically—the timetable of Soviet action. The change in the Soviet timetable in turn made nonsense of the whole accepted American program and policy. What was planned was still on the right lines, but in the light of the new Soviet timetable, everything that was planned became ridiculously too little and hopelessly too late. And so we came to the critical situation in which we find ourselves today.

The same sort of choice confronts this country now. Obviously Marshall Tito may be dead wrong in his estimate of the Kremlin's intentions. Obviously, the Chinese attack on Korea may not mean what it appears to mean, although it was General Douglas MacArthur himself who said in October, "there is no danger of Chinese intervention, unless the Kremlin is now preparing to risk a general war." Obviously the intelligence may be wrong in predicting an early onslaught upon Indo-China, and more recently in even suggesting the possibility of an attack on Hong Kong—which would mean that the Kremlin and Peking are really shooting the moon.

Betting On Chance

But the question is not whether there is a chance of a happier outcome. The question is, rather, whether it is safe to base national policy on a simple gamble on that chance. Marshall Tito, making his suffering people go without in order to have guns, evidently thinks it is insanely unsafe to bet on such a fortunate chance. For the present at any rate, the leadership in Washington is actually betting on it.

The reason is plain enough. Getting ready for trouble in 1951 involves a staggering program, in-

Sen. Taft Gives Truman Leadership Opportunity

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—The logical sequel to the speech made by Senator Taft of Ohio, Republican, is for President Truman to accept the challenge in it and ask Congress to adopt a resolution authorizing the President to send our armed forces wherever the obligations of the United Nations charter may so require.

If the United States has any doubts or hesitancy about carrying out the moral obligations of the charter, other nations which have recently been criticized for not bearing their fair share of the armament burden can scarcely be blamed for similar reluctance.

The Taft speech offers this country an unexampled oportunity to make up its mind as to the method of which its military policy shall be carried out under our constitutional system.

Senator Taft's speech — whether one agrees with it in whole or in part—reflects a substantial sentiment of dissatisfaction throughout the country and as such cannot be regarded as merely a partisan speech or the criticism of a partisan. Such criticism can only be met by the fullest kind of debate.

Some Inconsistencies

The Ohio Senator's address contains a number of inconsistencies. This in itself is not strange, for the administration's policies have been characterized by the same thing.

Where Mr. Taft goes off base, however, is in his readiness, on the one hand, to agree that we must fight Russia if her armies sweep across Continental Europe because our obligations under the Atlantic Pact require us to defend our Continental allies and his reluctance, on the other hand, to send many troops to Europe now.

What really is bothering Senator Taft is military strategy—not foreign policy. He concedes that when we do fight we must help our allies of Europe and that we cannot forsake them now. He agrees that we must defend Britain now and also any other areas overseas where we may need bases for air power. But when it comes to setting up the right defense against an agressor he expresses doubt whether we should send our armies to Continental Europe where they could be overrun by the Soviet forces. He offers advice that amounts to a fatal caution, if not defeatism. To notify Russia now that Continental Europe would not be defended is to invite attack. To say that Britain can be defended solely by sea and air power is to say that we would be willing to let France and Germany be thrown into the arms of the Communists. The industrial strength of Germany in particular when added to what Russia already controls would give her an arsenal in which to build supplies to destroy Britain.

What is needed today is a considered judgment by the best military leaders on the whole allied side. What they may say is the minimum military requirement it is our moral and legal obligation to supply. General Eisenhower has gone to Europe to determine this very thing.

Many Sound Points

To argue that this is expensive is to put dollars ahead of human life. Where survival is the basic issue the amount of or the extent of the inflation resulting from excessive debt is not to be considered. Senator Taft's questioning of the Truman policy of failing to consult Congress for authority to do what he has been doing is 100 per cent right. Likewise, in Taft's plea for a plan to aid undergrounds and other forces that might be willing to harass the Soviet regimes in the various satellite countries is also sound advice. Indeed, there are many points in the Taft speech that could well be taken to heart by the Administration.

Fundamentally, moreover, there is every reason why the Congress should be asked to pass upon important steps of national policy. To do so is to require members of the legislative body to stand up and be counted. Likewise, the world has a right to know whether under our divided constitutional system the President is speaking for the country or for his own political party only or for an arbitrary course which the Constitution forbids him to take. For only Congress can declare war.

Certainly the operations in Korea are such that Congressional authority for action there seems desirable. Had the President done this last July he would have been given the necessary authority without hesitation. He can get such a vote now even with the debate which in itself will help to clear the air. If the President chooses to ignore the Congress he will be forfeiting a magnificent opportunity for leadership and he will miss the chance to forge a real unity in this country and the free world.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Trend Toward Socialism

I WAS recently shocked to discover a lad who believed in a restoration of what he called "laissez-faire capitalism." The term meant nothing to me, as such a form of capitalism has never existed and was, at most, a figment of the imagination. The means for earning money have in some measure always been controlled, to a greater or lesser degree, and the right of investment and expenditure has been limited either by social pressure or government or religious interdicts. Taxes have always been a limiting factor.

However, the very use of the term after three wars in one generation strikes me as being akin to those theologians who are still fighting the 17th Century religious wars. Some things simply do not belong to the times. As a matter of fact, when we actually reach Mr. Truman's budget of $90,000,000,000, we shall be reduced to an increasing socialism.

I could not help noting in this connection two interesting paragraphs, by Paul W. Dickson, in a study of "Compensation and Pensions of Executives," written for the National Industrial Conference Board:

"A generation or so ago the successful manager was very handsomely rewarded. He often acquired a considerable equity in the company, and usually shared in its profits. Today, he is often just a very important employe, with little or no financial stake in the company. So there is much greater emphasis on the salary of an executive than in the past, especially since the payment of bonuses has been closely circumscribed. Perhaps more important to the average high executive are the impact of federal personal income taxes and the decline in the value of the dollar. To illustrate, a $50,000 salary in 1940 was reduced by the income tax to $36,259 for a man with two children.

In 1950, this salary, after taxes, amounted to only $20,492 in 1940 dollars.

"As the executive moves up he accepts ever-heavier responsibilities. As his salary goes up he finds that he is working three days a week for Uncle Sam instead of two, with only a negligible advance in his own 'take home.' In assuming the heavier responsibilitines he can hardly be interested in the financial reward, but rather in the added prestige an din the challenge of a bigger job."

In 1951, that salary will be cut to even less. The man who does not earn $50,000 naturally does not feel very sorry for the man who does. But he also does not have the other man's preparations and qualifications and headaches, nor the other man's social responsibilities.

The question for the executive is whether it is worth his while to assume so much for so little compention.

Some men like honors and dignities and find compensation enough in that. Some men have a sense of public service and find compensation in the opportunity to perform it. But the money compensation—the opportunity to accumulate, to save, to invest, to leave an estate for children and grandchildren—that is gone in this country except for a favored few.

The favored few need to be described:

1. Racketeers: Their opportunities are plentiful. They earn their money by high adventure, risking liberty and life. Most of them do not report their earnings to the Treasury, but make heavy contributions to campaign funds of politicians and depend upon fixes to keep them out of jail.

2. Black and gray marketeers: This is an amazing crew of businessmen who deal in scarce commodities. We shall soon see them in the automobile business again. As long as the automobile companies fail to print in their advertisements the retail price of cars—even the F.O.B. Detroit price—they aid and abet these pirates, many of whom demand cash bonuses for their wares. These bonuses, under-the-counter or over-the-counter, are not reported for tax purposes. The man who does this is, of course, a thief but does not suffer social opprobrium.

3. Professional men and others who receive cash payments and report what they like.

4. Labor leaders who do not have to account for the use they make of what should be public funds.

5. Thieving politicians who accept bribes for permitting violations of the law.

6. Those who still possess inherited wealth.

Those who fit these categories only suffer the consequences of depreciated currency, which they often manage to hedge against. The rest of us are being socialized by taxation.

Which teenagers of today will be the models and beauties of tomorrow? Study habits can be a determining factor!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

PITY you poor teenager with everybody nagging at you about the way you slump! If sympathy will get better results, I'll be the first to admit that the fault is not all yours.

You don't ask to spend several hours nightly bent over homework, do you? Yet, most of your posture difficulties begin right there at your desk. What would you say to solving both your algebra and posture problems without doing any extra work? Here are the snap ways to do it:

Not Found In Books

1. Never sprawl over your desk or recline on your bed while you study. Sit tall as you can in a comfortable, straight-backed chair. If your desk is too low for you, ask your father to have it raised to the correct height by placing wooden blocks under the legs. (He won't think it's any trouble, believe me.) If your desk is too high, ask your mother to buy a hard cushion for your chair. (She'll run, not walk to the nearest store.)

2. Remember, no beauty ever has a head that juts forward on a curved neck. Make certain that your light is adequate so you don't have to read with the "end of your nose." Hold the book up instead of bending over it.

3. To make sure you won't have hips that look ten sizes too big, watch how you carry your books between classes. Beware of shelfing them on your abdomen!

No Lopsided Figures

Avoid developing a lopsided looking figure as a result of carrying your books in the same arm all the time. To make sure you don't constantly favor one arm, why not start a new style for carrying books? Something like a wide Scotch plaid leash should turn the trick and the trend.

4. Since all figure beauty and grace in movement stems from posture, guarantee the future of yours by signing up for some sport that will work like mad for you while all you do is have fun. Archery is good for shoulders, riding for the back, and swimming for all-round problems.

5. Look alive! Your posture reflects your state of mind. If you maintain an alert outlook, your mirror will tell you that you are getting results!

P. S. from J. R. P.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Roberta Peters lives her own thrilling Cinderella story again on the screen for Wald and Krasna — and surely I don't have to jog your memory that Roberta is the girl who, with just five hours notice, stepped in and sang "Don Giovanni" for ailing Nadine Conner. Result—the Metropolitan Opera customers and the critics went crazy for her.

Rex Harrison

Norman Krasna has written her story under the title of "Debut" and nothing could be truer. The 19-year-old songbird, daughter of a Bronx shoe salesman, had never before appeared in public before her thrilling rush onto the Met stage.

Joe Rivkin, contact man between Wald and Krasna and Miss Peters, says she will be in Hollywood the first week in February for screen tests—but the picture won't be shot until summer.

• — • — •

This rumor I heard while passing through Chicago: That Gabriel Pascal is putting Rex Harrison into "Androcles and the Lion" with Jean Simmons and Jose Ferrer. Hard to believe that Harrison is being brought back to make a picture considering what he said against Hollywood and Hollywood people in London including Darryl Zanuck, this writer, and many others—all published in a British magazine.

However, I hear that Pascal, who is always unpredictable, has rights under his contract with RKO to cast his picture, and that Harrison was signed previous to the deal with the studio.

I doubt if Lynn Bari needs a picture job to help her forget her break-up with Sid Luft. She shed nary a tear when she divorced him and his constant appearances with Judy Garland seem to mean nothing to her.

But Lynn gets a movie, anyway—her first in a long-time—as the mother of Joan Evans in "On The Loose"—Ida Lupino's and Collier Young's modern Miss Opus. Lynn gets an extra break with Charlie Lederer to direct her. My money says he will be as good a director as he is a writer.

• — • — •

Just when everyone is convinced that Marie Wilson and Garwood Van are falling for each—Marie up and steps out several times in a row with Allan Nixon, whom she so recently divorced. The ink's still wet on their Las Vegas decree.

Like Linda Darnell stepping out with Pev Marley—Marie says she has no intention of reconciling with Allan. But how can anyone tell what will happen in these Hollywood marriages?

I understand Gar Van is very much in love with Marie and very upset she has been seeing her ex again.

Snapshots of Hollywood and Chicago collected at random:

Pretty Sharman Douglas and Michael Wilding listening to the hot music at the Cafe Gala.

June Haver's down with that old debbil virus—a very bad case.

The Stephen McNally's have removed all locks on their inside doors ever since their two-year-old son, Terry, locked himself in the bathroom, filled the tub and was almost drowned before his nurse revived him.

Ella Rains, so upset over reports that all is not well between her and Major Robin Olds, she's flying east to be with him next week.

Gertie Niesen is devoting all her time to her mother who has been ill since the sad passing of her husband, Monte, just before the holidays.

John Barrymore, Jr., surprising diners at the Kings by singing (and well) arias from "The Student Prince" accompanied by Pianist Morty Jacobs. He didn't inherit his voice from his father who could barely carry a tune.

Eve Arden has asked permission of the immigration authorities to bring here for three months a 10-year-old Frencn war orphan she adopted.

Where is Nicky Hilton? Supposed to be hiding away from it all at his father's hotel in Chihuahua, Mexico,—Nicky hasn't been near the place. This comes straight from a pal who has just returned from there.

Liz Scott takes herself back to San Francisco this week. Herb Caen, the columnist, is the attraction—and attractive, too.

Dickie Jones, former child star, expects his second child in April.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

The most ancient land masses in the world are the Great Smoky mountains, estimated more than 350 million years old.

LaSalle-Fort Hill Clash Tonight; AHS Beats Ridgeley, 56-49

Explorers Are Hosts In 30th Tilt Of Series

Sentinels Win First Five; 14 Other Games Scheduled Tonight

The 30th meeting of LaSalle's Explorers and Fort Hill's Sentinels in basketball is set for tonight at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Fort Hill is one of the three unbeaten scholastic teams in the tri-state district and takes a 5-0 record into tonight's game. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit seems to be much better off than LaSalle when it comes to reserve power. The Hilltoppers also pack a pretty good scoring wallop with a 53-point average against such good clubs as Hagerstown, Moorefield, the Alumni, Martinsburg and Davis.

Explorers Beat A.H.S.

LaSalle will be engaging in its 8th game of the campaign, having won five and lost two. Both of LaSalle's defeats came away from home with Altoona Catholic and Barton turning the trick. The most impressive win credited to Art Slocum's club was a 35-34 decision over Allegany High at Campobello. Other victories were registered over Bruce, Beall, Paw Paw and St. Joseph's. LaSalle's average is 37 points per game.

This game should attract a large crowd to the West Side court.

In the 29 games played in this series, LaSalle holds a 15-14 edge in wins. But the Explorers have not whipped the Scarlet and White since 1947. Before Fort Hill was built, LaSalle and Penn Avenue High met 20 times with the latter winning 12 and losing 8 games. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh has been coach of South End teams since the Penn Avenue-LaSalle series started in 1927.

Fred "Tack" Clark and Bob Pence will officiate.

Barton Seeks Seventh

Barton's undefeated quint will go after its 7th victory of the campaign tonight when it plays Hyndman High in a return game at the Community Center in Hyndman. Coach Johnny Thomas holds a 60-26 decision over the Pennsylvanians who are having a basketball team for the first time.

Central High of Lonaconing, the third undefeated quint in the district, will be striving to make it eight in a row tonight when it tackles the Elks of Elk Garden High School on the West Virginians' court. Coach Johnny Meyers' Tigers defeated Elk Garden in the series opener, 45-31.

Four P.V.C. Contests

There are four games on tap in the Potomac Valley Conference tonight.

"Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions (2-0) play John Shelton's Keyser High quint (2-1) at Piedmont. Davis High's Wildcats (2-1) play hosts to Circleville High's Indians (1-2) at Davis. Davis won the first game, 35-34. Romney's Pioneers (1-3) invade Petersburg to test Walt Owens' Petersburg High Vikings (3-1) and Capon Bridge plays the first of 10 games in the P.V.C. when it tackles the Warriors at Wardensville High School.

Other games on tonight's card include:

Carver at Stoystown, Pa.
Bruce at Fort Ashby
Parsons at Kasson, W. Va.
Oakland at Friendsville
Franklin at Harman
Frostburg Teachers' Jayvees at Beall
Thomas at Moorefield
Frostburg Teachers College at California (Pa.) Teachers College.

Samuel Riddle, Noted Turfman, Taken By Death

Man O'War's Owner Dies At Age Of 89

MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP)—Samuel D. Riddle, 89, turfman and owner of America's most famous race horse, Man O' War, died today at his estate in Glen Riddle, near Media.

Riddle was the second prominent horse owner to die within two weeks. Warren Wright, owner of the Calumet farm, died Dec. 28.

Samuel Riddle

Riddle grew up in the foxhunting country of Delaware and Chester counties, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, and was a devotee of the turf and horse racing for three-quarters of a century.

Of all his horses, Man O' War, was his pride. "Big Red," who died in 1947, set five racing records and earned Riddle $249,465 in two years of racing.

Riddle bought Man O' War for $5,000 and then watched him win 20 of 21 races, losing only to a horse named Upset in one of the greatest upsets in racing history.

Man O'War never entered the Kentucky Derby but one of his offspring, War Admiral, won the Derby in 1937.

In addition to Man O' War and War Admiral, Riddle owned many famous horses, including Clyde Van Dusen, 1929 Derby winner; Battleship, winner of the Grand National at Aintree, England, in 1938; Crusader, War Hero, American Flag, Edith Cavell and War Glory.

Riddle's Delaware County property has remained in the family possession for more than a century. There the "Laird of Glen Riddle" lived with his wife, the former Elizabeth Dodson, until her death in 1942.

Riddle is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Lee, New York; nephews Homer Lee and Leander Lee, her sons, and a niece, Jennie Maxwell, who was with Riddle when he died.

Funeral services will be held (at 3 p. m.) Thursday at the Middletown Presbyterian Church in Middletown Township, near Media. Interment will be private.

Leo Mackey of Pittsburgh, manager of Cumberland's last team in organized baseball (the Colts of 1932) has been appointed a full-time scout by the Chicago Cubs.

Mackey piloted the Dobbins in 1931 and 1932 when the local Middle Atlantic League club was a New York Yankee "farm."

The 1931 team won the league championship by defeating Charleston (W. Va.) Senators in the playoffs.

Members of that championship team were Dom Palement, Max Posnak, Augie Daviu, Jakie McCloy, Pat Shea, Bernie Connell, Daniel "Buddy" Hall, Bill Salamone, Art Graham, Bob Synnott, Marvin "Lefty" Duke, Vito Tamulis, William "Chip" Helmick and Jimmie Densmore. "Farmer" Eshelman was the bat boy.

Nelson W. Russler was president of the club.

Mackey also managed Johnstown and Akron in the M. A. loop and Butler and McKeesport in the Penn State Association. He scouted for the Pittsburgh Pirates until several years ago.

Carroll Michael, sharpshooting forward of Walt Owens' Petersburg High School Vikings, has taken over the lead in the Potomac Valley Conference basketball scoring race by a single point over George Fisher of Moorefield, 1950 champion.

Michael banged in 31 markers at Circleville Friday night and sent his season's total soaring to 87 points. He has scored 31 field goals and 25 foul goals.

Fisher is now runner-up with 86 points while Larry Landes of Petersburg has squeezed into third place with 70 tallies.

Art Slocum, LaSalle High cage mentor, who was a member of the famed Keyser Collegians back in the 1920s, says the Original Celtics of New York, comprising George "Horse" Haggerty, Elmer Ripley Nat Holman, Chris Leonard, Johnny Beckman, Henry "Dutch" Dehnert and John "Pete" Barry was the best pro basketball team he has ever seen or played against.

Three of the old Collegians still live in Keyser—Dyke Shaffer, Clem Montgomery and Slocum. Mangrum's 280 Wins Tourney In California

Ransom 2nd With 281, Snead Finishes 3rd

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum won the $15,000 Los Angeles open for the second time with a brilliant sub-par performance that sank pace-setting, pressure-stricken Henry Ransom in the final round today.

Lloyd Mangrum

Mangrum, former National Open champion and winner here in 1949, knocked out a four under par 67 to go with previous rounds of 73-70-70 and rack up a 72-hole total of 280.

The dashing Texas-born professional wound up the silver anniversary edition of the Los Angeles open with a one-stroke margin over Ransom, who had led through the second and third rounds.

His early 67 in the final round put the pressure squarely on the shoulders of Ransom, a seasoned campaigner who also learned his golf in Texas and now plays out of St. Andrews, Ill. The load was too much for Henry.

Ransom took the lead at the end of the second round by a four stroke margin, and held a three-stroke lead starting out today's final round. Mangrum, however, was five shots back of Ransom when play got underway this morning and given slight chance for the top money.

At the end of the first nine, Mangrum had closed the gap to two strokes. He finished with a typical Mangrum shot—a pitch from 18 feet out on the eighteenth green.

The victory was worth $2,600 to Mangrum, and Ransom drew down $1,900.

Snead, who just yesterday admitted that he was playing with a broken bone in his left hand, finished with a 73 for a 285 total and third place. He left before the windup and asked that his check for $1,350 be sent to his home at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He stayed up with par for nine holes today but slipped on the turn for home.

Middlecoff, who was tied with Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N. Y., this morning, three strokes behind Ransom, matched Ford's disappointing 77 today. Both finished with 288, along with Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles, who had a sparkling 68.

Young Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., another erstwhile dark horse contender, shot a 76 for 289, and one stroke back at 290 were Leland Gibson, Kansas City, with a 73 today, and former national amateur champion Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., with 73.

Phares, Sisk Get 37 Points, Campers Shake Losing Jinx

Carl Hartman Scores 24 Points For Hawks

Allegany High School divorced a four-game losing streak last night by taking the measure of Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks in Ridgeley by the score of 56 to 49.

The win was the first for the Campers since December 15 when they spilled Westmont High of Johnstown here.

Coach Ralph Poling's outfit outscored the Bowersmen in the first and final periods but the damage had been done by the Blue and White in the other two stanzas.

Eversole Turns Tide

Ridgeley held a 10-8 lead at the quarter but a field goal by Frank Phares and a free throw by the AHS center tied it up at 12-12 and 13-13 in the second period. A set shot by Junior Eversole broke the last tie and the Campobello quint was never headed. Four foul goals by Phares and one by Ronnie Lease gave AHS a 7-point advantage at 20-13. Carl Hartman racked up a double-decker and foul for the Hawks but Dick Widdows and Ronnie Sisk counted from the field to make it 24-16 at intermission.

Sisk collected eight points and Phares registered four as the Campers boosted their total to 40 in the third heat while Ridgeley reached 28.

Ridgeley made a great bid to pull the game out of the fire in the final heat and succeeded in narrowing Allegany's margin to four points at 52-48 with a minute to go. In the closing 40 seconds Lease and Phares scored from the field and Ronnie Abe sank a free throw for the home team.

Allegany lost Eversole on personal fouls 15 seconds after the fourth quarter started. Dick Widdows fouled out 20 seconds before the final whistle.

Hartman Gets 24 Points

Carl Hartman was the game's top scorer with nine field goals, 6 of 10 fouls and 24 points. He registered 10 points in the final heat in which AHS was outscored 21-16. Abe played a nice floor game.

The combined efforts of Phares and Sisk netted AHS 37 markers. Phares had 21 points and Sisk 16.

Phares supplanted Doug Connolly of LaSalle as the city's top scorer by upping his total points to 85. Connolly had 69. Sisk took 3rd place with 65.

AHS held a 19-17 edge in field goals and scored 18 foul shots to Ridgeley's 15. Lineups:

Mah Heavens Pays $179.60

Chombro, 14-1 Shot, Also Wins At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—Gleeson and Litwin's Chombro, an outsider at $30.80, was a surprise winner of the Zinganee purse, one of the better races on the stakeless program at Tropical Park today.

Charging through the stretch with a fine rally, the gray gelding nosed out Mrs. J. Kelley's Sedgeview, the favorite, in one of the most interesting finishes of the meeting. Third in the field of 10 middle-distance performers was W. L. Huntley's Whirling World. Pay Window, the second choice, broke poorly and never could improve his position.

Chombro, ridden by Tom Barrow, went over the mile and a sixteenth in 1.45 2-5. This was the gelding's second triumph in four local appearances, having taken a sprint race on Dec. 12.

After the race, Harry Carr, jockey to King George VI of England, and Tommy Goslin, who rides for Winston Churchill, presented Chombro's owners with a silver trophy in the winner's circle. The visiting British jockeys were guests of the Gables Association. Among those to greet them was Jockey Ted Atkinson, who will launch his 1951 campaign on Blinker Light in the seventh race tomorrow.

The cold weather bolstered the Monday attendance to 10,018. It was ideal for racing, but unfavorable for the beach trade. The betting also was on the bullish side.

Jockey Herb Lindberg was slightly injured when thrown by Sweet Orphan while at the gate for the fifth race. His knee was scraped and his leg muscles tightened to such an extent that he was unable to ride the horse. W. M. Cook was substituted on the 60 to 1 shot. The winner of the race proved to be Lawful, $6.00, handled by Jimmy Picou.

Victory Stable's Unpredictable Mah Heavens, running well for a change, upset all calculations by winning the fourth race at the lucious odds of $179.60, $54.20 and $19.20 for $2.

Walker Is Named To Replace Fleet

Farmer Is Appointed To Game Commission

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—Governor Lane today appointed W. Desmond Walker, Prince George's county farmer, to the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

Walker replaces A. Gordon Fleet, former board chairman, who resigned last week. His term runs until May, 1954.

The appointment does not require senate confirmation.

Fleet, an accountant at the navy's engineering station here, was appointed a member of the commission in June, 1940, and became board chairman 18 months ago.

Walker's appointment was recommended by Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the department, in a letter to the governor last Thursday.

Walker, 47, owns and operates a 600-acre farm near Mitchellville, on which he practices wildlife management. He is a Democrat.

In submitting his resignation, Fleet said the defense emergency has complicated his civilian job and leaves him little time for the commission.

Doyle Expelled By Ohio State For Low Grades

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 8 (AP)—Ohio State University has expelled halfback Richard (Skip) Doyle for low grades—second such dismissal for a buckeye athlete in the past week.

Doyle told the university this afternoon that he would apply for permission to attend school again in the spring quarter.

The avowed intention to seek admission once more to the college of commerce spiked a story published by the Ohio State Lantern, campus daily newspaper, that Doyle had enrolled at the University of Miami (Florida). Doyle's expulsion was confirmed today by school officials.

All-America Vic Janowicz, close friend of Doyle off the football field, also was dropped by Ohio State for the winter quarter on the basis of low grades. Doyle is Janowicz' understudy on the Buckeye football squad.

Janowicz also applied for readmission to the college of commerce.

Collegiate Boxing Commissioner Quits

CLEMSON, S. C., Jan. 8 (AP)—Bob Jones, Clemson College's boxing coach, resigned today as commissioner of the Southern Inter-Collegiate Boxing Association. The resignation is effective immediately.

Jones said he resigned because of the press of other duties.

Kit Fitzsimmons, of the University of South Carolina, who is assistant commissioner, automatically becomes commissioner. The association is composed of schools of the Southern and Southeastern Conferences which have boxing teams.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (INS)—Pessimists may say the human race has improved little, if any, in the last 10,000 years. But if you rely solely on the record books you will have to admit the equine race has improved immensely even in the last 25 years.

Most of the records in the American Racing Manual stood the assault of champions for years and years. Then along came Noor, Citation, Bolero and other nags to wipe the old marks off the books.

Horsemen, stunned by the flock of new world marks, asked themselves if they were seeing a new era of superhorses, and many of them wondered if the horses of today were superior to such phenomenal horses as Man O' War, Count Fleet and other great runners of the past.

For our part, we are inclined to believe that the phenomenal times made on California tracks last year were due more to the fast tracks themselves rather than to the horses.

Golden Gate Park especially must be inlaid with rubber to account for some of the marks. We sat up and took notice when Abe Hirschberg's Bolero ran to a new six furlong record of 1:08 1-5 over the Golden Gate track.

We were particularly surprised because we had seen this same colt, then owned by Arnold Hanger, win only one ordinary race when racing in the east.

The Irish-bred Noor ran a mile and six furlongs out there in a world record 2:52 4-5. This was the same colt which was suddenly beaten here in the east by a good, but by no means sensational colt like the Greentree Stable's One Hitter. And in ordinary time.

Citation, a truly great colt, set a new world mark for the mile at 1:33 3-5. This brings to mind the remark once made by Man O' War's trainer that Big Red, as he was called around the track, could have run a mile in 1:33 if forced.

We remember how horsemen scoffed at that remark at the time but in the light of what has happened last year we are inclined to believe that Big Red could have shaded 1:33 for eight panels if asked the question over the Golden Gate strip, as it is today.

Alf Vanderbilt's three year old filly, Bed O' Roses is a classy little thing, but good as she is she never approached in the east the 1:21 2-5 she hung out for seven furlongs in California.

Then along came Bolero to lower that mark to 1:21 flat for another new world mark.

We think the answer to these phenomenal times lies in the track itself rather than the horses.

We have no wish to low-bridge horses like Noor and Citation. They are spendid animals. But good or even great as they may be they couldn't begin to duplicate their best times on some of the other tracks around the country.

All this leads us to believe that before the year is out every record in the books will be wiped out by horses running over a chain lightning track in California.

Horses for courses? Certainly. And tracks for records.

Guard Jim Donarski of the University of Arizona football team was the only soph named on either the 1950 All-Border Conference first or second teams.

Washington Caps To Disband After Contest Tonight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Washington Capitols of the National Basketball Association will be disbanded after tomorrow night's game in Philadelphia.

The announcement was made by Joe Holman, publicity man for the Caps. He said that the decision was reached after an all-day meeting with Chris Heurich Brewing Company officials.

He said that Mike Uline owner of the Caps, had hoped that the Brewers would buy the club and keep it here. When the final decision was no, Holman said, there was no other choice but to disband the team.

The Capitols, once one of the strongest teams in the league, were in last place in their division. Recently less than 500 fans had shown up for some of their games.

Roby Will Officiate In Pittsburgh Game

Clifton Van Roby of Cumberland and Bob Garbark, brother of Art Garbark, formerly of Cumberland and now of Wheeling, will be the officials for the Duquesne University-LaSalle College (Philadelphia) game tonight at Duquesne Gardens in Pittsburgh.

Duquesne is undefeated in 10 games to date.

In the National Invitation Tournament last year the Iron Dukes eliminated LaSalle, 49-47.

LaSalle will play Geneva College at Beaver Falls, Pa., on Wednesday night.

The goalkeeper, three defensemen and seven forwards on the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey League are former members of the Detroit Red Wings.

Area Residents Receive Federal Income Forms As Filings Begin

Cumberland and area residents are receiving federal income tax forms in prepration for the day of reckoning on March 15.

Farmers and a few others, however, must make an estimate or file a final return by next Monday.

Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the Internal Revenue Bureau here said yesterday the number filing this month has not equalled that of last year, but that the rush has been on since last week.

A deputy collector has been visiting towns in Garrett and Allegany Counties to assist those making returns He was in Oakland yesterday and will be there today. He will be in Accident Wednesday, Stakem said.

Deputies will also assist at various towns in the area when the individual rush starts in February. The schedule will be announced later.

Businesses Have New Form

Stakem emphasized one change in this year's method of filing. Any individual business in making a return must file Schedule C along with the regular Form 1040 which is available at the office in the Postoffice Building.

Forms are being mailed from the Baltimore office to every person who filed a return last year.

The form this year differs only slightly from the one used for 1949 income. In Schedule A on Page 2 of Form 1040, the name and address of the payer of any income from dividends or interest is required.

On Page 3 of the same form, an adjustment has been made in the computation of tax by reducing the credit against the tax. This adjustment was made to take care of the increased tax since October 1, Stakem said. As a result, no segregation is necessary in listing income earned prior to and after October 1 of last year.

Must File January 15

Included in those who must make their final return or estimated return by January 15 are those, subject to witholding, whose wages are in excess of $4,500, plus $600 for each dependent. If the income is not subject to withholding and in excess of $100 and the total over $600, a final return or estimate is also necessary.

Employers must make their returns on Social Security and withholding taxes by the end of this month. Information returns must be filed by employers as to amounts paid to employes and taxes withheld.

In addition, employers must make returns this month on the federal excise tax. This is required of all who employ more than eight persons during the year.

Warned Against "Experts"

Revenue officials have issued warnings to persons seeking help with their returns.

Stakem said taxpayers should be careful to have qualified persons assist them since so many so-called experts list items for deductions which are not allowed.

Federal income tax preparations are only one phase of the tax headaches for Marylanders. Within a few weeks, similar overtures will be forthcoming from the State Comptroller's office on state income tax due.

The state income tax is due and payable on April 15.

Col. White Appointed

The appointment of Col. Roy Barton White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, as chairman of the Treasury Advisory Committee on Savings Bonds for the State of Maryland has been announced by Secretary Snyder.

Col. White succeeds Joseph P. Healy, Baltimore industrialist, bank director and civic leader, and longtime Savings Bonds volunteer.

Two Local Men Reported Missing

Another Korean casualty list released yesterday by the Department of Defense shows two more Cumberlanders missing in action.

Listed are Cpl. Richard C. White, 22, son of Mrs. Rosalee Shingleton, Cash Valley Road, who was wounded September 4, and Pfc. Dailey Francis Dye, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dye, 1201 Oldtown Road.

A veteran of World War II, Cpl. White returned to the fighting after he was wounded in the legs while serving as a radio technician. He attended Fort Hill High School and was graduated from Allegany High in 1945.

Prior to entering the Army, he was produce manager at the Acme Market on North Centre Street.

Two other local soldiers, Pfc. George W. Walters, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Walters, 236 Paca Street, and Pfc. Robert L. McGreevy, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen McGreevy, 240 North Mechanic Street, have been missing since November 2. They were in the First Cavalry Division, remnants of which were trapped in the northwestern sector of Korea.

Cpl. White and Pfc. Dye are the third and fourth such casualties in Cumberland.

Pediatric Clinic Set For Thursday Here

A pediatric consultation clinic will be held Thursday starting at 9 a. m. by the Allegany County Health Department, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer.

The clinic will be conducted by Dr. John Crigler, of the Harriett Lane Children's Division of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

Only cases referred by local physicians will be accepted at the clinic. The clinic will be held the second Thursday of each month.

A child hygiene clinic will be held today at 10 a. m. at the Flintstone Fire Hall.

Six Youths Inducted In Allegany County

Six registrants of Frostburg Draft Board No. 30 left Queen City Station yesterday morning for induction into the Armed Forces at Martinsburg, W. Va.

They are: Charles R. Himmler, Westernport; John Sweene, Jr., Zihlman; Andrew J. Bugosh, Klondike; Alexander Gowans, Lonaconing, and William R. Myers and George L. McCulloh, both of Frostburg.

Cumberland boards sent 17 men for pre-induction physical examinations. Another registrant was detained by State Police pending the outcome of motor charges.

Meeting At St. Matthew Church Set For Tonight

Officers of the consistory will be elected and a movie, "Salt of the Earth", will be shown.

The new sanctuary will be used for the first time next Sunday when Holy Communion will be celebrated. The new church will be dedicated the second Sunday, April 8.

Matter Of Fact

cluding calling up perhaps 6,000,000 men and requesting a military budget of $150 billions. The military leaders especially are deeply reluctant to go this fast, primarily because of their unhappy memories of the time before the last war, when men had to be called to the colors before equipment could be put in their hands. Tending to think in purely military terms, the generals and admirals have always underestimated the political aspects and motivations of the Kremlin program, and they are still doing so.

Fortunately, there are other leading men in the government to press a different view. If they will speak out, all may yet be well.

Truman's Message Sends Stock Prices Still Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Truman's call for a big buildup of America's military might sent stock prices higher today.

His statement that the United States was preparing for full wartime mobilization "if that should become necessary," acted like a tonic on the market.

With aircrafts, steels and motors in the strongest spots at the close and metal mining shares retaining most of the gains from heavy morning demand, gains ranged from a few cents to more than $3 a share. In a few cases, advances were much higher.

Rubber, farm implement, radio-television, chemical, shipping and building material stocks mostly were higher, while distillery, public utility, rail, oil and airline shares were mixed.

Wall Street looked upon the President's "state of the union" message to Congress as bullish from the viewpoint of the stock market.

But volume dropped to 2,780,000 shares from 3,390,000 at the last full session Friday. This made it the slowest full session since 2,660,000 shares were transferred Dec. 26 and the first time since Dec. 27 that the daily total fell below 3,000,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved 30 cents higher at $90.10 This represented a high point since the index stood at $92.50 on Oct. 4, 1930. The industrial component of the average was 60 cents higher, the public utility average 10 cents higher and the rails unchanged.

Douglas Aircraft closed $3.25 higher at $99.50; Boeing was up $2 at $42.50; Lockheed $1.50 at $39.13; Bethlehem Steel $1.37 at $43.37; Chrysler $1.25 at $74, and General Motors 75 cents at $48.25.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

JUST AS HE DESERVED

WHEN one member of a pair puts the game try into No Trumps instead of supporting his partner's major suit with four cards of it, he usually takes an unwise risk, regardless of what might be his reason for the preference. His action may be impelled by the conviction that he is a better card player than his partner, or by his having in some other suit a king which might be a trick-taker if the lead comes to it instead of through it, or by reason of his having what he considers good distribution for No Trumps, with a balanced or nearly-balanced hand. Regardless of his reason, his choice will seldom pay.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 NT

South's first bid, jumping in No Trumps instead of spades, cannot be censured too severely, but his failure to bid 3-Spades over the 3-Hearts on his second turn was terrible judgment. He had what he considered two good reasons—first, the desirability of a lead up to instead of through the club K, and second, assurance of his ability to play hands better than his partner.

Even if he had possessed one more club and one fewer diamonds, thus having a 4-3-3-3 distribution, his second call should have been 3-Spades, especially since North by bidding a second suit had made it sure he had some suit as short as a doubleton or shorter, so that ruffing could have been done in that hand if necessary.

South received his just deserts when West made a smart lead of his diamond 6. East, by the Rule of Eleven, could subtract from that number and see that South had three higher cards, plugging the suit. So, after winning with the A, he decided to switch to the club Q. You can see what that did to South, setting him two tricks.

South's superior playing ability was worthless to him, as North was at least good enough to make certain of an easy 4-Spade contract, losing only two tricks in clubs and one in diamonds. It is very seldom that a 4-4 major suit fit doesn't make the best game try, especially when either partner can also soundly bid another suit, showing a doubleton certain and the chance of a singleton or blank.

Frostburg Ball Park Is Selected As Factory Site

Engineers Recommend Inspection Of Ground

The Frostburg Baseball Park adjoining the Municipal Swimming Pool and the National Guard Armory on South Water Street has been designated as first choice for the site of the proposed new pajama factory building of the Michael Berkowitz Co. in Frostburg.

The action was taken last evening at a meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners and interested citizens of the community.

Mayor Jesse Jacobs explained that the city owned the Frostburg Baseball Park and he had been informed that the second choice of the group—a tract of three acres at Sand Spring, west of the city, which is owned by Jack Dudek—would be available at any price offered by the city.

Present Plant Inadequate

The Mayor and City Commissioners have agreed to provide a site for the Berkowitz Co. pajama factory building as the present site on East Mechanic Street is no longer adequate.

The proposed new structure would be a one-story affair which would measure 150 feet by 300 feet with floor space of 45,000 square feet. An additional 45,000 square feet of ground would be provided for driveways and parking space at the site.

City Engineer John Hartig informed the council that so far as he knew no coal had been removed from the ground beneath the ball park and he thought that some additional land near the armory might be necessary for ample roadways leading to the proposed building from Water Street and to provide excellent parking facilities.

Advises Inspection

Charles Herath, engineer from Corinthin Engineering Company, Cumberland, stated that any site selected must be inspected by qualified engineers and approved before it can be recommended as satisfactory for construction of the factory building.

Sites which were rejected at the meeting were a city parking lot on East Mechanic Street, considered too small, and a tract of land adjoining the Frostburg Memorial Park.

Other sites considered included property north of Centenial Street, owned by the Borden Mining Company, and the YMI park, east of town.

The proposed structure is to be erected under supervision of the Frostburg Industrial Corporation which has funds pledged by local Frostburg business firms together with money furnished by the Berkowitz Company and a loan arranged by Richardson-Wood Co., industrial promoters.

Nurses Visit Scene Of Wineow Street Blaze

Student nurses from Memorial Hospital are seen yesterday viewing the scene of the Christmas night blaze on Wineow Street as part of their studies. The tour, conducted by J. B. Dowling, sanitation officer for the city and county health department,also included a visit to the Community Bakery here. William R. King, a member of the department who assisted in the tour is seen to the extreme left and Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, who acompanied the party, is standing third from the left.

Fire Hazard Is Created By Low Water Pressure

North End Man Seeks City Council Action

Immediate City Council action to alleviate low water pressure in a section of North End centering on Holland Street and Piedmont Avenue was demanded last night by Howard F. Radcliffe, 803 Trost Avenue, who acted as spokesman for residents of the area.

Although he spoke calmly and did not resort to fist pounding, Radcliffe emphasized that he thought City Council had procrastinated too long in overcoming a "serious fire hazard."

Action Sought Since 1947

"As early as August, 1947, residents of this section came before City Council asking for relief of the low water pressure," Radcliffe asserted. "When we came back last January 9 we were told that a survey was underway. Again on July 3 we asked for relief and still we have none," Radcliffe observed.

The spokesman contended that Cumberland Fire Department figures bear out the point that the water pressure on a part of Holland Street, Piedmont Avenue and connecting streets is dangerously low. He observed that much of the destruction that resulted from the Christmas, 1949, Hyndman, Pa., fire was caused by pressure failure.

Although he did not mention Water Commissioner George H. Tederick by name, Radcliffe said, "If there's too much work on the part of any one commissioner the other commissioners should pitch in as a team and help."

Will Pound His Fists

"If you want me to bring a delegation down here to fill the council chamber and if you want me to pound my fists on the table to get action, I'll do that," Radcliffe stated.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said that the problem confronting the city was a matter of "dollars and cents." Commissioner Tederick said that the delay was in the city engineer's office, asserting that it was not until December 11, 1950, that he received the engineer's report on the need.

Tederick said that he has been studying estimates for installation and maintenance of the needed booster pumps and soon would have a report for Council. Both Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, and Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long contended that action should be forthcoming.

Hull attended Fort Hill High School and was employed at Merrill's Brothers Super Market, prior to enlisting in the Army March 2, 1950. Rawlings Man Faces Charge Of Manslaughter

Indictment Results From Wife's Death

William R. Darr, 43-year-old Rawlings lumber mill operator, whose wife was fatally injured when she was struck by a truck cab driven by him, has been charged with manslaughter in an indictment which was placed on the open docket in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

He was indited by the grand jury last week.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Catherine Darr, 40, died in Allegany Hospital about 11 p. m. December 20 of injuries sustained about five hours earlier.

State Trooper Donald Walker, who investigated the accident on McMullen Highway in front of the Darrs' residence, said that Mrs. Darr was run over by the wheels of the cab portion of a tractor-trailer truck which her husband was driving.

Dar told deputy sheriffs the day after the woman's death that his wife ran in front of the truck for some unexplained reason. He related that he drove the truck out of a driveway alongside the lumber mill which he operates, some 300 feet west of his home on McMullen Highway. From the driveway, he turned east onto McMullen Highway and was planning to drive to a nearby store to purchase a pack of cigarettes.

As he approached his house, Darr told deputy sheriffs, his wife opened the gate and ran out into the road in front of the truck. He said that he swerved to avoid hitting her but either the right front bumper or fender struck her. This was about 6 p. m. December 20.

The indictment charged that Darr "unlawfully, in a grossly negligent manner, did kill and slay Mary Catherine Darr; contrary to the form of the Act of the Assembly in such cases made and provided and against the peace, government and dignity of the State."

After the bench warrant was served on Darr yesterday he was allowed to continue his freedom under $500 bond.

Indictments against two other men were placed on the same docket yesterday morning.

John A. Parsons, 18, of Washington Street, was indicted in two cases. One involves the breaking and entering of the storeroom of Calvin Butler, 420 Virginia Avenue, and the other the statutory burglary of a liquor warehouse owned by Norman F. Geatz, 11 South Smallwood Street.

Ralph Uplinger, 41, of 506 Springdale Street, who was convicted in Police Court on a charge of selling whisky without a license, was indicted for the sale and possession of intoxicants.

City Council Backs Surplus Food Program

Delegation Urges Action Be Taken

City Council last night went on record as recommending that the Federal Government's program of giving suprlus food to Allegany county's needy be continued after a delegation of persons interested in the county's welfare needs appeared at the weekly session.

Chief spokesman for the group was Thomas B. Finan, Cumberland attorney. He contended that a program which aided 1,462 families in Allegany county in December should not be stopped abruptly.

"If there was a need to assist some 1,462 families and about 6,000 individuals one month that need does not abate itself overnight," Finan asserted. A former city solicitor, Finan is interested in the program as Americanism officer of the American Legion post here, as disaster chairman for the Cumberland Red Cross chapter and as a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army.

Finan said that the ultimate decision rests with the Allegany County Commissioners, but he believes that City Council can help influence the commissioners. He said he plans to attend the commissioners' meeting today to state his case there.

The spokesman said he understands that only dried eggs and powdered milk are now being offered for the distribution to the needy.

Major Elmer Wall, officer in charge of the Salvation Army, added his endorsement to Finan's statement about the need. Although they did not speak, Mrs. Eleanor Westerfeld, executive director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, and Miss Jeanette A. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities, also attended.

Dowling Pleads For Speedup On Public Housing

Memorial Nurses Tour Slum Areas

The low rent public housing program will do much to relieve the housing situation in Cumberland, which has 2,751 dwellings unfit for human occupancy, J. B. Dowling, sanitation officer for the city and county health department, said yesterday in a speech to student nurses from Memorial Hospital.

Dowling, speaking at the site of the tragic Christmas night fire on Wineow Street, said Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, is determined that slum areas in this city be cleared up as soon as possible.

Citing the lack of sanitation at the site, he pointed out that one toilet, used by from 25 to 30 people, has been frozen up most of the winter.

Will Extend Drive

Dowling said the health department has not yet begun to work in certain areas of the city but it will extend its drive as soon as the city's housing project gets further on its way.

The health department, he said, has adequate laws to force landlords to make all corrections needed to meet basic sanitation requirements.

Referring to the human cost of slum areas, he pointed out that the persons one sees on inspecting such an area often look perfectly healthy.

"If there were a tombstone for every one lost," he added, "we couldn't walk around in this spot."

Declaring the public housing program is the best solution to substandard dwellings, Dowling said persons in the lowest income group cannot afford to buy or rent good standard housing. The problem, he said, is to make good housing available to them at prices they can pay.

Will Eliminate Slums

He pointed out that while the public housing project is not a slum clearance program, the effect is just that, since the law requires that substantially the same number of slum dwellings be eliminated as the number of public housing units built in a city.

Dowling said that of the 2,700 substandard homes here, 731 are owned by the occupant while 2,020 are rented.

He said that a typical answer to the rent paid in some of the worst was from $6 to $8 a week for two rooms, giving the landlord an income of from $50 to $60 for a substandard dwelling.

In a plea for immediate action, Dowling said it does little good to provide medical care for the children of slum areas if they have to return to slums and the living conditions found there.

Mrs. Roeder Terms Local Slum Housing "Deplorable"

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, city street commissioner, told her male associates on City Council last night that she thinks Council should work unceasingly to alleviate sub-standard housing in Cumberland.

The commissioner made her remark at the close of the council session. She said that when she visited the Wineow Street houses which were gutted by the recent Christmas night fire she found deplorable conditions.

"Conditions here are even more deplorable than those I observed in the big city of Philadelphia," Mrs. Roeder asserted. She also called attention to the fact that the Cumberland Housing Authority's report disclosed 2,751 sub-standard dwellings in Cumberland.

"We, as city officials, and the public at large should take much interest in seeing that local housing is improved," the street commissioner added. "This sub-standard housing has a great deal to do with the quality of the town as a whole. We should be active factors in alleviating conditions," Mrs. Roeder concluded.

Earlier, Mrs. Roeder suggested that the city take some action to reduce the number of water rent overpayments. She contended it was costly to the city to have council pass orders every time payment was made to reimburse citizens for water rent overpayments. She contended that the city should operate as efficiently as banks and department stores in that respect.

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz disagreed with Mrs. Roeder and contended that the tax collector could not alter his system. Buchholtz said the overpayments are not caught until the records are posted in the books.

Kimble Asks Mine Bureau Shift To Labor Department

Robert B. Kimble, minority leader in the Senate, yesterday introduced a bill to transfer the Bureau of Mines from the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources to the Department of Labor and Industry.

The measure, SB 39, introduced in the Judiciary Committee, was one of the bills introduced in the Assembly yesterday. Another was:

SB 40—By president—To authorize sale or transfer of Camp Ritchie to the federal government, any proceeds to be used for the organized militia (Finance).

Resolutions adopted:

SR 1—by Goldstein—Presenting Governor Lane the desk, chair, filing cabinets and cases he has used in his executive mansion office.

The House of Delegates yesterday adopted a resolution strengthening the Alcoholic Beverages committee, providing that any bill or resolution pertaining to alcoholic beverages must be referred to that committee.

Higgins Requests Truancy Curb Cooperation

Recreation Houses Receiving Letter

Cooperation of operators of all theatres, bowling alleys and pool rooms in Allegany County in refusing to allow children of school age to loiter in their places of business during schol hours is being requested by Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the Allegany county system.

Higgins said yesterday that copies of a form letter from him are being mailed to operators of all bowling aleys, pool rooms and theatres. This letter has been approved by School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp.

The letter notes that complaints have been offered his office and in a few cases evidence has been presentd to the Juvenile Court that children are being allowed to loiter in places of recreation and to enter theatres during school hours.

Higgins continues:

"Provisions of the Public School Laws of Maryland, Chapter 21, Section 212, state that any person who induces or attempts to induce any child to absent himself unlawfully from school, or employs or harbors while school is in session any child absent unlawfully from school, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not more than $50."

He concluded the letter by asking for cooperation with the schools and states that provisions of the law, which he quoted, will be enforced strictly in Allegany county.

Women To Meet

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Cumberland will hold a meeting tonight at 5:30 at the Central YMCA.

Foresters Meet In Annapolis

District Forester William H. Johnson and his five assistant foresters will be in Annapolis Thursday and Friday to discuss various problems faced by the State Forestry Department this year.

Johnson and the other three district foresters in the state will confer with State Forester H. C. Buckingham in planning the budget for the coming year. They will discuss curtailments that will be required because of the present national emergency.

New recreational construction will be curtailed. As a consequence the foresters will stress ways of preserving and improving existing recreational structures. Some discussion also is anticipated, Johnson said, about the part the forest fire fighting organization will play in civilian defense.

The assistant foresters will attend a meeting which will emphasize cooperative measures desirable with owners of private forests.

Johnson's district embraces Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties.

Auto Dealers To Meet

The Auto Dealers Association will hold a meeting next Monday at Central YMCA at 12:15 p. m.

Allegany County GOP Will March For McKeldin

Plan To Take Part In Inaugural Parade

Allegany County Republicans will march in the Sixth District section of the inaugural parade for Theodore R. McKeldin when he takes office as Maryland's governor Wednesday.

Earl E. Manges, chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee, estimated that at least 600 Sixth District Republicans will march in the parade. The section will be led by the 60-piece Hagerstown High School Band.

Members of the GOP Central Committee, the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly and other Republican leaders from this county are expected to march.

Manges said if the weather is good, a large delegation is expected from Lonaconing and other George's Creek communities.

Every resident of the state has been "invited" to the inauguration. As McKeldin puts it, "You don't need an invitation. Just come."

It has been 16 years since a Republican was inaugurated governor of Maryland, normally a Democratic state, but McKeldin scored an overwhelming victory over Governor Lane in the November election.

McKeldin will be the fourth Republican governor of the state in its history. The late Harry W. Nice was the last Republican governor of Maryland.

Council Receives Reports Last Night

City of Cumberland disbursements exceeded receipts by $95,286.18 in December, according to the monthly report of Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, which was submitted at last night's Council meeting.

His report showed General Account December receipts of $34,513.37 and disbursements of $106,026.46, with a balance in the account of $600,669.70 as of January 1. The Water Operations Account recorded December receipts of $39,791.34; expenditures of $64,857.99, and a January 1 balance of $124,318.70. The General Improvement Bond Account had December receipts of $1,293.56, and no disbursements, bringing the balance January 1 to $13,748.82. There were no December changes in the Paving Bond Account of $34.72, the Flood account of $631.49 and the Sewer Bond Account of $5,923.96, Buchholtz reported

Dr. Winter R. Frantz's December Health Department report, also submitted to Council, shows miscellaneous activity. It noted that 14 new communicable diseases were reported, department nurses made 296 visits, 14 dental clinics were held, 30 dairy farms were inspected, 29 public and private premises, and 46 food and drink establishments were checked. Vital statistics figures in the report included 146 December births, 56 deaths and two stillbirths.

Another report showed Cumberland's average daily water consumption for the week which ended Saturday was 12,862,000 gallons, compared with 11,426,000 gallons during the same period a year ago.

Mrs. Ruth V. Morgan was appointed by Council last night as secretary to the smoke abatement engineer, effective January 5, at a monthly salary of $150. The resignation of George V. Cheshire, Fort Ashby, W. Va., as a laborer at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, effective January 4, was accepted.

Council also authorized a number of expenditures.
